TREASURED JEWELS

THE M.S. RAU COLLECTION

We are pleased to present a curated selection featuring some of the finest gemstones from around the globe. The treasures within are one-of-a-kind and memorable, from creations by the revered firms Tiffany & Co. and Cartier to gems with royal provenance like the incomparable French Crown Jewels. Classic designs and rare gems such as blue-green diamonds and demantoid garnets set our jewels apart.

2022 marks 110 years since our family business first opened on Royal Street. Though our space has transformed over the years — most recently with the significant renovation and expansion of our jewelry gallery — M.S. Rau's dedication to providing the finest offerings in jewelry, fine art and antiques remains steadfast. In commemoration, we are thrilled to present our exclusive and unique 110th-anniversary collection created in collaboration with the famed jewelry firm Oscar Heyman, who is also celebrating their 110-year anniversary. These unique treasures can be viewed in the fold-out section.

BEST of the BEST

Procured by Harry Winston, the most important diamond merchant of his day, and designed by Jacques Timey, the era's most important jewelry designer, this remarkable Golconda diamond necklace was purchased by the wealthiest man in the world — Aristotle Onassis — as a gift for his daughter. A piece of history, the necklace further demonstrates nature's ability to create perfection.

HARRY WINSTON GOLCONDA DIAMOND NECKLACE

Golconda diamond: 38.00 carats

This necklace features an exceedingly rare and large Golconda diamond, known as the "Ultimate Diamond." Monumental in size, the remarkable stone displays VVS1 clarity and is joined by 25.00 carats of diamond accents along the chain. Certified. Set in 18K white gold and platinum. Stamped with Timey's maker's mark and French assay marks. 18 1/4" length. #31-5152 📺

FANCY VIVID YELLOW DIAMOND MESH BRACELET

Yellow diamond: 28.40 carats

This bracelet's innovative, invisible mesh setting allows it to lay perfectly on the wrist. Each diamond is individually hinged to allow for the utmost in shine. Lined with 7.43 carats of white diamonds, the bracelet creates a remarkable visual effect. 7" length. Set in 18K gold. #31-5604 📌

FANCY VIVID YELLOW DIAMOND RING

Yellow diamond: 3.70 carats

The Internally Flawless colored diamond at the center of this ring is joined by two dazzling white diamonds weighing 2.37 carats. Set in 18K gold and platinum. #31-5852 📌

COVETED for COLOR

Blue and green are two of the most coveted shades among all fancy colored diamonds; in fact, the most famous jewel in the world, the Hope Diamond, features a deep blue shade. While blue diamonds get their color from the presence of boron in the stone, green diamonds are the result of millions of years underground with radioactive particles like uranium. Both hues are rarities in their own right, and natural blue-green diamonds combine the two to create intensified and unique color.

FANCY INTENSE BLUE-GREEN DIAMOND RING

Blue-green diamond: 2.88 carats

The even distribution of blue and green hues gives this jewel the perfect aqua shade. The high saturation of fancy intense and large carat weight set this ring apart. White diamonds totaling 1.04 carats create a remarkable visual effect with the colored stone. Certified. Set in platinum. #30-9690

FRENCH CROWN JEWELS
BURMA RUBY NECKLACE

Presented in its original leather box with the Royal French Coat of Arms. Set in 18K gold and silver. 15" length. #31-5614 📺

FIT for ROYALTY

Once a part of the famed French Crown Jewels, this elegant necklace is crafted of Burma rubies, mine-cut diamonds and natural pearls — the most luxurious materials of its era. Purchased by Tiffany & Co. in Paris at the 1887 French Royal Crown Jewel auction, these gems hail from the most important jewel collection of the 19th century. The vast majority of the known Crown Jewels reside in the Louvre today, making this necklace an exceedingly rare find.

TIFFANY & CO.
NEW YORK

ALL in the FIRM

Since the firm's inception in 1837, the legendary Tiffany & Co. has been a trailblazer in luxury design and craftsmanship. In the late 19th and early 20th century, influential figures like Louis Comfort Tiffany and George Kunz left indelible marks on the firm's output.

TIFFANY & CO. SAPPHIRE BROOCH

Sapphires: 12.26 carats

The centerpiece of this exceptional brooch designed by Louis Comfort Tiffany is a richly-hued 12.26-carat Ceylon sapphire, inset into a hand-crafted gold filigree. A major proponent of non-traditional materials like colored glass, it is exceedingly rare to see Louis Comfort Tiffany incorporate a valuable colored gemstone like a sapphire. Framed by two additional sapphires and two Old European cut white diamonds, the present piece is an Art Nouveau treasure. Set in 18K yellow gold and enamel. Signed "Tiffany & Co." Certified. Circa 1917.

1" high x 1 1/2" wide. #31-4891

TIFFANY & CO. KASHMIR SAPPHIRE NECKLACE

Sapphires: 10.25 carats

The impressive Kashmir sapphires in this one-of-a-kind Victorian necklace from Tiffany & Co are accented by dozens of diamonds. Certified by the AGL as completely untreated, these extraordinary blue gems would have been sourced personally by George Frederick Kunz, Tiffany's famed gemologist in the late 19th century. Incredible in their color and brilliance, untreated Kashmir sapphires of this quality are scarce, especially within an antique Tiffany design. Set in 18K yellow gold. Signed "Tiffany & Co."

Certified. Circa 1895. 14" length. #31-5572 📄

CEYLON SAPPHIRE AND DIAMOND EARRINGS

Sapphires: 9.61 carats

Featuring a luxurious royal blue hue, these cushion-cut sapphires are certified as originating in Ceylon. With marquise, pear-shaped and round diamonds totaling 1.32 carats adorning the blue stones, these earrings form an elegant floral motif. Stamped "OHB." Set in platinum. #31-5987

TANZANITE RING

Tanzanite: 11.18 carats

This cushion-cut tanzanite's favored violetish-blue hue is captivating. Certified as being an authentic specimen from Tanzania, the natural stone is joined by 1.39 carats of pear-shaped diamonds. Stamped "OHB." Set in platinum. #31-5985

TSAVORITE AND DIAMOND EARRINGS

Tsavorites: 5.21 carats

Accented by 1.18 carats of white diamonds, two cushion-cut tsavorites form the focal point in these earrings. Their vivid green hue is certified as all-natural, indicating that no heat was utilized to enhance the color. Originating in East Africa, tsavorite garnets weighing over two carats are exceedingly rare. Certified. Stamped "OHB." Set in platinum. #31-5564

PINK AND YELLOW SAPPHIRE EARRINGS

Pink sapphires: 6.95 carats

Yellow sapphires: 5.55 carats

An explosion of color, these classic drop earrings feature both yellow and pink sapphires. The pink sapphires originate in Madagascar, and the yellow sapphires are Ceylon in origin and are natural, without any heating or other treatment. Accented by 0.38 carats of dazzling white diamonds. Certified. Stamped "OHB." Set in 18K gold and platinum. #31-5986

MULTI-COLOR SAPPHIRE AND TSAVORITE BRACELET

Sapphires: 6.43 carats | Tsavorites: 4.38 carats

All-natural sapphires and tsavorites present a sparkling rainbow of hues in this statement bracelet. Fifty-five marquise and round diamonds totaling 7.46 carats accent the colored gemstones, and all shine in their classic platinum settings. Stamped "OHB." 7" length. #31-6085

VAN CLEEF & ARPELS GOLD EARRINGS

EASY being GREEN

Long prized for their verdant green hue, emeralds are among the most coveted gemstones in the world. A favorite among collectors, Colombian emeralds are highly desirable for their exceptional clarity and rich “Old Mine” green color, free from any bluish tinge. The most important of these emeralds originate from the famed Muzo mines, located high in the Andes Mountains.

COLOMBIAN EMERALD & DIAMOND BRACELET

Emeralds: 25.73 carats | Diamonds: 24.36 carats

Incredibly rare untreated Colombian Muzo mine emeralds and pure white diamonds combine in this stunning bracelet. The emeralds, totaling over 25.00 carats, display the perfect vivid green hue. Each of the 13 perfectly matched emeralds is certified as being 100% untreated with exceptional clarity. They are joined with 13 pure white diamonds totaling nearly 25.00 carats, all GIA-certified as colorless and VVS1-VS1 clarity. 7” length. Set in platinum. #31-5878 🍀

ZAMBIAN EMERALD RING

Emerald: 12.47 carats | Diamonds: 1.70 carats

The central stone is joined by two white diamonds totaling 1.70 carats. The vivid green emerald, which boasts a rich color, was described by C. Dunaigre as “very rare” and “a real treasure.” Only the finest out of the tens of thousands of gems seen each year are honored with such a distinction. Exceptionally free of flaws, the emerald shows only minor indications of oil. Today, 99.99% of emeralds on the market are heavily treated with oil, making the present stone an anomaly — especially for a stone so large. Certified. Set in platinum. #31-5880 📱

RED EMERALD AND DIAMOND NECKLACE

Red emerald: 18.50 carats

Perfectly balanced by alternating square-cut diamonds totaling 1.50 carats, the rare gems display their covetable deep crimson color. Set in platinum. 17" length. #31-5500

RED EMERALD AND DIAMOND BRACELET

RUSSIAN EMERALD RING

Emerald: 6.29 carats

Forming a stylized floral design, the natural forest-green Russian stone is encircled by 2.00 carats of white diamonds. The production of these gems came to a halt after World War I, when the largest and best-known source of Russian emeralds, the Mariinsky Mine, became a military security zone. As a result, Russian emeralds are a rarity and a must-have for any true emerald connoisseur. Certified.

Set in 18K yellow and white gold. #31-5139 📦

CHANGE in COLOR

Of all the optical effects a gemstone can possess, color change abilities are among the rarest and most remarkable. In essence, a color change phenomenon requires that the basic body of the gemstone transforms when the mineral is exposed to different light. From chameleon diamonds to covetable alexandrites, each gemstone is unique, with characteristics that allow ranges of hues within a single stone.

CHAMELEON DIAMOND RING
Chameleon diamond: 1.53 carats

Demonstrating even color distribution and SI1 clarity, the chameleon diamond at the center of this ring changes colors from grayish-green to mint green when exposed to darkness or heat. The stone is flanked by two light pink diamonds totaling 0.83 carat. Set in 18K rose gold. Certified. #31-3713

BRAZILIAN COLOR-CHANGE ALEXANDRITE RING

Alexandrite: 6.21 carats

The captivating Brazilian alexandrite is remarkably large and clean, a rarity for gems of this type. The color-changing gem's olive green hue in daylight transforms to a purple color under incandescent light. Accented by diamonds totaling 0.63 carat. Certified. Set in 18K yellow gold and platinum. #31-3839 🎁

RUSSIAN COLOR-CHANGE ALEXANDRITE RING

Alexandrite: 4.12 carats

Hailing from the Ural Mountains of Russia, the brilliant-cut stone has been certified as a natural alexandrite, with a color change between a blueish-green hue in daylight to a purple-pink hue. Russian mines have long been depleted, making these gems highly sought after. Surrounded by white diamonds totaling 1.75 carats, the gems form a floral pattern. Certified. Set in 18K gold and platinum. #31-5140 🎁

TANZANITE CONVERTIBLE PENDANT & RING

Tanzanite: 22.43 carats

The sizable cushion-cut tanzanite in this convertible ring displays the perfect blue hue for which the rare stones are so coveted. The jewel is more desirable thanks to its versatile setting, which can be worn as a ring or a pendant. Accented by 2.80 total carats of diamonds. Set in 18K white gold.

$\frac{5}{8}$ " length. #31-3524

TANZANITE BROOCH BY VEDURA

Tanzanite: 35.00 carats

Masterfully crafted by Vedula, the large tanzanite stone features a deep violet-blue hue. White diamonds totaling approximately 8.00 carats and displaying G-H color and VS clarity radiate out, evoking a flower or snowflake. 3" length. #31-5821

Scan to watch videos of items with the  icon

UNTREATED TANZANITE PENDANT

Tanzanite: 104.39 carats

This necklace's giant tanzanite is considered by many to be the single greatest tanzanite jewel ever discovered. The gem is certified as all-natural, with no heat treatments or other enhancements — exceedingly rare for any tanzanite but especially one of this covetable color and monumental size. Diamond accents total 2.98 carats. Set in 18K gold and platinum. 1<sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub>" length. #31-5440 🎁

TAHITIAN PEARL EARRINGS

Diamonds: 1.56 carats

Crowned by white diamonds, the lustrous Tahitian pearls display their desirable color and remarkable iridescence. Farmed from the large French Polynesian Black-Lip pearl oyster, Tahitian pearls possess the richest, most vibrant coloring of any pearl.  $\frac{7}{8}$ " length. #31-5831

PEARL AND DIAMOND EARRINGS

Diamonds: 4.67 carats

Two luminous white pearls measuring 14.5mm each suspend from sparkling white diamond florets in these elegant earrings. Set in platinum.  $1\frac{1}{2}$ " length. #31-5925

SOUTH SEA PEARL NECKLACE

Diamonds: 3.33 carats

Twenty-three impeccable South Sea pearls, measuring 17-19mm, comprise this necklace. South Sea pearls are among the most valuable pearls available. Typically measuring 15mm or under, the pearls featured in this necklace are monumental in size and exceedingly rare. The 18K gold ball clasp is accentuated by diamonds totaling 3.33 carats. Set in 18K white gold. 16" length. #31-5514 🎁

SHARP as GLASS

Before the visionary became known for his innovative glasswork, René Lalique was known as the greatest jeweler of the Art Nouveau period. His creations echo the beauty and grace of the natural world.

Combining uncommon materials like glass and enamel, Lalique's eclectic creations rejected traditionally gemstone-centric designs in favor of overall aesthetics. Widely collected by museums, finding an original piece of Lalique jewelry is a rarity.

LALIQUE CITRINE AND ENAMEL BROOCH

Citrine: approximately 10.00 carats

This hand-crafted treasure features elegant panels of black enamel and gold, highlighting the citrine's sunny hue. Comes in its original Lalique box. Signed "LALIQUE." Set in 18K yellow gold. 3½" length. #31-5570 📺

LALIQUE GLASS AND ENAMEL NECKLACE

This glass and enamel necklace created by the artist in 1906 is a masterpiece in Art Nouveau design. It features seven cobalt-blue glass pendants. Upon each, Lalique has hand-carved and press-molded a stylized theatrical mask motif. A black and blue enamel ribbon covers the gold chain. Lalique's original drawing for this necklace is published in S. Barten's René Lalique: Schmuck Und Objets D'Art, 1890-1910. Stamped "LALIQUE." Circa 1906. 16½" length. #31-5820 📺
