Situation:

Originally, the E82x7DS-xxx process was setup for service center upgrades. The E82x7DS-xxx process is no longer available.

Solution/Action:

To upgrade an E82x7D option in the field, the customer needs to order the kit (E82x7DK-xxx), request a labor quote from the service center, and then send the instrument and upgrade kit (including license key entitlement certificate is applicable) to the service center on a repair order. Currently, service centers do not have a way to order upgrade kits. Installation note information is available on the external web.

Upgrade kits (E82x7DK-xxx) do not include any Agilent installation, adjustment, or performance tests in their price.

Because of structure, service centers can not order the upgrade kits.

Copies of the Installation Notes for each kit are available on the external web. Search on the installation note part.

The following times can be used for developing labor quotes for service center upgrades.
