

Wireless Test Manager Software Duplication Guidelines

The following terms are specified on a Software License Certificate shipped with each Standard Wireless Test Manager product:

Agilent authorizes duplication of the contents on the Agilent Wireless Test Manager Install CD-ROM for installation of the run-time version of Wireless Test Manager software on computers with the Agilent E6571C or E6571A or N4018A Run-Time Licenses under the following terms:

1. The duplicated software will be used to install the software on a computer using the Agilent E6571C or E6571A or N4018A Run-Time License. These computers are required to have an Agilent part number 1258-0715 or 1258-0726 or 1258-0723 hardware security key.
2. The software is duplicated on a private network or private, secure intranet or on write-able media such as a CD-ROM or removable drive. This software is not to be duplicated for world-wide-web, public networks or other non-secured networks.
3. The Agilent Wireless Test Manager Install CD-ROM is copied in its entirety.
4. The licensee is authorized to distribute the duplicated software within their company, to customers or to suppliers who have purchased and are using the Agilent E6571A or E6571C or N4018A Run-Time Licenses.
5. This authorization does not supercede the Agilent software license terms agreement, publication number 5971-2843, or the end user “click-wrap” license.
6. The number of allowed copies is unlimited, but Agilent reserves the right to terminate this license if the terms of this license are not complied with, or if the copied materials are altered, modified, or portrayed in any way that, in Agilent’s opinion, is in poor taste or diminishes the reputation of Agilent or its products.
