The article “The influence of sodium hyaluronate, l-leucine and sodium taurocholate on the nebulization of aqueous betamethasone-17-valerate suspensions” (Tadros MI. AAPS PharmSciTech. 2008;1:243-249) has been retracted at the request of the editor because it contains significant verbiage plagiarizing another publication: “Controlled drug delivery to the lung: Influence of hyaluronic acid solution conformation on its adsorption to hydrophobic drug particles” (IJP. 2007;330:175-182).

The online version of the original article can be found at <http://www.springerlink.com/content/32584103843t1485/>. This article should be considered as retracted.
