

102 ing nurse-patient interactions to faculty and graduate students. She will also be available by appointment for individual and small group research consultation during her two-day stay.

The conference is free of charge and is open to the health-care community by reservation. Exact times and locations for the conference will be published in September. For further information and/or reservations, contact the project co-directors, Dr. Jacqueline Rose Hott or Dr. Pierre Woog, at (516) 294-8700, ext. 7674.

NURSING CONFERENCE CALLS FOR PAPERS

The Boston University School of Nursing announces a call for papers for the Fourth Biennial Eastern Conference on Nursing Research, which will take place in April 1980. All papers related to the theoretical developments and implications for practice of nursing research will be considered. Priority will be given to reports of studies that are empirically based, that contribute to the body of knowledge related to nursing practice or that contribute to the improvement of methodologies employed by nursing researchers.

The deadline for receipt of papers is December 15, 1979. For proposal requirements and other information write to: M. Jane Barry, Chair, Paper Review Committee, Fourth Biennial Eastern Conference on Nursing Research, Boston University School of Nursing, 635 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston, MA 02215.