

International Conference on the interdisciplinary terrain of Chirality and Nanoscience

Chirality at the Nanoscale

Sitges, Barcelona, Spain 17-21 September 2007

<http://chiralitynanoscale2007.congress-uex.com>

Topics include

Asymmetric Autocatalysis
Atomic Force Microscopy
Catalysis
Chiral Induction
Chiral Memory
Chiroptical Switches
Chromatography

Liquid Crystals
Macromolecules
Majority Rules
Molecular Recognition
Nanoparticles
Origin of Homochirality of Life
Polymers

Resolutions
Scanning Tunnelling Microscopy
Spectroscopy
Supramolecular Stereochemistry
Theory

Confirmed Speakers

Laurence D. Barron (UK)
David Beljonne (Belgium)
James W. Canary (USA)
Massimiliano Cavallini (Italy)
Steven De Feyter (Belgium)
Karl-Heinz Ernst (Switzerland)
Ben Feringa (Holland)
Ivan Huc (France)
Robert P. Lemieux (Canada)
Norbert Maier (Austria)
Roeland Nolte (Holland)
Rasmita Raval (UK)
Trevor Rayment (UK)

Josep M. Ribó (Spain)
Geert Rikken (France)
Christian Roussel (France)
Alan Rowan (Holland)
Wolf-Dieter Schneider (Switzerland)
Teresa Sierra (Spain)
Kenso Soai (Japan)
Gian Piero Spada (Italy)
J. Fraser Stoddart (USA)
Carsten Tschierske (Germany)
Jef Vekemans (Holland)
David Walba (USA)
Eiji Yashima (Japan)

Scientific Advisory Committee

Chris Abell (UK)
Roberto Lazzaroni (Belgium)
Wolfgang Lindner (Austria)
Bert Meijer (Holland)
Cristina Minguillón (Spain)

Covering the complete spectrum

Multidisciplinary chemical sciences

For communications...

ChemComm is a weekly high impact blend of quality research from across the chemical sciences, offering exceptionally fast publication times.

www.rsc.org/chemcomm

For reviews...

Chem Soc Rev provides highly cited, succinct and reader friendly review articles each month, covering topics of international, multidisciplinary and social interest.

www.rsc.org/chemsocrev

For full papers...

The home of quality, original and significant work of wide general appeal, the monthly issue of New Journal of Chemistry is the perfect place to publish your research.
