ALIEN WISDOM

The Limits of Hellenization

A. D. MOMIGLIANO

A study of the Greeks' attitude toward the Roman, Celtic, Jewish and Persian civilizations from the fourth to the first century B.C. It shows how the Greeks moved out of cultural insularity under Roman domination and how the Greeks, Romans and Jews formed a special relationship from which there emerged the cultural standard of Western educated people. $11.95

STUDIES IN THE GREEK HISTORIANS

DONALD KAGAN, Editor

Essays illustrating the scope and variety of Greek historical writing consider the major figures from Herodotus to Herodian. The contributors approach their subjects from a variety of angles, assessing their value as historical sources, discussing problems of historical method, and considering ideas that arise from the historians' works. $14.95

A HISTORY OF GREEK PHILOSOPHY

Volume 4: Plato: The Man and His Dialogues: Earlier Period

W. K. C. GUTHRIE

A general introduction to Plato's life and writings up to and including the Republic. $34.50

LINE OF INQUIRY: STUDIES IN LATIN POETRY

NIAL R. RUDD

A demonstration of a variety of critical methods and approaches, each valid for different purposes, that can be used in the study of literature in general. Examples are taken mainly from Latin poetry, with comparative material from other literatures, particularly English. $19.95

BACKGROUNDS TO AUGUSTAN POETRY

Gallus, Elegy and Rome

DAVID O. ROSS, JR.

A literary history which attempts to determine why the Augustan poets wrote as they did. Focusing on Cornelius Gallus, whose works have been almost completely lost, it considers how his verse must have been reflected in the poetry of Virgil and the elegists. From this point, it traces the various influences that changed the course of Augustan poetry from 40 B.C. to 15 B.C. $19.50
