STATEMENT OF EDITORIAL POLICY

Classical Philology welcomes both longer articles and short notes or discussions that make a significant contribution to the study of Greek and Roman antiquity. Any field of classical studies may be treated, separately or in relation to other disciplines, ancient or modern. In particular, we invite studies that illuminate aspects of the languages, literatures, history, art, philosophy, social life, and religion of ancient Greece and Rome. Innovative approaches and originality are encouraged as a necessary part of good scholarship. Illustrations may be used as appropriate. Book reviews are published by invitation only.

Cover Illustration (with original spelling): "Mentor se precipite avec Telemaque dans la mer." Detail from an engraving by Bernard d'Aelin in Les Aventures de Telemaque, by François de Salignac de la Motte Fenelon (Paris, 1717). Courtesy of the Department of Special Collections, the University of Chicago Library.
