BOWERY MESSENGER

Whether you're heading back to class or simply replacing an aging carry-all, the Bowery Messenger Bag ($100) has you covered. Made from distressed waxed cotton canvas for weather protection, the Bowery also features subtle details like antiqued-brass hardware, leather trim, contract lining, and a leather two-buckle closure.

CHROME SHOES

After more than a decade of making great riding bags and gear, Chrome is turning its attention to something new: footwear. Available in four styles, Chrome Shoes ($70-$90) adhere to the brand's tradition of toughness, with gusseted tongues to keep the weather out, binding tape on all exposed edges for added durability, Texon board in the forefoot for more comfortable riding, a urethane crash pad heel, and weatherproof 1,000 denier Cordura or suede uppers..

You can customize your new car, new computer — hell, even your cheese-burger at the local greasy spoon — so why not your jeans? Jean Shop Rocker Jeans ($260 and up) are mid-ride, slim fitting, straight legged authentic, vintage-quality blue jeans made from the best Japanese selvedge denim fabrics, and then finished your way from a wide variety of traditional and not-so-traditional finishes, each done individually by hand to make your pair uniquely yours.

VINTAGE LIGHTER CUFF-LINKS

You're out on the town looking sharp when this stunning vision in a little red dress comes your way and asks for a light. You can't risk losing her interest while you fish around in your pockets clumsily for your lighter. These sharp vintage cuff-links make quite the impression with their fine detail. $40

FOSSIL SKELETON WATCH

Get the luxury look for less. The Fossil Skeleton Watch ($195) sports a cutaway dial that shows off its inner self. The watch has a light ion-plated stainless steel case and a contrasting black index with a mechanized center. In order to get this watch you have to go and see the sweet, sexy, beautiful Katie at Fossil in Brandon mall. Make sure you buy this watch or one of the many other great Fossil watches they have . But most important remember guys sweet, sexy, beautiful Katie, did I mention how sweet, sexy and beautiful she is. "Oh and single" 813-685-6425

LINEAUS MEDICINE BALLS

Whether you're training for a sport or simply getting in shape, Lineaus Medicine Balls ($260-$4,800) can help you on your way. Available in standard, heavy, football, rugby, squat bar, and punching bag varieties, each Lineaus is custom-made and numbered, with velvety chrome tanned leather exteriors that will last a lifetime.

NIVEA FOR MEN ACTIVE3

Luckily, the "3" in Nivea For Men Active3 ($17/3-pack) isn't for some crappy sequel like The Karate Kid, Part 3—instead, it stands for crazy 3-in-1 action. Equal parts body wash, shampoo, and shaving cream, Nivea For Men Active3 aims to clean your whole body from head to toe, making it the only bottle you'll need to have in your shower.

OLD SPICE DECK SCRUBBER

Get your undercarriage good and clean with the Old Spice Deck Scrubber ($TBA). This manly bath scrubber — don't dare call it a loofa — will get every part of your "vessel" clean, including your back, front, and undersides.

BACON SOAP

We love bacon, and we've seen everything from Canned Bacon to Baconnaise, Bacon Salt, Bacon Floss—hell, even Bacon Lip Balm—so it was only a matter of time before we discovered Bacon Soap ($6). Made to both look and smell like frying bacon, this soap will get you clean while giving your appetite a jumpstart on the day.

JOHN VARVATOS ROCK VOLUME ONE

We'd imagine rock 'n' roll smells like cigarettes, booze, and sex, but luckily John Varvatos doesn't seem to have the same problem. John Varvatos Rock Volume One ($82) is a rockinspired take on the classic Varvatos fragrance, adding notes of rose absolute and coffee beans to the original formula to give it an edgy, sensual scent that'll have you smelling much better than your average lead singer.

NICKEL COLD SWEAT

Avoid the aluminum and alcohol additives found in your average antiperspirant with Nickel Cold Sweat Deodorant ($19). This chilled waterbased stick deodorant aims to help keep you dry by keeping you cool, leaves zero white residue, and can even be stored in the fridge — no joke — to help keep you even cooler on those hot days.

POWERBELL

Kettle bells are great for a variety of strength training exercises, but not all require the same weight. So instead of spending a small fortune on a whole set, just pick up a PowerBell ($200-$250). This ingenious training device uses a set of weight plates that can be easily removed and reconfigured to create the ideal weight for your current exercise — from 5 to 20 lbs. or 10 to 40 lbs — saving you precious space in your home gym and a whole lot of cash.

MADDEN NFL 10 FOR IPHONE

Celebrate the kick-off of the NFL season with the world's best-selling football game... on your phone. Madden NFL 10 for iPhone ($10) packs all the Madden action you know and love — including full rosters for all 32 NFL teams, authentic stadiums, nearly 300 plays to choose from, the ability to draw up your own plays using the multi-touch screen, a multiplayer mode, a complete season mode with trades, depth charts, free-agents, and more, and in-game commentary from Madden, Tom Hammond, and Cris Collinsworth.

XBOX 360 MODERN WARFARE 2 LIMITED EDITION

Microsoft and Activision have teamed up to bring gamers the Xbox 360 Modern Warfare 2 Limited Edition Console, where it will not only come with the Xbox 360 itself, it will also include Infinity Ward's "Modern Warfare 21, which is the blockbuster sequel to the best-selling f irst-person action game in history. The Console is no ordinary bundle, as it will boast an exclusive design inspired by the epic thriller, alongside additional storage space thanks to a new and improved 250GB hard drive, a couple of wireless Xbox 360 controllers to get you and your mate started right out of the box, an Xbox 360 Headset as well as a Standard Edition copy of=2 0"Modern Warfare 21, where the entire bundle will knock you back by four Benjamin's – not too shabby considering the much larger storage space available alongside all the accessories bundled together

CANON EOS 7D

Arriving just in time to give the Nikon D300s some much-needed competition, the new Canon EOS 7D ($1,700; September 2009) is ready to make a run at the title of "best semi-pro DSLR." It features dual DIGIC processors for 8 fps shooting, an 18 megapixel sensor, full 1080p video at 24, 25, or 30 fps, an all-new 19-point Autofocus system, a built-in dual axis electronic level for perfectly-framed shots, a 3-inch LCD with Live View, an intelligent view-finder with 100 percent frame coverage, and more.

is a Multi Format Playback - The CDJ-2000 enables playback of MP3, AAC, WAV and AIFF audio files on CD,DVD-ROM, SD card and USB memory devices. Pro DJ Link - New Pioneer Pro DJ Link that enables up to four CDJ-2000/900s to be connected and share a single music source. 6.1" Full Color LCD panel and Graphic User Interface - For displaying song titles, jacket art as well as detailed track information and wave form display of each song so DJs can find information nneeded to select a song at a glance. PS3 SLIM

Been holding off on buying Sony's latest gaming console, or just looking for a solid, network-capable Blu-ray player? Say hello to the PS3 Slim ($300; Out now). As the name suggests, the revised console takes up 32 percent less space and uses 34 percent less power than its comparatively gargantuan predecessor, while still offering HDMI20and optical digital audio output, built-in Wi-Fi, dual USB ports, a 120GB hard drive, and, of course, that aforementioned Blu-ray drive.

LOGITECH SQUEEZEBOX RADIO

The way we listen to, share and even buy music has changed a lot in just a few years, but that doesn't mean you have to glue yourself to your computer to listen to your MP3s or internet radio. Logitech Squeezebox Radio connects you to your tunes wirel essly, whether they're stored on your hard drive or on a service like Pandora, Slacker, Sirius Radio. You can even connect to Facebook and share music with your friends on the fly. Although it's about the size of your old alarm clock, the Squeezebox delivers impressive sound that fills the whole room.

NOKIA BOOKLET 3G

While Nokia might not be the first name you'd think of when shopping for a new netbook, the company is looking to change that with the Nokia Booklet 3G ($TBA). Running what looks like Windows 7, the Booklet offers solid specs, including an Intel Atom processor, a 10-inch HD display, integrated A-GPS, 3G/HSPA, Wi-Fi, and Bluetooth, a built-in SD card reader, HDMI output, web-cam, an impressive 12-hour battery, and stylish aluminum chassis.

SENSIA DAB/WI-FI RADIO

It looks like a football, but the Sensia is more about touchscreens than touchdowns; it's a convergence device with a 5.7 $\footnote{1}$ display that streams music via Wi-Fi and plays DAB/FM radio. \$400 phrodisiacs have been sought throughout history to bolster sexual performance and increase fertility. Aphrodisiacs are substances that stimulate sexual excitement either through sensory stimulation (sight, smell, texture) or through ingestion. Ingested aphrodisiacs include chemicals that have a physiological effect on the body, and foods that are believed to stimulate sexual desire. While there is no definitive study that shows direct arousal effects of any food on human sexual organs, the long, exciting history of libidinous foods shows just how effective is the power of suggestion. The following is a list of common foods popularly believed to be effective aphrodisiacs.

- Almonds an ancient symbol of fertility, the aroma is believed to incite passion.
- Aniseed believed to increase desire by sucking on the seeds.

- Arugula rich in vitamins and minerals that help put the body in prime sexual condition.
- Asparagus its visual similarity to a phallus makes this food a sensory aphrodisiac.
- Avocado its sensual texture and testicular shape are stimulating enough, but it also contains B6 vitamin, which is believed to increase male hormone production.
- Bananas along with an obviously phallic shape, this fruit is also rich in potassium and B vitamins, which are believed to increase hormone production.
- Basil gives a sense of overall well-being, plus it's believed to increase fertility and boost the sex drive.
- Carrot believed to be a male stimulant, but certainly has a phallic shape.

- Caviar high in zinc, which improves male performance.
- Celery contains a male hormone that simulates female sexual arousal.
- Chocolate contains antioxidants and chemicals that can increase libido.
- Fennel contains natural plant estrogens and was historically used to enhance the libido.
- Figs erotic fruit that when opened, resembles the female sex organ.
- Garlic spicy quality is thought to increase sexual desire.
- Ginger this spice is a circulatory stimulant, which can increase the libido.
- Gingko nut also a circulatory stimulant.
- Honey historically used as a cure for sterility and impotence.
- Nulmeg believed a potent aphrodisiac in Chinese tradition, though large doses can cause hallucinations.
- Oats believed to stimulate the release of testosterone in males.
- Oysters thought to resemble the female sex organs, but also highly nutritious, which improves health and thus sexual performance.
- Pine Nuts high in zinc which stimulates the libido and improves male potency.
- Pineapple used as a natural remedy for impotence.
- Pomegranate ancient symbol of fertility, this fruit is also rich in vitamins, minerals, and antioxidants.
- Radish the Egyptian aphrodisiac of the gods, it also has a stimulating, spicy flavor.
- Raspberries & Strawberries thought to resemble nipples, providing visual stimulus along with tangy sweet taste.
- Truffles the musky odor is said to stimulate desire and sensitivity.
- Vanilla both the scent and the flavor is thought to increase sexual desire.
- Wine has a relaxing effect, and red wine is also high in antioxidants.

The sensual nature of foods is not in question. The anecdotal responses of both males and females across history shows that foods can be very erotic, either by their sight, smell, taste, or texture, or by the belief in their internal effects on our bodies. No matter the evidence, we will continue to enjoy the stimulating effects of aphrodisiac foods long into the future.

MOTOROLA CLIQ

It's been a while since we've seen a pocket-worthy phone come from Moto, but it's been ever longer since it released a phone running Android. The Motorola CLIQ ($TBA; Fall 2009) is actually Moto's first Android device, and it's off to a strong start with a proprietary interface skin called MOTOBLUR that brings all your social networks, contacts, and important news together in one handy little interface. Other features include Wi-Fi, 3G networking, a 3.1-inch touchscreen, a 5 megapixel camera with autofocus and video, a standard 3.5mm headphone jack, microSD storage, a slide-out QWERTY keyboard, and more.

BLAIRS DEATH HOT SAUCE

Whether you're kicking up a dish like chili, salsa or eggs, want to mix a bloody mary that will have you asking for a glass of water to help it go down, or simply want to torture your friends, family, and companions, Blair's Death Hot Sauce ($13/4-pack) has you covered. Proclaimed hottest sauce in the world by none other than the Guinness Book of World Record, Blair's line of Death sauces includes four unique handmade mixtures — Original Death, Jalapeño Death, Sudden Death, and After Death, in order of spiciness — that are sure to give anyone a near-death experience.

PANASONIC LUMIX GF1

HD video? Check. Interchangeable lenses? Check. Pocketable size? Check. The Panasonic Lumix GF1 ($900; October 2009) is the latest Micro Four Thirds camera to combine the best aspects of a DSLR with a point-and-shoot sized body, packing a 12-megapixel CMOS sensor, a 3-inch LCD with 60 frames-per-second full-time Live View images, 720p HD video recording, a built-in flash, SDHC storage, mini-HDMI output, optical image stabilization, and more.

IPOD NANO WITH VIDEO

The No. 1 selling music player is going all YouTube on us. As its name implies, the new iPod Nano with Video ($150-$180) sports a built-in video camera, mic and speaker, letting you record video just as easily as you can play a song. The new Nano also features a larger 2.2-inch color display, a polished anodized aluminum finish, a built-in pedometer, and a built-in FM radio with TiVo-like Live Pause and iTunes Tagging. The new nano comes in 8GB and 16GB sizes in your choice of nine colors — silver, black, purple, blue, green, orange, yellow, red, and pink.

UESIKEUUEAK

GLOBE BARS

If you're going to be standing around, discussing international espionage on a regular basis, you're going to need a Globe Bar ($300-$2,045). Handcrafted in Italy, these spectacular den, office, or living area accents open on their equator to show a host of bar tools, accessories, and spirits hidden inside.

THE MAN WALL

Bring the sports bar experience home with The Man Wall ($14,900). This all-in-one chunk of awesomeness features room for four TVs — one 52" and two 26" units are included — a 1200-watt Panasonic home theater with integrated speakers and wireless surround units, two 25-cigar humidors with gauges, a 32-bottle wine rack, a microwave, a live 7-foot sports ticker at the top with built-in computer, a full-size kegerator with tap, an iPod docking station, DVD player, and the ability to control it all via a single remote control. Feel free to grunt in approval.

Ever wish you could take a Jägermeister shot machine with you camping, tailgating, and partying? Now you can, with the Jägermeister 6-Bottle Shot Cooler ($120). Available as a six-bottle value pack, the cooler has plenty of room for all six bottles, ice, and the requisite cans of Red Bull, and uses the same tech as the Jägermeister Tap Machine to deliver ice-cold shots straight from the external tap.

SONY S SERIES WALKMAN

Need a new PMP but tiring of Apple's iPod line? Check out the new Sony S Series Walkman ($110-$130). Available in four different colors and sporting either 8 or 16GB of storage, the new S series players feature a 2.4-inch QVGA LCD screen, both voice and FM recording, built-in stereo speakers, support for most major audio and video formats, 42 hours of music playback and 6.5 hrs of video playback on a single charge, and a svelte design that's less than half and inch thick.

Images of Nikki Jane are courtesy of www.suze.net

Nikki Jayne is a statuesque 22-year-old blonde from the north of England who has had a lifelong interest in the performing arts. She became a Vivid Girl in 2008.

Born in Manchester, England, Nikki attended high school and college in the historic town of Wigan, and there she formed a bubbly, outgoing personality that led her to pursue studies in the performing arts. While holding down her first job out of school in advertising sales for a local newspaper, the 5'10" blue-eyed beauty also competed in kickboxing matches and was a part time model.

Nikki was modeling evening gowns in the UK when she was discovered by an agent and was introduced to Vivid Entertainment executives. "The first adult movie I ever saw was Vivid's 'Last Girl Standing' and I was very impressed by the actresses," says Nikki. "I realize what a lucky break it is for me to become a Vivid Girl."

"My aunt was a stripper and she probably inspired me because I always wanted to do something where I showed off my body."

In addition to her acting career, Nikki's passions include traveling and spiritual pursuits such as astrology, numerology and tarot card reading – which, she says, has confirmed that she has lots of sexual and erotic energy. She has recently visited Brazil, Thailand, Africa and India and looks forward to seeing more of the U.S.

"I come from a very open-minded family and they've always been supportive of my decisions," Nikki says. "My aunt was a stripper and she probably inspired me because I always wanted to do something where I showed off my body. I'm probably a classic Gemini with both naughty and nice sides."

She is attracted to men who have "some sparkle and who are capable of lighting up a room when they walk in." She's taller than many of the men she dates, but she says that "really doesn't matter as we're both the same height when we're in bed."

DoingYourBodyGood

he term sex, especially in the media, conjures up many images, but seldom is this basic human act discussed in terms of health and fitness. Often sex is often discussed in the news as something lurid or a dangerous activity that people must take precautions for or abstain from. Of course, there are many aspects of this human activity, but it's important to understand the physical positive that sex brings to your body. The following text highlights the health benefits of sex

The most basic and, perhaps, the most obvious benefit of sex is the exercise factor. Burning calories in bed is a great way to shed pounds. Thirty minutes of sex can help you burn more than eighty calories. An extremely vigorous session might even allow you to burn up two hundred calories. It takes 3,500 burnt calories to shed one pound, but those eighty minutes sessions add up. And, the exercise component of sex is good for your cardiovascular health too. Some scientific research suggests that men who have sex two times of more during the week can cut their risk of a deadly heart attack in half.

Got a headache? Having a headache is no excuse to refrain from sex. In fact, a bout of sex can actually cure headache pain or relieve the stress causing your headache. It has been reported in medical journals that sex does relieve stress and can lower blood pressure. Sex is also a natural way to reduce pain. During sex, the hormone oxytocin spikes and pain levels drop. Don't be surprised if you've forgotten all about that headache pain after a bout of sex.

A surge of oxytocin is also a great benefit for people suffering from insomnia. The higher oxytocin level in the body is associated with good sleep. Getting adequate sleep on a regular basis is necessary to maintain optimum health. Sex is, therefore, linked to regular sleep patterns. The relaxation element after sex is a natural way for typically highly motivated people to calm down after a long day.

A healthy sex life is also linked to a healthier immune system. Doing it only once or twice a week can actually help you ward off infections like the common cold by boosting your body's levels of antibodies. These findings have been backed by medical studies and are great news for people who enjoy sex.

Regular ejaculation has been linked to a reduced instance of prostate cancer in men. This is an important benefit of sex that is supported by the scientific community. As the body makes semen, it concentrates levels of zinc, potassium, and citric acid and ejects them from the body. If cancer cells are present, they, as well, are concentrated and released from the body. Consequently, regular ejaculation of semen can be a way of ridding the male's body of some unwanted elements.

In some scenarios this would be a controversial behavior, but having sex without a condom has actually been linked to depression reduction in women. A crazy benefit it may be, but a study in 2002 suggested that a hormone within semen is absorbed by the female and acts as a modulating or regulating substance. Sex without condoms has been shown to help keep a woman's hormones balanced and her depression in check. Because of the increased risks of having sex without a condom for many, this benefit is generally left unsaid, but the benefit remains and those who are able to forgo the condom may see happy results.

Of course, a healthy sex life can lead to a feeling self-confidence and happiness for both men and women. Feeling good emotionally can lead to greater health benefits. A poor sex life or no sex life can trigger depression or contribute to a person's negative sense of self. A fulfilling sex life can play a key role in the good health of a steady relationship and the mutual good feeling can help sustain the other health benefits of sex.

Another weird health benefit of an overtly sexual act can improve your smile. That is, teeth have been shown to benefit from semen. Minerals, zinc, and calcium within semen can reduce tooth decay. A healthy set of teeth is just one more benefit that intimacy can safeguard.

And finally, it might not seem like much, but sex can even benefit a person's sense of smell. Sex causes prolactin levels to rise in the body. Prolactin is a hormone. This surge is associated with increased stem cell development in the brain. The newly created neurons benefit the brain's olfactory center making you a better sniffer.

Regular intimacy—cuddling, hugging, touching—along with intercourse can promote mutual healing and provide many health benefits. The fact that intimacy feels good is good for your health. Science has demonstrated that the sense of touch is important to maintain good health. Of course, it is important to take precautions—dangerous sexually-related infections and disease can cancel out the great health benefits of sex. But, as humans are sexual creatures, it should be no surprise that sex (after all risk factors are protected against) is really good for you.

NICKY HAYDEN EDITION

ucati North America is proud to announce the 848 Nicky Hayden Edition. This striking livery places a distinctly American stamp on the market's best middleweight sport bike. We are excited to unveil this model in conjunction with the Red Bull United States Grand Prix at Mazda Raceway Laguna Seca, as there is no better time to celebrate the American World Champion than at his home race on the 4th of July. This US-exclusive model features an American inspired paint scheme, aptly fit for its introduction on the 4th of July, personally autographed gas tank, and model updates for the 2010 year. MSRP is $14,495, and will be available July 7 at authorized Ducati dealers.

The new Ducati 848 Nicky Hayden Edition enjoys all the performance advancements of the entire Superbike family, while adding its own innovations to redefine the middleweight sport bike class.

The words 'agile' and 'refined' aptly describe the 848. At 168kg (369lbs) the 848 is an amazing 20kg (44lbs) lighter than its predecessor, and a significant 5kg (11lbs) lighter than its larger capacity brother, the 1098.

The highly advanced 848 engine uses an improved method of engine case production in which cases are vacuum die-cast formed. While providing significant weight savings of more than 3kg (6.5lbs), this method also ensures consistent wall thickness and increased strength. Further refinements include a sophisticated wet clutch that offers 1kg (2.2lbs) less weight, a much higher service life, improved clutch feel and quiet operation.

With the first twist of the wrist, the powerful rush of the Testastretta Evoluzione engine confirms that the rules have changed. The 848's 134hp is not only 30% more powerful than its predecessor, but it provides a power-to-weight ratio even better than the potent 999.

Available immediately, the 848 Nicky Hayden Edition is the first of the 2010 Ducati 848 models to arrive in showrooms. For 2010, this model features several upgrades in addition to the special Hayden livery and full specifications listed below, including:

- LED dash illumination for better visibility particularly at night
- Inclusion of a 30mm mirror extension kit, enabling a choice of two stem lengths for better vision

Born in New Delhi, India, Priya Rai arrived in America when she was just two years old. She is a South Asian seductress with a small body and sensational curves. At barely 5'3, her petite frame carries an impressive 34D-24-34 form.

Priya started her career modeling fashion and swimwear. It was after meeting a photographer at a calendar shoot that her career really took off. Ever since, Priya has been able to break the barriers of inhibition and display her sexuality with unfettered heat.

Priya finds her work to be very satisfying and fulfilling. She admits that she gets just as excited shooting her photos as you get looking at them. In her own words, "Sometimes, doing all those poses, you kind of get turned on and stuff" and "I'm just saying sometimes, you are kind of feeling good about the poses and it's erotic and a bit of a turn on".

In her free time, Priya likes practicing meditation and keeping in tune with her spiritual and sexual energy. She also likes to cook and take care of people, but enjoys being spoiled with fine dining and dancing as well.

HOLLY SAYS:

I was a bit unsure what I wanted to do with Priya at first. I've seen her work all over the place in more gonzo style shoots, but I was keen on capturing the essence of this ethnic beauty. I decided on stockings & garters for a fetish feel and did the green bustier to contrast against her skin. It all came together when I realized - what's better than one Priya, but two! Hence the mirror...

WHY MEN ARE AFRAID OF TOYS

BRINGING TOYS INTO YOUR BOUDOIR IS A FUN AND EXCITING WAY TO SPICE UP YOUR LOVE LIFE. HOWEVER, SOME MEN ARE APPREHENSIVE ABOUT USING TOYS, AND A FEW MAY DOWNRIGHT REFUSE. WHY IS THIS? AND HOW CAN YOU HELP YOUR MAN GET PAST THIS?

Usually, the reason is a simple and unsurprising one: they make him feel inadequate.

Many men think that the reason you want to introduce toys to your bedroom is because he alone is not enough to satisfy you. Although this is likely not the case, it will nonetheless bruise his ego.

There are a few things you can try if your man seems less-than-enthusiastic about trying something new.

START SLOW

Don't be too insistent that he try using toys. If you suggest them and he says no, don't ask again for a few days or weeks. Trying to force toys into your relationship will only further his feelings that he isn't satisfying you.

MAKE IT SOMETHING SPECIAL FOR HIM

Give him his own private peep show. Tell him he is only allowed to watch while you play with your new toy. Don't let him join in until he can no longer stand it!

Try this for a birthday or anniversary present, or even as a "just because." Hopefully, this will turn him on and help to change his attitude about toys!

FOCUS ON HIM

Don't concentrate too much on they toys. Use them for foreplay and to get things heated up, but toss them aside after a short while. Making him the main focus will help ease any feelings of inadequacy.

SIZE MATTERS

Since his apprehension is likely fueled by feeling that he is not man enough, make sure you don't choose a toy that reinforces these feelings. Look for a toy that is smaller than he is. Knowing that his size isn't in question will make him feel better about the situation.

WHEN ALL ELSE FAILS

You may find that no matter your approach, you man is still not comfortable with the idea of bringing toys into the bedroom. If this is the case for you, you may have to take no for an answer.

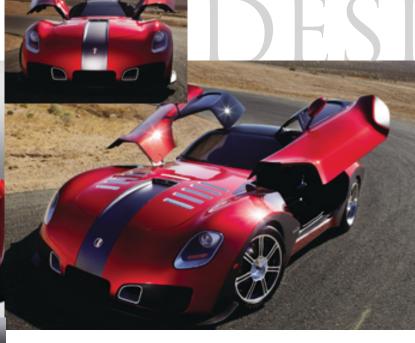

Rather than potentially destroying the relationship, try something else to spice things up in the bedroom, like new positions or techniques. Keep your toys tucked away for those times when he is out of town or otherwise not around, and settle for using them solo.

Be patient, be thoughtful, and don't be too pushy. Hopefully, these tips will help to ease your man's anxiety about bringing toys into your love life!

2009 AUDI E-TRON CONCEPT

Audi presents the highlight of the IAA 2009: the e-tron, a high-performance sports car with a purely electric drive system. Four motors $\mathbb I$ two each at the front and rear axles $\mathbb I$ drive the wheels, making the concept car a true quattro. Producing 230 kW (313 hp) and 4,500 Nm (3,319.03 lb-ft) of torque, the two-seater accelerates from 0 to 100 km/h (0 $\mathbb I$ 62.14 mph) in 4.8 seconds, and from 60 to 120 km/h (37.28 $\mathbb I$ 74.56 mph) in 4.1 seconds. The lithium-ion battery provides a truly useable energy content of 42.4 kilowatt hours to enable a range of approximately 248 kilometers.

The performance figures are by no means the only evidence of the consistent and holistic strategy. The design makes it clear that the e-tron belongs in the major leagues of sports cars, and the package takes into account the specific realities of an electric vehicle. The battery is directly behind the passenger cabin for an optimal center of gravity and axle load distribution.

The e-tron is able to freely distribute the powerful torque of its four electric motors to the wheels as required. This so-called torque vectoring allows for dazzling dynamics and an undreamed-of level of agility and precision when cornering.

Audi has taken a new and in some cases revolutionary approach to many of the technical modules. A heat pump is used to efficiently warm up and heat the interior. The drive system, the power electronics and the battery are controlled by an innovative thermal management system that is a crucial component for achieving the carls range without compromising its high level of interior comfort. Networking the vehicle electronics with the surroundings, which is referred to as car-to-x communication, opens new dimensions for the optimization of efficiency, safety and convenience.

2010 DEVON GTX

The vehicles aircraft-quality carbon fiber body sits atop large lattice-structure center-lock wheels. The interior design reflects the companys progressive design philosophy and features carbon-fiber-reinforced racing seats, dual-grained leather surfacing throughout the cockpit and tasteful chrome appointments. Refinement, quality and uniqueness are conveyed in the cars up and forward articulating doors, distinctive body two-tone wheel surrounds, minimal front/rear overhangs, and dual center rear exit chrome exhaust ports.

Beneath the skin of the Devon GTX is an 8.4-liter (510 cubic inches) V-10 engine that produces 650 horsepower ($484.7\,$ kW) at $6100\,$ rpm. The V-10 engine is mated with a track-proven six-speed manual transmission. While the Devon GTX has yet to hit an American road, it has made its mark on two of Americas most demanding road courses. In validation testing earlier this year, the vehicle set production car lap records at both Willow Springs Raceway and Mazda Raceway at Laguna Seca.

It was not a specific goal to set track records at that stage of validation, but the car outperformed even our aggressive goals, said Devon Motorworks validation and testing leader Justin Bell, a former 24 Hours of Le Mans champion. We are looking forward to additional testing, where Im certain the GTX will eclipse any time weve set to date.

Former Ford executive engineer Andy Benedict leads the product development team, while manufacturing and assembly is headed by Clive Hawkins, founder of ARIA Group. Aerodynamic testing is supervised by Dr. Joseph Katz of San Diego State University while marketing is led by automotive veteran Jerry Deeney. They are supported by a hand-picked team of experts that will design, engineer, manufacturer and present vehicles on a coach-built basis to a select and discerning customer base. We have assembled an international team of highly qualified experts who have set out on an uncommon task. But with an American can-do attitude, our goal of creating an American supercar has been realized, said Devon.

Devon Motorworks will produce 36 cars per year at its manufacturing facility in southern California. On sale beginning in the first quarter of 2010, the cars will be sold for $500,000. An optional Racing Package will be available for $25,000. The vehicles will be sold and serviced directly through Devon Motorworks. Interested customers are encouraged to visit devonmotorworks.com/about/preorder to learn more about ordering the first Devon GTX.

WIESMANN ROADSTER GT MF5

Wiesmann, the luxury sports car maker, will be presenting an absolutely stunning example of its hand-crafted sports car range - the Wiesmann Roadster MF5 - to visitors at the 63rd International Motor Show in Frankfurt.

The Wiesmann Roadster MF5 takes even experienced sports car enthusiasts into a brand new dimension of driving enjoyment, delivering a top speed of 310 km/h and completing the sprint from standstill to $100 \, \text{km/h}$ in 3.9 seconds. This exclusive open-air experience will only be available to a select few because the spirited power package is only being produced in a limited edition of 55. Equipped with a V10 engine, 507 HP and 520 Nm torque, it's a car that appeals to all the senses. It also literally hugs the road as a result of perfect weight distribution.

Not only does the Wiesmann MF5 have a lot to boast about under the bonnet, it also has an impressive exterior: the low body, the typical retrostyle Wiesmann design and the wide tyres communicate exclusive driving enjoyment at first glance - a promise that is also made by the car's purist interior fittings. No superfluous driving actions are necessary and everything that the driver needs to operate the vehicle is within perfect reach.

It goes without saying that the essential combination of sportiness and safety are also consistently implemented in the new roadster. For example, the rear wing plus perfectly balanced suspension set-up guarantees the necessary stability, even at top speeds. The roadster version of the MF5 also has an extandable wing for perfect handling on the race track and on the road. The torsion-resistant aluminium monocoque with integrated side-impact protection, dual stage driver and passenger airbags, ABS, DSC and many other safety features ensure that the driver still feels safe, even when his endorphin levels are sky high.

FERRARI ENZO XX EVOLUTION

The Ferrari Enzo with its 660 horsepower is arguably one of the most exclusive cars in the world, both in terms of its driving dynamics and purchase price. Those looking for something considerably faster and more exclusive choose the edo Enzo XX Evolution.

A bump in displacement from 6.0 to 6.3 liters, new camshafts, new titanium valve spring retainers and connecting rods, modified cylinder heads, new high performance exhaust headers, high flow catalytic converters, mufflers and air filters: that is the scope of edo competition is engine modifications. The standard hydraulic tappets are replaced with newly developed solid tappets, enabling the 12 cylinder engine to rev to an incredible 9,600 rpm. This is unmatched by any other 12 cylinder engine at this time! Additionally the intake system of the V12 was modified, a new high performance clutch - available with Istradal or Epistal friction pads - and a more powerful oil pump were installed. The power output is increased by 180 to 840 horsepower. Without mufflers more than 860 horsepower is possible. The maximum torque of 780 Nm (575 ft-lb) is available at 5,800 rpm.

While the power output is increased, the Enzols weight is decreased by a respectable 100 kilograms (220 lb). The result in numerical terms is that the edo Enzo XX Evolution accelerates from zero to 100 km/h (62 mph) in 3.2 seconds, 200 km/h (124 mph) in 9.0 seconds and 300 km/h in just 19 seconds. The top speed exceeds 390 km/h (242 mph).

The edo/KW race suspension from the FIA GT series was retuned for the Enzo XX Evolution, promising ultimate driving dynamics. The nose lift functionality is retained. The low-friction 3-way adjustable shock absorbers can be adjusted to the individual tastes of the driver and provide excellent steering precision and feedback. The edoinstalled tire pressure monitoring system displays the pressures for each of the four wheels. Providing ample grip for the edo Enzo XX Evolution are 19 inch front wheels and 20 inch rear wheels with 335 mm wide tires. The drive shafts were replaced due to the higher propulsive forces acting on them. The new units are 4 kg (8.8 lb) lighter and considerably more robust in order to cope with the enormous power increase.

2009 ASTON MARTIN VANTAGE HELLVELLYN FROST BY MW DESIGN TECHNIK

MWDesign ups the ante on the already beautiful Aston Martin V8 Vantage with a well thought out aerodynamic and performance upgrade package.

Appropriately named Helvellyn Frost, this frozen matte white ...Aston takes its name from a mountain range in England. This mountain epitomizes romance and beauty with a dash of treachery just as this V8 Vantage does.

The Aston Vantage is undoubtedly a stunningly beautiful car straight from the factory. To enhance her looks without becoming ostentatious, every curve had to be considered. It is a very easy process to add aftermarket parts to these cars, but also very easy to disturb the balance of beauty, proportion and classiness.

To ensure that the whole theme would work, MWDesign first created a concept render to digitally <code>ltest</code> fit! the entire styling package down to the most subtle detail.

The first task was to pick a color scheme to go with. The car came from the factory finished in an already beautiful Tungsten Grey with 2 tone red/black interior and red callipers. To accentuate the lines and create a more mystical subdued glow, a crisp pure matte white was selected. This concept was executed beautifully by the pros at GPFX.

After the full color conversion, RSC (Racing Sports Concepts) came into the equation for subtle aerodynamics additions and serious power upgrades. For this project, MWDesign placed a special order for these aero pieces in matte carbon fiber to flow with the muted exterior reflectivity. The carbon pieces fit flawlessly and were given the matte white 2 tone effect to flow into the rest of the bodywork.

Next on the agenda was to upgrade the stance of the Aston with wheels $\,$ and suspension. To achieve this, first H&R suspension was installed to get the proper ride height. For wheels, MWDesign immediately called their good friends at Modulare wheels to fabricate a custom set of wheels for the Vantage. MWDesign!s prototype included a matte black lip and a highly textured tinted brushed aluminum face reminiscent of a clearcoated version of the TiAN finish found on some of the world!s most exclusive watches. After some design revisions, MWDesign applied their concept to Modulare!s then unreleased M14 wheel style. This finish was combined with piano black hardware and aluminum center cap with small body color accents. These highly detailed wheels are glued to the road via Michelin Pilot Sport PS2!s measuring 255/35/20 in the front and 285/25/20 in the rear.

After the major modifications were complete, the fine styling details had to be addressed. In MWDesignIs opinion, often these small accents are the Imake or breakI features in their projects. To match the matte theme and the matte black wheel lips, matte black was applied to the side vents, front grill, window trims and trunk lip area. DBS style clear tails were added to the rear to create a lighter, more airy feel to the body of the car. The solid Ferrari Red callipers were entirely too flashy for the vehicle and had to be subdued. The callipers were pulled out and powdercoated in a frost white with carbon fiber plate to match the body. To retain a more subtle tie with the red interior, the Brembo calliperIs bleeder line was left in red. Drawing from the influence of the GT4 Racing Vantage, removable anodized red tow hooks were installed in the front and rear giving it a small hint of red to match the interior and to pay homage to its racing counterpart.

Lastly, the Vantagels underachieving 380hp was the final priority on the list. RSCls Vantage-C Powerkit including a beautiful polished canister race exhaust system, high flow 200 cell catalysts and engine software retune bring this machine to a serious contender at 445hp. The loud yet refined bark emitted from the handbuilt V8 through the free flowing exhaust produces such a beautiful note that the car feels right at home whether it be at the Glyndebourne or at Goodwood.

FREEDOM GRILL FG-900

Need to transport all your friends to the game, but also need to bring along your tailgating arsenal? Look into the Freedom Grill FG-900 ($9,900). Built to attach to the back of any vehicle with a standard 1 7/8" ball, this D.O.T.approved trailer features a high-grade commercial-grade gas barbecue with six burners, 304 stainless steel construction, dual insulated storage compartments with drains, a flagpole holder, a bottle opener, standard trailer lights, and an enormous cooking surface that will ensure you have plenty of room to cook for you, your buddies, and any other revelers that swing by.

BUCKETVAC

Have a big, nasty mess that's more than your average Shop-Vac can hold? Give the BucketVAC ($TBA; Q4 2009) a try. This 7-pound commercial-grade wet/dry vacuum attaches quickly and easily to most 5 gallon buckets, snapping in place using the bucket handle, with a removable filter and a 2-inch diameter hose for less clogging. Bucket full? Just detach the vac and move on to the next one, until the job is done.

VICTOR MOUSETRAP

Forget smashed fingers and the lovely sight of a near-decapitated mouse in the morning — ditch your traditional traps for the Victor Mousetrap ($130). Preferred by exterminators for its unmatched dependability, the Victor uses peanut butter or bacon bits to lure the rodent into the trap, where three electrically charged plates sense its presence and kill it instantly. Once the deed is done, the trap automatically rotates and dumps the mouse in a receptacle, resetting for the next customer.

COLEMAN STEEL BELTED CHEST COOLER

Based on Coleman's original steel cooler from 1954, the new Coleman Steel Belted Chest Cooler ($173) is a modern classic. It features a rugged, stainless steel lid and case, handles with rubber comfort grips, a solid steel latch for a better, more secure seal, more robust insulation, and a leak-proof, rust resistant drain. Just add ice, food, and beer.

SUPER TOOL 300

No matter what the job, the Leatherman Super Tool 300 ($70) is ready to handle it. This heavy-duty all-purpose tool offers both a clip point and serrated knives, both needlenose and regular pliers, several wire cutters, a wire stripper, a crimper, a host of screwdrivers, a file, a saw, both bottle and can openers, a ruler, and more. With rolled handle edges for a comfy grip and rock solid stainless steel construction, it's ready to help with your handiwork for years to come.

4-IN-1 AVOCADO TOOL

Even the craftiest of cooks will tell you that avocados can be time-consuming and tough to deal with — so even the playing field with the Fourin-One Avocado Tool ($15). Featuring a serrated edge at one end, a curved tip, a bowl-shaped scoop, and wide-slotted masher, its ready to help you peel, pit, and grind your avocado into shape.

FLOWTRON LEAF EATER

Prepare for the onslaught of fall leaves with the Flowtron Leaf Eater ($170). Featuring a fully capable, yet not Fargo-style body-approved motor, the Flowtron easily handles double handfuls of twigs, leaves, and sticks, and is designed to sit above your trash can for completely mess-free cleanup, while the two step shredding/mulching process leaves you with valuable compost that can be used to beautify your lawn next spring.

THOUGH SHES CLEARLY TRYING, MY GIRLFRIEND ISNT SO GREAT AT GIVING ORAL SEX. HOW CAN I PROMPT HER TO IMPROVE HER TECHNIQUE?

You need something that will make the experience more pleasurable for her, something that will encourage her to treat your penis like a lollipop, something that will prompt her to get her hands involved. You need flavored lube. Sure, whipped cream and chocolate sauce are more readily available, but they're too messy. There's a lube called Sliquid Swirl Green Apple Tart ($12, babeland.com) that has a slippery, water-based consistency and tastes pretty good. Squeeze one drop on the palm of her hand and one on the tip of your rod, and prepare for liftoff.

MY GIRLFRIEND SAYS SHE DOESNT ENJOY RECEIVING ORAL SEX. IS THAT POSSIBLE?

Can you imagine a guy not wanting his knob polished? Probably not, but think again. What if she used her teeth and chomped down like it was an Italian sausage? It could be that your girlfriend has had a few bad experiences that have made her reluctant to be the recipient of a tongue bath. She might also just be saying that she doesn't like it because she doesn't feel, you know, fresh – because of her period or any number of things that might be going on down there, none of which you want to know about. And then there's that self-consciousness that could be left over from her days in the convent with Sister Mary Immaculata. Either way, I suggest waiting for a night right after she's had a shower, and gently kissing your way south. If/ when she protests, ask if she'll grant you just one chance to change her mind.

WHEN IM AT HER PLACE, SHOULD I FLUSH A USED CONDOM OR TRASH IT?

If there's a plastic bag in the garbage can, tie the condom in a knot, wrap it in tissue or toilet paper, and throw it away. Even if the only receptacle is a dainty wicker basket, wrap the rubber and deposit it – don't flush it, or you'll be courting a plumbing disaster. And please don't leave it for her to peel off the floor the next morning – you guys really need to knock that off..

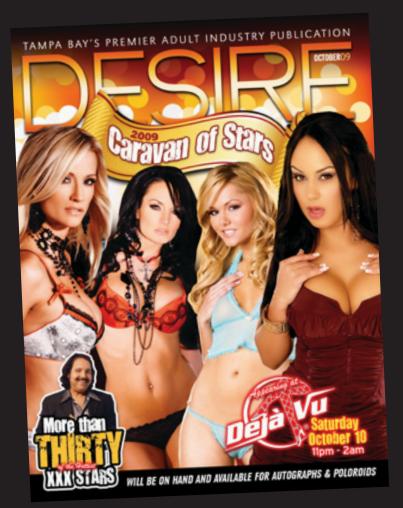

I SLEPT WITH MY BOSS, BUT I DONT WANT TO DATE HER. HAVE AN ESCAPE PLAN?

This is tricky, I know. I've had bosses make passes and had to turn them down. Say the wrong thing and the person in power may decide it's too embarrassing to have you around. You have to stroke this woman's ego as you extricate yourself. Tell her she's the ideal woman – beautiful, smart, sexy – then humbly insist that you couldn't possibly handle a relationship with someone you work with. Make it principle, not personal. As long as you don't fish off the company pier again next month, you should be in the clear.

SHE DIDNT HAVE AN ORGASM THE FIRST TIME WE HAD SEX. HOW CAN I REDEEM MYSELF?

Very few women expect the first time with a new guy to be explosively soul melding. Often, we're so self-conscious about having a new pair of eyes and hands on our bodies, we wouldn't climax even if you were Antonio Banderas licking the letter Z ad infinitum on our sweet spot. So don't worry about it. And don't sweat an abrupt ending, either. Initially, we'll take it as a compliment.

o get you moving on the water, Lancia has embodied all the aristocratic elegance of a great sports coupe into a boat built by Sacs.

Sacs has twenty years of experience in producing all types of RIB, and is world leader in high-tech luxury RIBs. The Lancia Powerboat is the ultimate expression of this type of vessel.

The boat was designed, modelled and built using the advanced tools and equipment that have established Sacs as the sector's technical leader.

The Lancia Powerboat is the creation of Christian Grande, one of todayls most talented boat designers, and the genius behind concepts that extend beyond the confines of boat design into the realm of dynamic art.

Each individual boat is unique, manufactured industrially, but finished with all the care and attention of a master boat-builder. The fiberglass hull is made using moulds finished by robot milling machines. Every component is then assembled and installed by hand to permit each boat to be personalised to customer specifications. In this way Sacs combines industrial levels of productivity with all the exclusivity of "custom" production.

The Lancia Powerboat will be presented to the public at the Genoa Boat Show.

The hull is 13.10 meters in length, with a broad beam of 3.83 meters. These figures give a moderate coefficient of fineness, in search of balance between performance and comfort on board. A limited draft of only 0.80 meters permits navigation even in shallow waters. A weight to power ratio of about 7.5 kg/HP establishes the boat as one of the most powerful available. The two N67-560 engines by Fiat Powertrain Technologies are "best in class". The choice of JMD propulsion, as used in competitive powerboats, typifies the quest for high dynamic efficiency, not only for speed purposes, but to reduce consumption and emissions by ensuring maximum screw efficiency too. The fuel tank has a capacity of 1000 litres, giving sufficient autonomy even for long crossings. Cruising speeds range from 15 to 45 knots, while top speed under ideal loading conditions tops 55 knots. The Lancia Powerboat can carry up to 11 persons, and has a cabin to sleep two.

The modelling and finish of the exterior surfaces faithfully reflects Lancia style. Designed by Christian Grande, the Lancia Powerboat is characterised by an aggressive yet balanced profile, with perfectly proportioned bow, cockpit and stern. The hood blends perfectly with the lines of the boat, thanks to a low profile that accentuates the vessel's sporting character. You can nevertheless stand up in the cockpit even with the hood in place, if you want to drive in maximum comfort and total privacy. The bow deck incorporates two sunbathing mattresses to either side of the central walkway that leads to the bow like a catwalk for passengers to embark and disembark. In the same way, the engine covers at the stern are upholstered to create a second sunbathing area, with another walkway leading to the bathing platform. The windows are design elements of special importance, each with a specific function and style. The side windows accentuate the boat's aggressive character; the windscreen opens to the bow gangway, and the rear window evokes the fascinating style of a classic car. The RIB tubes are largely incorporated into the hull, emerging only where their presence serves to facilitate manoeuvring in tight spaces without the need for fenders. The tubes also ensure unsinkability by providing a number of separate air compartments. Rows of LEDs under the transom and front windscreen simulate the appearance of modern Lancia car lights and emphasise the advanced technology and racing temperament of the FPT engines. The deck expresses the boat's dynamism, with every aspect designed, shaped and finished to convey a sense of movement even when the boat is stationary. No perimeter handrails protrude to compromise the purity of the boat's sensuous lines. Passengers are nevertheless well protected by tall inboard backrests and experience a sensation of greater stability than normal thanks to the low cockpit floor. The sky is yours at the touch of a button too! The hood retracts into a dedicated compartment leaving the full beauty of the cockpit open to the sun. Martini Racing graphics add a final sporting touch. A fold-away LCD television and a galley complete the cockpit equipment.

In the cabin, furnishing is characterised by modern shapes and materials, and the lounge converts quickly to a double bunk. Air conditioning lets you escape from the heat of the sun and cool down. Bathroom facilities are minimalist but impeccably finished. There are even coloured LEDs to provide romantic lighting in the shower.

The Lancia Powerboat is the ideal choice for owners of character, lovers of speed who would never think of giving up the wheel because that would mean losing control over so much power, 1120 horsepower, delivered at 3000 rpm, propel you at up to 55 knots. The Fiat Powertrain Technologies N67-560 engines develop ideal torque and power curves for marine use, with bags of thrust at low engine speeds to get the hull planning effectively. Driving the Lancia Powerboat is a "not to be missed" experience, and offers you the choice of moderating power as you would in an elegant saloon or using it to the full as you would in a thoroughbred racing boat. The choice is entirely up to the driver. The hull's profile in the water has been carefully designed so that anybody can drive the boat just like a Lancia car, but with the added excitement of travel without limits. If you want a more stimulating experience, all you have to do is adjust the trim of the propulsion. Two buttons on the throttle levers modify the propulsion angle to move the screws higher or lower in the water. This changes the angle of the hull with respect to the surface of the water, increasing speed or stability in rough water. The hull is derived from a Sacs racing prototype, and does not need flaps, making it especially easy to drive. The engines are controlled by electronic levers that operate the throttles and smoothly engage forward and reverse propulsion. The engines respond instantly, giving you complete control over available power, and allowing you to turn and negotiate waves with speed and precision.

DESIRESCOPES

CAPRICORN: DECEMBER 22- JAN 19

This period may be spent trying to settle disputes or putting your affairs in order. Be wary, however, as you may have a tendency now to be overzealous when talking to others or not exhibiting enough restraint in certain situations. Your good judgment is needed in order to resolve differences with a friend, relative, or loved one. Reacquaint yourself with your intuition, instincts, and inner wisdom now, as you might gather some fresh insight into improving your communicating and relating skills. You are more clear and objective about personal matters and your relationships, so this is a favorable time to iron out differences or come to a decision. Communicating openly with loved ones, taking a trip to visit friends, or going on an outing accompanied by one you love figures prominently now.

AQUARIUS: JAN 20- FEB 18

Your focus is on love or a primary romantic relationship at this time. An enthusiastic or wholehearted approach to your partnership is one way in which you will express your feelings to a mate or lover. You may give the impression now that you are seeking more fulfillment, commitment, stability, and teamwork in love relationships. You will go that extra mile to insure that you can be relied upon to deliver any promises, pledges, or obligations in the partnership. If you are unattached at the present time, you may attract a new love interest or search earnestly for a meaningful relationship. Also, this period can bring an increased need for security in both job-related and financial affairs.

PISCES: FERRUARY 19- MARCH 20

You may feel like rolling up your sleeves and getting some important work accomplished now. In your determination to achieve recognition and self-importance, it is essential that you are not indifferent to the needs and desires of others. If you concentrate wholeheartedly on your own purposes, you may succeed in attaining your goals, but at the expense of alienating yourself from close relationships. Family members and loved ones may feel that you have substituted work or other commitments for times of fun, play and entertainment with them. Disagreements can arise if you try to cover up or make excuses for your behavior. You may seem so intent on your personal fulfillment that you attract difficulties with co-workers, superiors and authority figures who challenge your work ethics or principles.

ARIES: MARCH 21-APRIL 20

This period brings about pleasant feelings between you and your mate. Your relationship will be emotionally satisfying to you, and there will be opportunities to grow closer to each other through expressing your deepest inner feelings. Although there is a protective quality about the relationship now, you can rely upon your partner to be trustworthy, devoted and appreciative toward you. You are attracted to the more traditional, committed style of companionship and may prefer to spend time with your mate in a secure and comfortable domestic environment.

TAURUS: APRIL 21-MAY 20

Use common sense and good judgment in your personal and professional affairs during this time. There may be a tendency to overextend your energies toward far-reaching goals which causes you to avoid responsibilities in your current work or social involvements. You can underestimate the quantity of time and effort needed to accomplish your projects, desires and inner visions. Problems related to work, legal affairs, or with educational or religious activities are likely. You need to develop a realistic and practical sense with regard to your ideals and objectives. Try to use a more logical approach in your search for new and adventurous possibilities.

GEMINI: MAY 21- JUNE 21

You will want to express your most favorable side to your mate or marriage partner. You are more apt to seek romantic and domestic security and encourage more cooperation and equality in the relationship. The behavior and actions of your mate or spouse may influence your own personal affairs, and you find yourself acting out a role which suits your partner's image. You should be especially careful not to let your mate take advantage of your good nature and sensitivity. If at the present time you are unmarried or unattached, this period may bring a new love relationship which has a sense of commitment and devotion from the very start or provides you with new views on marriage and relationships.

CANCER: JUNE 22- JULY 22

You may have the advantage of keeping other people from getting in the way of your work and personal goals now. Their contact would be helpful now, but you may determine it is best to keep certain facets of your business and personal affairs to yourself. It may be that you are more focused and devoted to your own well-being, so any commitment or dedication outside of your personal or vocational needs has no purpose for you. However self-absorbing this sounds, it can still be a fortunate period in which to find your own satisfaction and rewards in your work and personal endeavors.

LEO: JULY 23- AUGUST 23

Extra responsibilities may appear now regarding your family or domestic life. At this time you may find increased demands placed upon you with regard to nurturing, care taking, or domestic concerns. You find it difficult to decline the needs of loved ones, leading you to feel overburdened with responsibilities. Balancing your own interests with loved ones is difficult to achieve at this time. Personal overindulgence in areas in which you nurture yourself, such as overeating, self-pampering or exaggerated possessiveness toward your loved ones will become annoying to others. Someone living at a distance, a relative or friend, may cause you concern and you may feel obligated to provide them with either personal, emotional, or financial assistance.

VIRGO: AUGUST 23-SEPTEMBER 23

Your desire to achieve personal ambition is highlighted. The ability to handle responsibilities and outline definite goals and purposes is important to you. Your emotions are kept under control and your accomplishments will provide you with a strong sense of self-worth. Leadership roles are likely, as you feel it is your duty to protect and serve others. Important opportunities may present themselves which require commitment on your part. You feel extremely responsible and protective toward your loved ones. There may be a situation where you are obligated to provide care for an elderly parent or loved one and you handle this role with reliability and patience. This can be a time when children face many responsibilities and demanding school situations and you may be called in to provide assistance in helping them. In addition, you have the motivation to further your goals and objectives with respect to your public image.

LIBRA: SEPTEMBER 23 - OCTOBER 23

This is a good time to work on personal as well as business matters. You may feel like doing something that stimulates your ego drives or get passionately involved in a special interest, project, or activity at this time. It is likely you will have enough energy and motivation to carry out your desires and ambitions. However, the urge to work independently or without much involvement with other people may be very strong now. Although this may be a productive period in which you can accomplish a great deal, it is still important to maintain close ties and relationships with others.

SCORPIO: OCTOBER 23- NOVEMBER 21

You learn a lot about your own triggers and defense mechanisms during this period. You may have to deal with a few quarrels and confrontations now. All of your emotions are brought forth and intensified. If you have been harboring anger and resentment against someone, it is likely to surface at this time. The reverse is also possible. You may find others airing their grievances or in more of an argumentative mood than usual. Your ideas and efforts can meet with resistance and you may find it difficult to cooperate with others if you feel your own plans and intentions will suffer. You may just go ahead and do as you want regardless of how others feel or not concern yourself with the consequences of your actions. In some cases, wounded pride, an injury, or minor illness can force you to reexamine certain behaviors and activities which need self-discipline or constructive changes.

SAGITTARIUS: NOVEMBER 23 - DEC 21

This period can bring stability and endurance to your marital or love relationship. Bonds of affection and intimacy are strengthened and it becomes easier to find reasonable and workable solutions to any difficulties you may be undergoing in a partnership. Commitment, loyalty, and devotion flourish in a solid and secure relationship. This can be a time when you have an opportunity to marry or make a lasting commitment to an individual whom you love and cherish. If already married, your union is afforded a second chance or a renewal of love, faith, and happiness now. Taking responsibilities and obligations with a more serious and mature attitude helps you learn and grow at this time. If you are unattached, you may develop a friendship with someone which grows into a strong love or you may begin a significant love relationship during this period.
