

16. GABRIELLA FOX

It's tough being a good girl—homework, long skirts, and pure thoughts. At 21 years-old, Gabriella Fox^{TM} is just starting to realize that not only is it easier to be a bad girl, but it's a lot more fun too.

40. THIS MONTH IN HISTORY

There is more to February than you ever knew. We reveal some of the most significant and strange occurrences that took place throughout history in February.

42. REAL OR FAKE

While every guy thinks that they can tell right off the bat, it can sometimes be difficult to tell whether a woman has real or fake breasts. To avoid the burning curiosity and the embarrassment of staring all night, you can rely on these few tips to differentiate between the two.

46. RIDIN' SOLO ON V-DAY

Of course there's nothing better than being in love and spending Valentine's Day with the girl of your dreams, but for some of us, that just isn't happening—this year anyway.

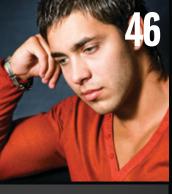

48. HOW TO SWEET TALK ANYONE

With all the endless forms of communication out there, few can do as much for us as sweet-talk. Mastering sweet-talk is a skill that can, and should be learned, as it can improve your life in many aspects with little effort.

54. SLEEP BETTER

If you have trouble sealing the deal in the sleep department, don't worry, you're not alone. Nearly two-thirds of the world has a hiccup in their sleeping schedule at least one night a week. But with a little planning and effort, you can make counting sheep a thing of the past.

CONVERSE UNDFTD POORMAN WEAPON SNEAKERS

Hi-top season is in full swing, which gives you yet another reason to strap on a pair ofConverse UNDFTD Poorman Weapon Sneakers ($140). These monotone All-Stars feature contrast orange lining, Undefeated logos on the bottom side and text hidden behind the Velccro All Star badges on the tongue, and "Play Dirty" detailing on the tag and laces, which should please Cortland Finnegan, as should the included, matching helmet bag.

As if we didn't look dorky enough with Bluetooth headsets in our ears, along comes the Jawbone Era ($130) to kick things up a notch. Packing the company's chaos-killing NoiseAssassin technology, improved "HD" audio, and a processor for running "apps" like the new spoken name Caller ID, the Era also sports an accelerometer, letting you shake it (or your head) to enter pairing mode, and — we're not making this up — "tap" it to answer calls, meaning you can now smack yourself in the side of the head before appearing to talk to yourself in a public place. Gotta love progress.

SNEAKER CUSTOMIZATION KIT

Not content to simply help you restore your shoes, JGoods is back with a package that lets you make them your own. The Sneaker Customization Kit ($45) includes five jars of waterproof leather paint, an empty mixing jar, a paintbrush, 20 preparation wipes, a canvas carrying case, and instructions – everything you need to take your favorite pair of kicks from boring to bodacious.

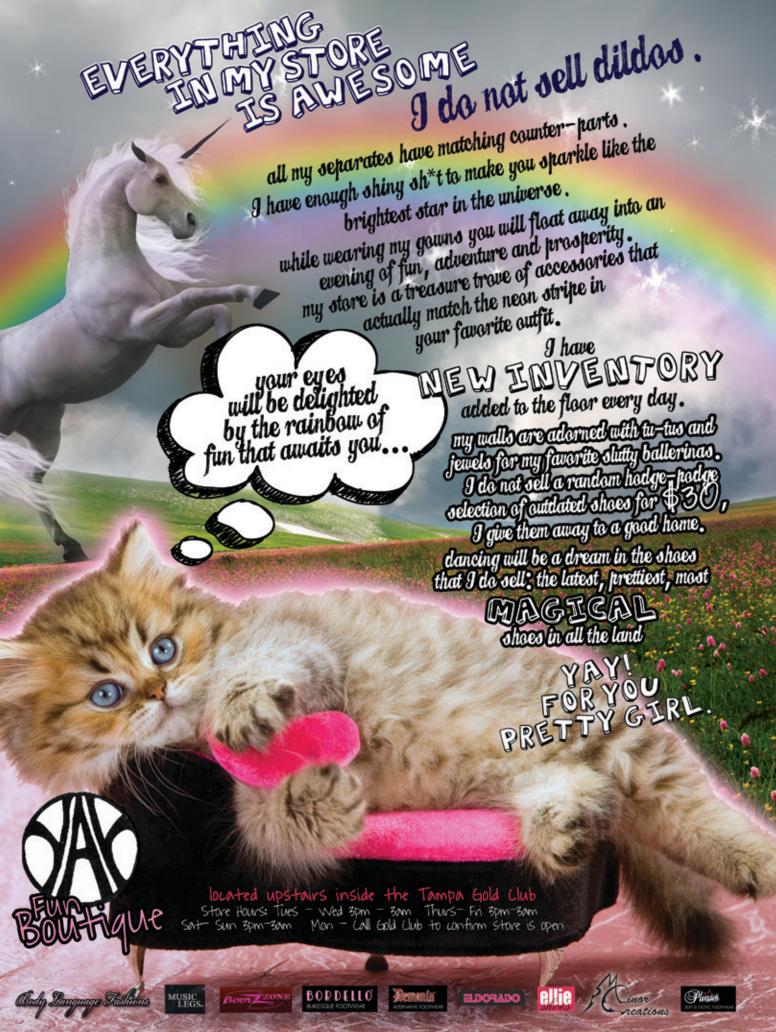

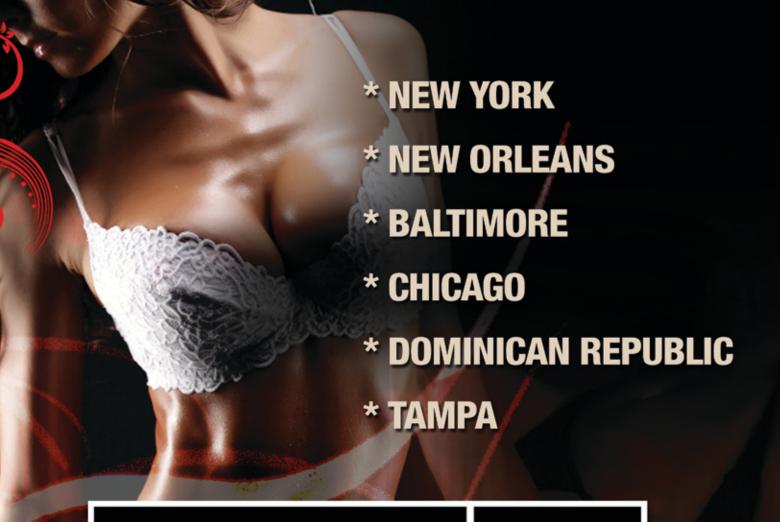

Good news fans of overly-complicated timepieces: the Urwerk UR-110 Watch ($TBA) might be the company's craziest yet. Its asymmetrical face sports three torpedo-like hour/minute modules, with the time displayed on the far right, planetary gearing, a dial side Control Board, an "Oil Change" service indicator, a day/night indicator, and two air turbines to minimize wear, all crammed inside an attention-grabbing titanium case.

JOYSTICK-IT

Not a fan of the virtual controls of your favorite touchscreen games? The Joystick-It ($25) can help. This crazy solid aluminum joystick attaches to the front of your device, plopping down right above the virtual joystick/d-pad to provide that tactile feel that's so maddeningly absent from all these newfangled "touchy" gizmos. Great for all sorts of games, though it's obviously best when paired with a game you actually used to play with a joystick.

VERIZON IPHONE 4

If you're a Verizon customer and have not-so-patiently waited for the iPhone, or you're an AT&T customer not-so-happy with your cell service, today's news will make you smile. It looks the same, and works pretty much the same, but the Verizon iPhone 4 ($200-$300) does have a few differences compared with the current iPhone. It's got a redesigned antenna to stop untimely dropped calls, can act as a mobile Hotspot for other Wi-Fi devices, but can't do the simultaneous voice/data stuff that you can do on AT&T (look up directions while somebody is on hold, for example). Other than that, it has all the magical features of the current one—iOS4, Retina display, FaceTime, 5 megapixel camera with LED flash, HD video recording, etc. Get yours on February 10.

VIZIO SMARTPHONE & TABLET

Some companies started with a core computer business and expanded into entertainment. Vizio is taking the opposite approach with its Vizio Smartphone & Tablet ($TBA). Officially called the VIA Phone and VIA Tablet—after the company's Internet Apps—these Android-based gadgets will both sport integrated IR blasters and a matching app for controlling the big screen, while 1GHz processors, 4-inch and 8-inch screens, HDMI outputs, GPS, 802.11n Wi-Fi, Micro SD card slots and Bluetooth connectivity round out the feature sets. Coming sometime between tomorrow and the end of humanity at the hands of Cthulhu.

BLACKBIRD LUCKY 13 GUITAR

Inspired by early 20th century 12th fret guitars, the Blackbird Lucky 13 Guitar ($1,800) packs full-size sound into a three-quarter sized body. This is made possible by the Lucky 13's hollow-neck carbon fiber construction and head mounted Stereo Sound Port, which combine to offer a fuller sound. Other features include a 3D sculpted back, a unique 13th fret neck connection that allows for greater fret access while retaining the tonally preferable bridge placement and a classic shape that mixes the new and old with class and style.

SONY HANDYCAM HDR-TD10 3D CAMCORDER

2010 was supposed to be the year of 3D. It didn't really take off, but that's not going to stop companies from trying again in 2011, with products like the Sony Handycam HDR-TD10 3D Camcorder ($1,500). Touting the ability to shoot full 1080p 3D video, the TD10 also sports an integrated dual Sony G lens system, two Exmor R CMOS sensors, two BIONZ image processors, 64GB of internal flash memory, Optical SteadyShot image stabilization, 10x optical zoom and a glasses-free 3.5-inch 3D LCD touchscreen.

MOTOROLA XOOM TABLET

The just-announced Motorola Xoom Tablet ($TBA) goes high end to compete with the iPad. Running Google's new Android 3.0 Honeycomb operating system and getting data from Verizon, the Xoom features a 10.1-inch widescreen HD display, dual-core processing, HDMI out, a front-facing 2-megapixel camera for video chats and a rear-facing 5-megapixel camera that captures video in 720p HD. It's also got a built-in gyroscope, barometer, e-compass, accelerometer and adaptive lighting. Plus, it's also a mobile hotspot, providing Wi-Fi access to up to five other devices.

HIGHLAND PARK 50 YEAR OLD

Normally single malt scotch comes in an understated bottle. That's definitely not the case with Highland Park 50 Year Old (£10,500; roughly $16,800) arrives inside a hand-carved oak box, with a Sterling silver porthole to tease at the unique handmade bottle inside, which itself is encased in an intricate weave of Sterling silver. Oh sure, the 44.8 percent alcohol whisky inside is extremely limited—only 275 bottles are being made—and it's part of five refill oak casks distilled in 1960, but if you're spending that much on booze, you probably don't even care.

▼ SAMSUNG HT-C9950 7.1 3D HOME THEATER SYSTEM

Display-worthy design meets brute audio force in the Samsung HT-C9950 7.1 3D Home Theater System ($1,800). This high-end HTIB system features a slim, silver media console with a slot-loading, 3D Blu-ray player, an included iPod dock, tall front and rear main speakers, stylish center and side speakers, a slimline bass module, a single HDMI output and 1400 Watts of total power, or more than enough to draw the ire of your downstairs neighbors.

When you're injured in an auto accident, many things will certainly change your life within seconds, leaving you injured and confused, which can be absolutely terrifying. You may be experiencing pain and feel that you're not able to work, but your bills need to be paid. Worst of all, an auto accident, particularly one that results in a permanent disability, robs you of your hope for that life and that future, leaving you certain that any tomorrows you face are going to be full of despair and encouraging you to give up on the effort to defend your legal rights. A very good auto accident attorney could keep your life on track following a vehicular accident. How? An auto accident attorney will be able to help you to defend your legal right to compensation following an accident that resulted in injury and receive a settlement, along with aiding you in receiving compensation for lost pay. F*akmy life

Funny, true stories, unless they happen to you.

My boyfriend cancelled our vacation plans because i'll be on my period, arguing that, "it wouldn't be a real holiday."

I went to get a tattoo. I decided on getting my four month old daughter's name tattooed on my upper arm. I went home to show my wife. She broke down and told me that i'm most likely not the father. It's a toss-up between her co-worker, the guy who does our lawn, several strangers and me.

My girlfriend and i were about to have sex for the first time. We are both virgins. After we kissed and i took down my pants, she screamed and said "that thing is going to break me." We never did it.

I was sitting on the bus when a good looking girl accidentally brushed her ass up against my shoulder as she walked past. This only made me realize that this has been the closest i've come to touching a girls ass in over a year.

I found some nude vintage pictures in my house. I decided to beat my meat to them. Later i found out it was my grandma.

I acted like i always do when i'm alone in my seemingly sound-proof apartment. I sang loudly, talked back to the tv, used my vibrator. Later, in the silence of the night, i heard my neighbor next door yawning.

I was having sex with my fiancé when he stopped and said, "boy, what i wouldn't give for a burger right now."

My boyfriend met my dad for the first time. The first thing my dad said to him was "so, how low have you kissed?"

I was walking down the street and i saw an old man, and me feeling nice, i asked him if i could help him cross the street. He responded with: "only if you let me touch your tits."

I tried to email my dad a picture of someone we knew that i'd found on the internet. He called me later to inform me that i had actually sent him a picture of myself in a naughty school girl outfit that i'd taken for my husband. My mom was laughing her ass off. I had a panic attack because my boyfriend thought it would be sexy to choke me in the middle of sex.

My boyfriend and i had sex. He decided to make gun sound effects as he came.

I found out that my wife was having sex with my friend. It turned out that my genius cat realized it wasn't me there and attacked his balls, severely cutting them. I now have to kill my cat and pay for his medical bills to sew his balls back.

My husband of 19 years took our children out for dinner, told them he's gay, then sent them home to tell me for him.

I got to listen to my younger brother have sex with a random girl while i sat in my room playing World of Warcraft on a Friday night.

While on a six hour flight, someone offered to pay me $20 to swap seats with them. It seemed like a great deal, so i immediately accepted and moved to my new seat. I didn't realize my new neighbor was an old man with a raging boner.

I was on a walk when i ran into the woman whose kids i babysit. We had a quick chat, and i noticed she had just blown her driveway clean. As i left, i said "you did a nice blow job!"

I lost my virginity to my boyfriend. He's been calling his penis "fun-sized" for a while now, but i didn't know he meant it really was the size of a fun-size candy bar. I'm pretty sure i'm still technically a virgin. F

It was my boyfriends last night visiting my family. My dog decided to go through the trash, then ran up to my dad with one of our used condoms caught on her teeth. My parents didn't even know we were sleeping in the same room. They know a lot more now.

My dad told me he had been seeing someone for a while and has decided to marry her. When i met her, her son looked familiar. I lost my virginity to him. I went down on my boyfriend while he was drunk, and he told me to get protection from his bedroom. I came back, he was passed out on the couch. His parents then came into the room after hearing noises. I was sitting there naked holding a condom while he was fast asleep.

I lost my virginity, i think. Does it still count if she left halfway through, laughing?

I put on a lacy dress with nothing underneath and walked nonchalantly into the living room. My husband took one look at me, let out a heavy sigh and said "right now?"

My boyfriend talked me into having drunk sex. Right after we started, my head hit a wall, knocking me out. I woke up to him taking pics of my tits.

While lying in bed with my fiancé, we were talking about how we'd rather die, if given a choice. I said, "i want to die in my sleep next to you." His response? "It'd be sexier if you were on top of me with your face between my legs." Cute, honey.

My boyfriend and i were about to take our first shower together. When he came into the room, he had swimming trunks on.

I met my father for the first time since i was a baby. The first comment out of his mouth was, "i bet all the boys love those motherf*cking bazongas, don't they?" Hi, dad.

My boyfriend asked me to 'spice things up in the bedroom.' When i asked how, he said i could try wearing a paper bag over my head.

My girlfriend told me the reason she asked me to shave my beard. When i go down on her shaved, it feels more like her ex-boyfriend.

My boyfriend and i were in our room getting hot and heavy. As he was entering me, he started making electronic whirring sounds. Once inside, he said in a robotic voice, "initiating launch sequence in 3... 2... 1..." And began thrusting as fast as possible.

ERS DUCONCEPT

Those of you who had the stomach to sit through Terminator Salvation with your eyes open will remember the mototerminators that launched themselves from the legs of the giant collectors. Those were actually based on Ducatis, but if you fancied the look of them, then Italian bike builder CR&S has something pretty close.

Called the DUU Concept, the naked ride is a combination of "a sporty European rolling chassis powered by a muscular American big-twin." The engine is a 1.9-liter (117 cu. in.) X-Wedge supplied by S&S. Wrapped around that powerplant is a chassis that CR&S says can be tailored by the customer – although they don't indicate how beyond presenting the choice of single or two-seater versions.

But since each DUU will be made by hand, one-at-a-time, we imagine they'll be happy to do anything your wallet will allow. The DUU Concept is being unveiled November 10 at the Milan International Bike Show. CR&S said it has plans to build them from next year, at $\textstyle 20,000 ($30,000 U.S.) apiece

ON THE BEACH, HOW DO I PICK UP WOMEN?

With a six-pack of Corona and a puppy. Don't have those? No problem – the beach is the easiest place to find an interested woman. Just set up a game of bocce or volleyball, or start building a serious sand castle. (Skip Frisbee; you'd be too far apart to actually talk.) Then watch for sunbathing babes and invite any who peek at you over their shades.

WHAT'S THE BEST WAY TO ASK OUT A COMPLETE STRANGER?

I advise single guys to keep a cool event in the back of their mind at all times. Maybe it's the Friday night open mike at a great bar, an afterwork rock-climbing clinic at the gym, or a Sunday kickball game in the park. When you see a cute girl, chat her up for a few minutes and say, "Hey, my friends and I are trying to get more people to go to this thing. You should check it out." If she's single and looking to meet someone, she'll show up with her friends and come looking for you.

MY SEXUALLY REPRESSED WIFE CAN'T EVEN SAY "SEX" WITHOUT WHISPERING. HOW CAN I HELP HER OPEN UP?

She may need therapy to accept that sex can be a wholesome and glorious thing. But here's what you can do: Draw her out of her shell by talking about sex more, not less. Wax on about what you love about being with her naked. Just use vocabulary she's comfortable with ("breasts" not "tits," "make love" not "screw"). Every positive thing you say about sex will undo some of the negativity she's been brainwashed to feel her whole life.

HOW DO WOMEN LIKE THEIR BREASTS TOUCHED IN BED?

Guys tend to be too rough with their hands and too sparing with their tongues. Our delicate nipples can only take so much friction before they start feeling raw. Instead of being grabby, spiral feather-light fingertips around them. Instead of clamping your lips down and turning on the suction, brush them softly with your mouth. But do go ahead and lick them every which way you can think of. As for the breast as a whole, you can be a bit more aggressive: We like it when you cup, squeeze, and even jiggle our jugs once the action gets going. Pinching and pulling? Some girls love a little of that stuff in the heat of the moment, but proceed with caution.

WHEN CAN I SEND A TEXT? WHEN SHOULD I CALL?

Texting is a perfectly acceptable medium for mindless flirting ("ur such a qt"), logistical updates ("w8 4 me"), and quick inquiries ("u like Thai?"). For conversations that require more than a single back and forth, please pick up the phone—there's too much room for misinterpretation and confusion when you're trying to communicate in 20 characters or less. Texting is also a no-no if you're canceling plans, apologizing or delivering news you know she won't be happy with ("btw: going 2 Vegas 2nite"). When in doubt, dial.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN WHEN A WOMAN BRUSHES HER BREASTS AGAINST ME?

Nine times out of 10, not what you hope. We involuntarily graze people on a weekly basis. But we also know guys love the sensation of contact with a pair of globes. So on occasion, we'll be a bit clumsy, on purpose, with our twin peaks. And it almost always scores us more attention and the power-trippy thrill of being able to trigger male desire with a single, seemingly innocent move.

» 2011 Porsche 918 RSR Concept

Stuttgart. Dr. Ing. h.c. F. Porsche AG, Stuttgart, is continuing to extend its performance and high efficiency competence via intensive development work in the field of hybrid technology. With the Porsche 918 RSR, the manufacturer of sporty premium vehicles is presenting a high-end synthesis of 2010's successful hybrid concepts. The two-seater mid-engine coupé 918 RSR clearly reveals what happens when the technology fitted in the 911 GT3 R hybrid and the design of the 918 Spyder are transferred to a modern, innovative super sports car.

With its highly-efficient flywheel accumulator, the 911 GT3 R hybrid racing car proved to be an attention magnet during competition racing on the Nürburgring Nordschleife circuit, during the American Le Mans Series races (ALMS) in Road Atlanta/USA and the ILMC run in China's Zhuhai. It demonstrated its massive performance potential under realistic motor racing conditions against top competitors. The 911 GT3 R Hybrid, referred to internally as the "Race Lab" actually surpassed the high expectations of Porsche Motorsport. Competitiveness, high reliability and exemplary fuel efficiency combined with top performance underscored the Porsche technicians' basic idea of generating additional power in an intelligent manner. The 911 GT3 R Hybrid obtains its additional power from its own vehicle dynamics when braking. Porsche is now transplanting this technology into the mid-engine coupé 918 RSR, the motor sports version of the 918 Spyder concept car.

From the tradition established by classic Porsche long-distance race cars such as the 908 long-tale coupé (1969) and the 917 short-tail coupé (1971), the Porsche designers created a link to the postmodernism of the "form follows function" philosophy. In the 918 RSR, the lines' elegant flow is dominated by muscular wheel arches, dynamic air intakes and a pulpit-like cockpit. A visible fan wheel between the ram air intake tubes and a rear spoiler with RS Spyder dimensions additionally emphasise the racing laboratory function. The new "liquid metal chrome blue" colour which has been created underscores the sculptured curves of the forms, whilst the typical Porsche hybrid orange colour on brake calipers and the body's longitudinal stripes lends remarkable touches.

Motor racing technology also dominates within the particularly light, torsionally stiff carbon fibre-reinforced plastic (CFRP) monocoque. The V8 engine is a further development of the direct injection engine from the successful RS Spyder race car and now offers an output of precisely 563 hp at 10,300/rpm in the 918 RSR. The electric motors on the two front wheels each contribute 75 kW, i.e. a total of 150 kW, to the peak drive power of exactly 767 hp. This additional power, which is generated during braking, is stored in an optimised flywheel accumulator.

2011 DODGE CHALLENGER R/T

A collaboration between Ariel and Mugen, the latest version of the original 'no screen, no roof, no doors' Atom celebrates 10 years of production and 1000 Atoms manufactured. Made in a Limited Edition of just 10 cars for each of the 10 years, each signed and numbered, the Atom Mugen has a special livery of red chassis, white bodywork and red graphics showing the number of the car to reflect the unique union of Ariel, Mugen and Honda. Featuring a tuned Mugen Honda engine and a high level specification, plus the opportunity to further option the car, this latest Atom gives further choice to the driver looking for the ultimate, normally aspirated trackday car.

Mugen (meaning unlimited in Japanese) engines have famously powered hundreds of race and championship winners, including Formula 1, since 1973 when Hirotoshi Honda, son of Soichiro Honda, founded the company. Basing their work almost exclusively around Honda powerplants, Mugen was an obvious partner for Ariel who have used the Honda Type R engine in the Atom for over 7 years. Working closely together on the project Ariel and Mugen found many similarities in their approach to the project, resulting in a hand built engine in a truly handbuilt car.

Heart of the Atom Mugen is the Honda K20Z Type R engine, which is tuned by Mugen to produce 270bhp at 8600rpm in normally aspirated form. Each Atom Mugen engine is stripped, measured and fully blueprinted at Mugen Europe's Northampton headquarters. The engines are reassembled with high performance, higher compression pistons, high lift camshafts and new valve springs. A longer freeflow inlet manifold is fitted with a bigger diameter throttle body together with race grade spark plugs. The engine also features a full baffled sump and is finished with a carbon fibre Mugen cover. After assembly each engine is tested on the Mugen dynamometer and carefully run in prior to full power test. After 7 days of work on every engine they are bore scoped and inspected prior to sign off. A lightened balanced flywheel is fitted together with a limited slip differential to the close ratio Honda 6 speed gearbox prior to installation in the Atom.

EDO COMPETITION PORSCHE PANAMERA TURBO MOBY DICK

A Panamera Turbo doesn't distinguish itself as the most understated looking vehicle on the road, but edo competition takes it a step further still.

So far the specialist company from Ahlen in Westphalia has mainly had sports cars from manufacturers such as Aston Martin, Bentley, Ferrari, Lamborghini and Porsche in its order books, but now edo competition has taken on a four-door sedan from Porsche, and completed a customization project incorporating numerous upgrades.

An important visual ingredient is the aerodynamics package from Mansory, which was installed on customer request. The new rear valance provides a lot of room for the high performance exhaust system developed by edo competition, featuring four large stainless steel exhaust tips and butterfly valves.

The edo electronic lowering module offers precise handling and improved vehicle dynamics. The new 22 inch wheels do their part to enhance the Panamera's athletic appearance. If desired, the wheels can be custom painted to match the exterior of the vehicle or to provide a contrast.

It's not that a stock Panamera Turbo is short on power, but if a customer asks for an extra helping, edo competition is more than happy to accommodate these wishes and come up with a professional solution.

REAL OR FAKE?

hile every guy thinks that they can tell right off the bat, it can sometimes be difficult to tell whether a woman has real or fake breasts. To avoid the burning curiosity and the embarrassment of staring all night, you can rely on these few tips to differentiate between the two.

The shape of the breast can be a dead give away as to whether or not a woman is sporting silicone. Natural breasts are never identical, and aren't perfectly round. The way the breasts react to movement can also reveal the truth, as natural ones will flatten out when she reaches, and will fall when she bends over. If it's obvious that the woman in question isn't wearing a bra and has perfectly perky C cups, then it's a no brainer. Fake boobs tend to look bubbled up, defying gravity, and are often too high up on the chest, whereas real sit at about armpit height. Another sign is whether the breasts sit too far apart on the woman. This happens when the doctor fails to scrape the pectoral tendons to make the implants look more natural. You can also sometimes tell right through the clothing whether the nipples are sitting correctly, as surgeons can place them too high, too low or not in the natural direction that they should be.

Some other factors to detecting fake boobs include them being overly firm, if stretch marks are present or if the woman's body is disproportional to the size of her chest. Real breasts jiggle because they are mostly fat, while fakes tend to look more like a firm muscle or balloons ready to pop. As a woman matures and grows, the skin generally has time to stretch and acclimate to the natural progression of growing breasts, but a surgery where the skin has been artificially stretched can lead to stretch marks. But keep in mind that this isn't always the case, as women can accumulate stretch marks through rapid weight gain and loss. Another way you can tell is to examine the rest of her body and compare it to the size that her breasts should be, opposed to the size that they are. Although it is rare to find a woman with a petite body and a naturally heavy upper section, it does exist. A good way to differentiate is to again, notice how the breasts react to her movement. If she waves or reaches over to grab a drink and her chest doesn't move, they're fake.

While all these factors should be clear indicators, there is a deterrent that girls have thrown in to the mix—the padded bra. This enhances the size of her chest and it fights gravity, as it can push the girls all the way up into her chin. You can detect a padded bra, however, by noticing how the breast fills the bra—real boobs tend to flow over the cup and create a bump where you can see that it is fatty and soft.

Now that you're prepared to determine whether or not a woman has real or fake breasts, and you can impress your buds with your newfound insight. Next time you go out, you won't have to stand around gossiping with the guys as to your best guess—you'll be in the know. And instead of staring at the girl's chest all night, go up to her, use your best pick up line and head things in the direction that will confirm whether or not your use of our guidelines was on point.

RIDIN' SOLO ON V-DAY

Of course there's nothing better than being in love and spending Valentine's Day with the girl of your dreams, but for some of us, that just isn't happening—this year anyway. And while your friends are scrambling, trying to come up with that perfect gift idea, you might just be wishing you had someone to be fussing over, too. Spending Valentine's Day alone isn't tough for just women; men also feel the pangs of surviving this love-drunk day as well.

Having a good time on Valentine's Day doesn't have to be out of the question, despite the lack of a giant heart-shaped box of chocolates in your life. Avoid calling the ex-girlfriend in an attempt to rekindle your long-lost romance. It didn't work then, and it surely won't work now just because you gave her roses and took her to an over priced dinner in a fancy restaurant. If anything, it will only amplify your differences when you're surrounded by happy, loving, committed couples.

Treating yourself to something indulgent is a great way to spend Valentine's Day if you're alone. Pamper yourself by getting a message, a haircut or a pedicure, or invite your single buddies out to dinner. Splurge and buy yourself that new 3D TV you've been eyeing, or go window-shopping for a new watch. You'll probably end up spending less than you would have, had you thrown down some cash on a gift for a girl.

Another way to spend this couples-only day is to throw you and your single friends a party. You can invite just your close single friends and have a low-key night, or flyer your community, workplace and gym to have an all-out singles mixer. Music, food and booze never fall short of distracting you from what could otherwise be a depressing night. On the other hand, if you're invited to a party on Valentine's Day, go. There is no rule that says you can't go out and be social if you're solo.

Spending time at home after a hard day's work and just doing your own thing can be a great way to spend the day, too. Get your favorite meal to go from your favorite restaurant, rent a movie and just relax. If you don't want to be alone, invite a friend over if you think you'll start to feel lonely or down. The idea is to indulge yourself, and hey, maybe that means vegging out on the couch with some wings while watching that chick-flick you've been too embarrassed to watch with the guys.

Getting your similarly single friends together to go out shouldn't take too much convincing. Start the night with a poker game at home, then grab some drinks and shoot some pool at the local sports bar. And if you're craving the presence of women, avoid the dance clubs that'll be filled with single chicks who may otherwise be completely sane—tonight they'll be emotionally needy with increased chances of a drunken emotional break down. Maybe, instead, look into a pit stop at the strip club to round out your night with the guys.

Spending time with your best single bud is a great way to spend the day, even if it happens to be a female. The prospect of spending such a romantic night together may lead to a closer relationship, and maybe something a little more intimate than you've shared thus far. Make sure you are prepared for this scenario before you even begin the date and weigh out whether or not it would be a good idea to push your friendship in that direction. Letting things go at its natural progression can feel great, but alcohol can sway those feelings in a way that isn't always best. Believe it or not, there are actually plenty of cons to having a casual sexual relationship between friends.

Although this particular day puts a spotlight on the current status of our love (or lack of love) life, Valentine's Day is really no different than any other day. Plan February 14th to be a day for you, and surround yourself with friends. And let's not forget that today is really a testament to the joys of being single, with no stuffy dinners to plan, jewelry to be bought or expectations to be fulfilled in general. With good friends, cold beer and enough fatty food to go around, Valentine's Day is no better day to revel in the perks that come along with your continued bachelor lifestyle.

ith all the endless forms of communication out there, few can do as much for us as sweet-talk. Mastering sweet-talk is a skill that can, and should be learned, as it can improve your life in many aspects with little effort.

The first step in the right direction of learning how to sweet-talk, is remembering to show respect. Giving someone your undivided attention goes a long way. Keeping eye contact and your shoulders shifted in their direction shows that you're fully engaged in them and what they have to say. The result of this is that the one in which you are engaging will, in turn, take you seriously because you've shown that you are smart enough to listen, and subsequently care what they are saying.

Putting others in the right frame of mind and stroking their ego is key to the art of persuasion. Telling jokes, smiling and, of course, adding alcohol can aide in putting your target at ease. Remember to be affable and make your jokes appropriate for the audience. As far as flattery goes, it will get you everywhere. Be it a woman, mention how graceful she is, and men love to hear how smart they are. Be sure to keep your compliments tailored and don't go over board to retain sincerity. If you aren't comfortable doing this, allow them the time to talk about themselves and bring up something they can brag about. This way, you can be sincerely interested and make comments to boost their ego without looking like a suck up.

Reminding the person you look to sweet-talk just how much you've done for them in the past can be very effective. Make sure you are subtle when you do this, as you don't want to sound like you're complaining. Anyone with a conscious will realize that one good deed deserves another and should respond favorably.

Charming your target is a sure-fire way to get what you're looking for, but being charming isn't exactly a science. Having a quiet confidence, being affable, happy, witty, playful and warm all increase charm. Staying upbeat and on topics that they are excited about can make the connection that you're looking for, which is leverage in achieving your goals.

Simply thinking before you speak can significantly change your life. Taking the time to compose your thoughts will not only keep you from having to regret your words, but it can actually give you the ability to sound much more profound and articulate. The people around you will take notice and start to listen more closely, gaining you the respect and notoriety needed to get you where you're looking to go.

An important aspect of learning how to sweet-talk is to keep your motivations to yourself. Make sure people feel like you are being genuine when you speak, that you listen when they do, and that you make them feel special because they are. Showing that you are driven and showing initiative can aide you in reaching your goals, but don't show them that they may just be a pawn in achieving those goals.

This behavior continues despite PETA's moralizing about the "unethical" treatment of animals by farmers, scientists, restaurant owners, circuses, hunters, fishermen, zookeepers and countless other Americans. PETA puts to death over 90 percent of the animals it accepts from members of the public who expect the group to make a reasonable attempt to find them adoptive homes. PETA holds absolutely no open-adoption shelter hours at its Norfolk, VA headquarters, choosing instead to spend part of its $32 million annual income on a contract with a crematory service to periodically empty hundreds of animal bodies from its large walk-in freezer.

CAPRICORN: DECEMBER 22- JAN 19

You may feel overly dependent on loved ones at this time. The emotional support and nurturing you receive in your domestic or romantic life may be fraught with disappointment and victimization. Necessary adjustments will include a need to focus on realistic perceptions of loved ones and their abilities to adequately alleviate your emotional neediness. Lack of compassion, dissipated energy, and weakened intuition interfere with your ability to help and heal others. This is a time when insensitivity prevails in the home and there is confusion over who is to provide the security and care in order for the family unit to operate functionally. Children may appear aloof and evasive, experience mood swings, or act irresponsibly toward their duties.

AQUARIUS: JAN 20- FEB 18

There may be an abundance of love, faith and trust in your marriage or close intimate partnership at this time. If there are any improvements you want to make in your relationship, this would be an opportune time to do so. At this time, you will have more insight into the spiritual or religious attitudes and values in your relationship. There can be a desire to travel or enjoy outdoor activities with your mate. You may spend a great deal of time thinking about the future possibilities of being together and reflecting on all the big dreams and plans for tomorrow. If you have been discussing marriage with your partner, this period can signify the time when a legal commitment is entered into. Or if you are separated from your mate, this can be a favorable time to work on reconciling your differences.

PISCES: FEBRUARY 19- MARCH 20

Speculation, optimism, restlessness, and perhaps downright foolhardiness are key issues now. Everyday life seems drab and dreary to you now, and you explore bigger, more exciting, more exotic alternatives. This is an excellent time to travel or go on vacation. You need to spread your wings. If you stay indoors, you will feel confined and cooped up. Chores and details irk you now, and you are likely to become very sloppy. You procrastinate when it comes to doing chores and it is likely that your home is less tidy and the dishes don't get washed right after dinner. Be very careful when doing any detail work of importance now because your mind tends to wander from the issues directly at hand, causing inadvertent mistakes and errors.

ARIES: MARCH 21-APRIL 20

A great amount of understanding is required now in your marriage or close love relationship. Discussions are not as congenial and are apt to be filled with misunderstandings. Either you or your partner may feel nervous and insecure when an emotional or verbal connection is attempted. There is a tendency to quickly shift from one topic to another in your daily communicating, leading both of you to misinterpret what is being said. If the tension and oversensitivity builds up in the relationship, than a true exchange of feelings will seem impossible. Try to increase your intellectual affinity with your partner through patience, courtesy and friendliness.

TAURUS: APRIL 21-MAY 20

Opportunities that benefit your career and public life will present themselves, as long as you remain clear-headed about what your goals and directions are. If you are aware of what you want to accomplish, you may reap the benefits and success of your achievements. This is a favorable period for making intelligent decisions regarding your career and creative planning. You have a natural ability to grasp knowledge and learn from your work environment. Family members and intimate relationships may support your efforts to accomplish your desired goals.

GEMINI: MAY 21-JUNE 21

You strive to put forth your best performance in work and business activities at this time. Current job priorities may occupy all of your energy, yet you remained focused on what needs to be done. A certain degree of visibility is very flattering to you now, and chances are that higher ups are interested in your achievements. Your desire for more responsibility or prestige in your career is backed up with hard work and dedication. Your supervisory skills are excellent now and you can effectively direct others to help you accomplish your goals. Even though work is in high gear, try to spend some quality time with loved ones and family members who also need your attention.

CANCER: JUNE 22- JULY 22

You may project your enthusiasm on work and career goals at this time. You could feel an eagerness to reach top performance in working toward any personal goals or business assignments that you are dedicated to carrying out. If you are gainfully employed, you can effectively sharpen your intellectual skills, as well as bring out your inner creativity in all of your work endeavors and tasks. In your domestic life, the spotlight is on promoting your own self-interests, amusements and pleasures. However, the hard work and commitment you are applying toward your job requirements may take precedence over any leisure activities you would enjoy with your mate or family at the moment.

LEO: JULY 23- AUGUST 23

Your feelings of love may be somewhat reserved, modest, and unobtrusive at this time. Differences may develop over personal plans or financial affairs in a close association or romantic relationship. You might have to work extra hard when playing the role of peacekeeper or negotiator in solving problems with a lover, mate, or friend. It may help to relieve existing tension by discussing things on a less emotional level. At this time, you may feel that you do not have a clear understanding of where you stand with a partner or lover on important issues, such as financial, commitment, or security needs in the relationship. This can also be a difficult period for furthering creative plans and ventures. Close associates are not likely to be cooperative or you sense that your talents and abilities are going unnoticed.

VIRGO: AUGUST 23-SEPTEMBER 23

Fortunate experiences and displays of generosity are in abundance. General good fortune and successful financial gains are obtained through expanding your creative or career goals. Your personal needs and caretaking abilities are in tune with your loved ones, and great strides can be made in fulfilling family needs. This is a time when legal affairs should prove to be beneficial, and there is a possibility of an inheritance or of receiving much needed financial assistance at this time. The sharing of household responsibilities and nurturing needs are cooperative and easily handled. Health matters may improve under this astrological influence. Benefits may also come through your involvement with children, or a desire to expand your family unit could be felt at this

LIBRA: SEPTEMBER 23 - OCTOBER 23

Unavoidable changes and intense conflicts can occur in your closest and cherished relationships. Family members and loved ones display compulsive emotional needs and desires, and you may be coerced or persuaded into fulfilling their demands. Or unconscious motivations, stemming from past experiences, might arise, leading you to cling to your mate, children, or parents in an unhealthy or destructive manner. It will be difficult to let go of emotional attachments at this moment, although power struggles with others may force you to confront and deal with this issue. You must learn to re-examine and release your possessive tendencies and concentrate on becoming more sympathetic and compassionate toward the people in your care and concern.

SCORPIO: OCTOBER 23- NOVEMBER 21

You can feel very restless and bored with your current routines and daily responsibilities during this period. Your ideas and creative insights may be unrealistic or off the beaten path which causes disruptions and adjustments in your work, friendships or social liaisons. For example, you may suddenly decide your old, outworn friendships or group associations impose upon your freedom; therefore, you either modify or release yourself from these relationships. Or you may envision new changes in your current job situation, which are unsettling and disturbing to others. Whatever happens now will be unexpected, and therefore the decisions that you make must be well thought out before you act upon them.

SAGITTARIUS: NOVEMBER 23 - DEC 21

This period can bring cordial and amicable relations with the people in your daily environment. You may be in agreement with others on basic issues and enjoy friendly discussions and lively conversations. Take advantage of an opportunity to network with people on a similar interest, hobby, or creative or business endeavor. A close friend or family member may give you advice, which could be worth listening to at this time. Your own intuition should not be ignored, as following your instincts might be able to open some new doors as well. You feel quite amorous and affectionate now and will very much want to share this time with someone you love or at least with congenial company. Your creative or artistic inclinations are also stimulated, and your work in these areas will be especially satisfying and successful at this time.

SLEEP BETTER

If you have trouble sealing the deal in the sleep department, don't worry, you're not alone. Nearly two-thirds of the world has a hiccup in their sleeping schedule at least one night a week. But with a little planning and effort, you can make counting sheep a thing of the past.

The number one reason that people have problems sleeping is because of stress. Sleeping requires your mind to relax, which requires muting your inner dialogue. Quieting your mind can be as simple as listening to calming music, lighting candles, and slowly breathing in and out, visualizing something pleasant and ignoring the anxieties and stressors of your day.

Keeping to a sleeping schedule every night can help your body get into a routine. Try to keep it up even on weekends, so you get used to the notion, and your body anticipates rest. Sleeping in on your days off usually means you'll have an off balance by Sunday night, making your Monday that much less bearable. Studies have shown that if you get the same amount of hours of sleep, but start the cycle earlier in the evening, your body feels more rested. Try sleeping from 10 p.m. until 6 a.m. instead of midnight until 8 a.m., and you just may find yourself feeling more rejuvenated.

There is a time in which you sleep where your body regenerates the immune system and refreshes its cells. Working out can increase the amount of time your body spends in this stage, which can do wonders for your overall health and attitude. Just remember to put those dumb bells down a few hours before you hit the sack, as your work out can leave you too amped up to relax. Consider taking a hot bath two hours before bed, which will raise your body temperature, and as it decreases over time, you will feel more relaxed.

A lot of people underestimate the power of caffeine, nicotine and alcohol when it comes to altering your sleep schedule. Six hours before bedtime go ahead and switch the coffee over to decaf, so your body has time to release the stimulants you've consumed. The same is true for cigarettes and alcohol, and although most people feel that these toxins tend to relax them, after the effects wear off it leaves the body much more restless.

Although ingesting a large meal can make you feel heavy and tired, it actually isn't helpful in terms of sleeping. Because the body is digesting, it's working very hard and cannot relax, leaving your mind tired, but your body restless. It is a good thing to hold off from eating a few hours before bedtime, but don't go to bed with your stomach growling—it's hard to fall asleep when your insides are calling out to you. Having a carbohydrate-rich snack before hitting the sheets is ideal because these foods produce higher levels of serotonin in the brain, which is known to result in better quality sleep.

Editing the actual space in which you attempt to rest can also help you achieve better sleep. Of course upgrading to your ideal level of support will be beneficial, but also consider increasing the size of the mattress you've been tossing and turning in, especially if you're sharing. The ideal size for a couple ranges between a queen- or king-size mattress.

Reserving the bed for only sleep and sex can help combat sleeplessness. Over time, you will associate your bed with nothing else, and the mere sight of it can put you in relax mode. Avoid watching TV, reading and especially working from bed—after all, that's what your home office is for.

Keeping the room cold, dark and quiet is another way to increase your quality of sleep. Setting the temperature anywhere from 60° to 65° F is ideal, especially if you have someone to snuggle up to. A good tip is to layer your blankets so you can adjust throughout the night. Invest in come earplugs if you live in a noisy city or sleep in the vicinity of a snorer. And a far as darkness goes, it's proven to produce melatonin, which is a hormone that is released by the pineal glands. In order to combat the light of that pesky star from creeping in and ruining your REM cycle, invest in some blackout curtains or a sleep mask.
