

EDITORIAL

This number completes Volume 3 of Glycoconjugate Journal as we move into 1987.

We are very pleased that Glycoconjugate Journal is covered by a number of Information Services, which is a very important part of the dissemination of information published in our pages. However, as is the case with many new journals, such coverage is not a divine right, but must be earned. It was not possible, for example, to obtain coverage in Current Contents® until the beginning of Volume 3. Consequently, the annual cumulative subject and author indexes for Volume 3 published in this issue are accompanied by similar indexes from Volumes 1 and 2. It is hoped that this will help the spreading of information published in earlier volumes.
