Illustrated Synopses for Articles and Notes

The recently adopted practice of publishing a brief synopsis of each Communication on the Table of Contents page of the corresponding issue of Inorganic Chemistry has been very favorably received. We now wish to extend this practice to the publication of Articles and Notes, as well. Consequently, manuscripts that fall into these categories should be accompanied by an illustrated synopsis when submitted beginning July 1, 1993. Authors should consult recent issues of the journal for examples of appropriate published synopses that were prepared to describe Communications. The publication of synopses accompanying Articles and Notes will begin as soon as a majority of these papers are submitted in the new format.
