

FORTHCOMING REGULAR ARTICLES

The predictive power of SIMION/SDS simulation software for modeling ion mobility spectrometry instruments

H. Lai, T.R. McJunkin, C.J. Miller, J.R. Scott and J.R. Almirall (USA)

Development of a reflectron time-of-flight mass spectrometer for non-destructive analysis of isotope ratios in irradiated B₄C pellets—Test measurements on an unirradiated control rod pellet

P. Manoravi, M. Joseph and N. Sivakumar (India)

Characterization and optimization of membrane inlets for a miniature ion trap mass spectrometer operating at a high background pressure of humid air

C. Janfelt, R. Graeboll and F.R. Lauritsen (Denmark)

Application of high-resolution electrospray mass spectrometry for the elucidation of the disproportionation reaction of iodobenzene diacetate

L.F. Silva Jr., R.S. Vasconcelosa and N.P. Lopes (Brazil)

On the intrinsic stability of the isolated dichromate dianion: Collision activated dissociation of a multiply charged anion via electron detachment

C. J. Taylor, B. Wu and C.E.H. Dessent (UK)

Investigations of electron attachment to the perfluorocarbon molecules c-C₄F₈, 2-C₄F₈, 1,3 C₄F₆, and c-C₅F₈

S. Feil, T.D. Märka, A. Maurachera, P. Scheiera and C.A. Mayhew (Austria, UK)