

TO PROFESSOR THOMAS J. HANRATTY
ON THE OCCASION OF HIS 65th BIRTHDAY

Professor Hanratty has been an Associate Editor of this journal since May 1988, and a contributor to the journal for many years. His scholarly manner and meticulous editing have gained him the respect both of the authors and the Editor. On this occasion, his 65th birthday, I know that his many students and associates join me in wishing him continued success in the field of multiphase science.
