

Man Sang Group

“Face the world’s challenges

Optimise the strengths of Man Sang”

Cheng Chung Hing, Ricky
Chairman

The foundation of Man Sang was laid in early 1980's. With over 25 years of professional experience in the industry, it has established a sizeable customer base over 50 countries and regions, which includes jewellery manufacturers, wholesale distributors and department store merchandisers worldwide.

Man Sang is engaged in the purchasing, processing, designing, assembling, export and wholesale distribution of quality South Sea pearls, Tahitian pearls, Chinese freshwater pearls, assembled pearl jewellery and other fine jewellery products.

Man Sang houses its processing facilities in its own industrial estate in Shenzhen, China, known as Man Sang Industrial City. There are altogether 27 blocks of completed buildings with a gross floor area of approximately 80,000 m². The Man Sang Group at present utilizes 9 blocks for its own use on pearl processing and jewellery manufacturing, administration and staff accommodation, while the rest are held for leasing purpose to the third parties.

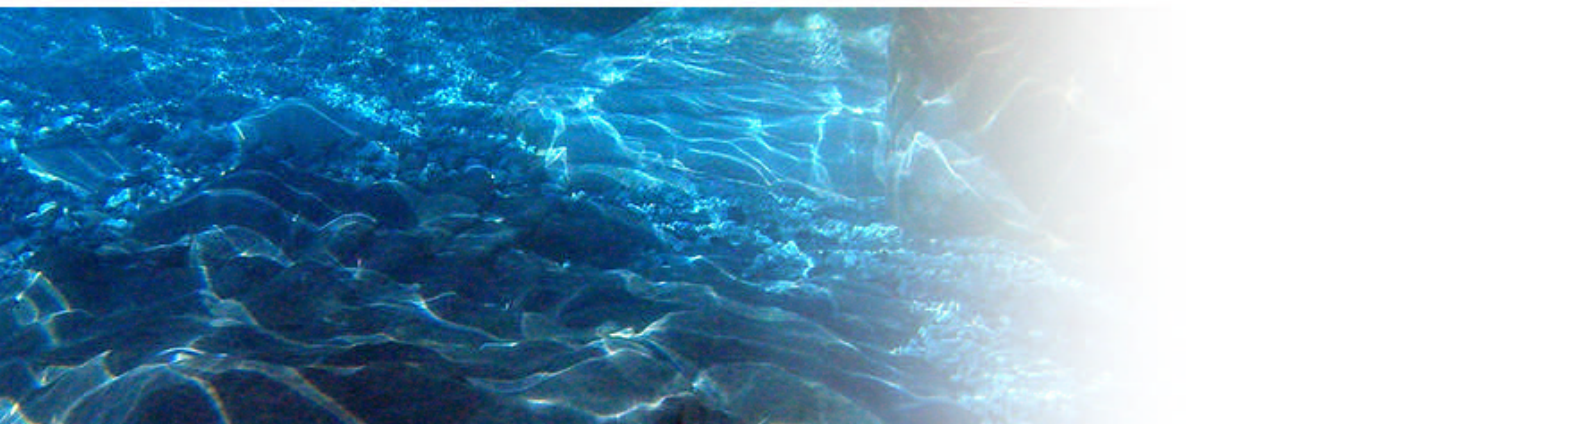

Technology and advanced processing techniques are constantly improved and upgraded by Man Sang to bring out best qualities of a pearl.

Man Sang's subsidiaries in Shenzhen have come first among their counterparts in the pearl industry to be accredited by DNV (Det Norske Veritas Quality Assurance Limited) with a Management System Certification of ISO 9002 in 1999 and were upgraded to ISO 9001 in 2000. This is evident that they operate to a quality system standard well-recognized worldwide.

In January 2006, Man Sang was honored with "The China Jewellery Manufacturers Brand Award" by the pearl jewellery division of the Jewelry and Precious Metals Industry of All-China Federation of Industry and Commerce. This again proves the excellent quality and product design of Man Sang.

Man Sang employs more than 1,000 skilled workers for its production lines, with an annual production capacity of the Group can reach 1,500,000 pieces of jewellery.

They are produced by the largest oyster shell, the silver-lipped and gold-lipped Pinctada Maxima. This area is predominantly in the Indian Ocean around Northern Australia, Southern Indonesia and the Southern Philippines.*

Tahitian pearls are found in a bivalve mollusk called the black-lipped oyster (Pinctada margaritifera) that is native to French Polynesia. Tahitian Pearls are highly valued due to their rarity. They are very sensitive to the climate change and the ocean conditions also the bad condition of the culturing process, rejection of the nucleus which causes the harvest in low percentage.*
