FORMULATORS CUT COSTS PER UNIT TOXICANT

Manufacturers of granular insecticide and herbicide formulations report that the low bulk density of vermiculite allows the formulation of much higher concentrates. These give greater coverage in the field than heavier granules can provide.

Formulators report; "We gain an economic advantage with vermiculite. We not only achieve higher concentration, and greater stability with organic phosphates, but we save on formulation, shipping and packaging."

The Terra-Lite laboratory and plant facilities are available to help you work out new formulae, increase unit toxicant production capacity, and cut your unit costs. Use the coupon, get FREE working samples and complete data.
