

FOREWORD

The late Géza Freud exercised profound influence on many of the authors and readers of this Journal. Volumes 46, 48, and 50 will be dedicated to his memory.

I am grateful to Professor Paul Nevai for organizing these memorial volumes and undertaking the various related tasks. I also join him in deep thanks to the mathematicians listed in his Preface.

May these memorial volumes transmit to the readership of this Journal some of the enthusiasm and devotion of Géza Freud to mathematical research.
