New On-Line Manuscript Submission for the Journal of Fluorescence Using the Editorial Manager System

The Journal of Fluorescence is pleased to announce the launch of its new electronic manuscript submission and tracking system. <http://www.kluweronline.com/issn/1053-0509/> JoF Website with Link http://jofl.edmgr.com/Editorial Manager System.

The system went live at the beginning of May 2004, and since that time, we have had a notable amount of manuscripts/articles submitted via this route. The Journal will still be taking hard copy manuscript submissions to the same address, but we have suspended the submission of manuscripts by using e-mail attachments.

The New Editorial Manager System is fast, efficient and provides step-by-step instructions on how to submit your paper. The online submission and editorial manager system provides the following notable benefits:

Easily Accessible Anywhere in the World

- You can login to submit your paper or revisions wherever you have access to the internet.

Disks and Hard Copies Are No Longer Required

- Online submission provides automatic conversion of source files to one PDF file—a stable document that is guaranteed to look the same on any computer worldwide.

Speeds Up the Peer-Review and Publication Process

- Provides online submission for authors, which in turn provides a faster, more efficient seamless link from submission through the editorial and peer-review process, right through to publication.

Your Data is Secure

- Data is held on our secure, central servers that are regularly backed up, so there is no need to worry about loss of data.

Its Saves you Money

- No need for expensive priority mail charges. The submission system is instantaneous, with the Editor-in-Chief receiving your submission as soon as you upload and verify the submission.

For further information and to submit your paper online, visit the Journal of Fluorescence Homepage page: <http://www.kluweronline.com/issn/1053-0509/> and follow the link for Online Submission. If you have not submitted online before, you will be required to register first. If you are a returning author simply login and begin your submission.

Kind Regards
