

keeps the cost down. The odd typing error has remained (e g "irridium" on p.118), but generally proof reading is adequate.

The book will be a worthwhile addition to the library of those with a direct interest in U.S. consumer legislation or case histories of consumer incidents involving biochemical hazards from domestic products. At £7.50 ($15) the book is reasonably priced and well presented within the constraint of the method adopted for reproduction.

F S FEATES

Forthcoming Event

November 4–7, 1975

International Symposium on Industrial Toxicology

This Symposium will be held at the Industrial Toxicology Research Centre, Lucknow, India, on 4–7 November, 1975.

The aim of the Symposium will be to evaluate the present status of research in the field of industrial toxicology and to define the areas of future research. The specific problems of the developing countries like effect of malnutrition, infection and climatic factors on various occupational disease may also be discussed.

For further information please contact The Director, Industrial Toxicology Research Centre, Mahatma Gandhi Marg, Post Box No. 80, Lucknow 226001, India.