

Publisher's Note

We would like to announce the appointment, with immediate effect, of a new Editor for the Journal of Hazardous Materials: Dr Clive Nussey, recently of the UK Health and Safety Executive. We welcome Clive to the journal and wish him every success in his new post.

Clive joins the editorial team of Gary Bennett and Tadao Yoshida, and replaces Rex Britter, who is retiring after eleven years (and thirty-five volumes) with the journal. Rex has served the journal with distinction and we would like to take this opportunity to thank him for his sterling service. Rex joins the editorial board. We wish him every success in the future.
