

Announcement

The organizational structure of the «Current Awareness» section has remained unchanged for a number of years. Over this time it has reflected well the main topics of interest. However, subject areas evolve and change and it now needs to be revised, to better serve the current research objectives of Journal of Labelled Compounds and Radiopharmaceuticals's readers. As a consequence this section will be provisionally interrupted, after this last issue of 2010, until this bibliographic survey has been restructured to reflect current research areas.
