

JMIR

Journal of Magnetic Resonance

A feedback circuit that adjusts the heat applied to a low power heating wire located at the base of the MAS stator can be used to control the spinning speed of the sample rotor to remarkable precision.

Editor: Lucio Frydman