Page 8128. In the Abstract as printed, $\log A = 9.9 \pm 0.4$ and $\Delta S^\ddagger (170^\circ\text{C}) = -16$ e.u. The correct values are $\log A = 9.7 \pm 0.4$ and $\Delta S^\ddagger (170^\circ\text{C}) = -17$ e.u. We thank Professor Kathleen M. Morgan for alerting us to these numerical errors.

“Although the basis of these practical benefits remains speculative, the preparative advantages are obvious and have motivated a large and continuing survey of nearly all classes of thermal reactions for improvement upon microwave heating.

In light of the improvements, microwave-assisted organic synthesis has bestowed upon similar thermal reactions, reinvestigation of the previous conditions seemed warranted.”
