

BOOK REVIEW

Annual Surveys of Organometallic Chemistry, Vol. 3; edited by D. SEYFERTH and R. B. KING; Elsevier Publishing Company, Amsterdam, 1967, xii + 456 pages, £ 8.

This volume, which deals with work published during 1966, is the last of this most valuable series of annual surveys to appear in bound book form. Future issues will be published in three or four parts as Section B of Organometallic Chemistry Reviews, in which the contributions by the various authors will be printed and issued as they are received. The first part of the 1967 survey has recently appeared.

The present volume is again produced under the Editorship of Drs. D. Seyferth and R. B. King, who themselves have written almost two-thirds of the text, with other authors contributing the section on compounds of the Group IVB elements. Organometallic chemists remain in the debt of Dr. Seyferth and Dr. King for initiating and continuing this excellent series.
