Journal of Orthodontics

March 2002

The editorial in the September issue of the Journal (Volume 28, page 245) presented changes that the editorial team wished to introduce. The Reviews and Abstracts section has not been immune to change. The concept of giving only the web page address of the complimentary copies of other journals that we receive is now to be extended to all journals. Other changes include the re-introduction of the review of articles of interest, the practice of which has fallen into abeyance over recent months. As always, the editorial team would be grateful for feedback on the changes that have been introduced, and suggestions for further improvement will be welcome.
