

JOHN HUGH WEBSTER

DETROIT, MICH.

President of the National Association of Retail Druggists

JOHN H. WEBSTER.

JOURNAL OF THE AMERICAN PHARMACEUTICAL ASSOCIATION

VOL. XIII

JANUARY, 1924

No. 1

JOHN HUGH WEBSTER.

The activities of the President of the National Association of Retail Druggists, John Hugh Webster, answer many questions that enter into discussions by retail pharmacists and teachers of pharmacy—there need be no incompatibility between the practice of pharmacy and the conduct of the modern drug store, and there is no reason why all pharmacists and all druggists should not have a part in the development of American pharmacy and in the work of organizations representing the divisions indicated.

Mr. Webster is a pharmacist and a successful business man; he is chairman of the Committee on U. S. P. and N. F. propaganda of the N. A. R. D. and a delegate of that organization to the National Conference of Pharmaceutical Research. He is a member of the American Pharmaceutical Association, active in local business organizations as well as those of the profession; he has been president of the Detroit Retail Druggists' Association and of the Michigan Pharmaceutical Association, and is a member of the House of Delegates, A. Ph. A. He is informed on matters relating to legislation, is willing to give information and participate in the work of associations for their advancement and the benefits he can rightfully accept and enjoy because he has contributed thereto. He affiliated with the N. A. R. D. and A. Ph. A. during the same year, 1911; he is qualified by experience and education in the technic and science of pharmacy—is a retail pharmacist and a successful drug store owner—"representative of the best" in retail pharmacy, as stated in a recent sketch.

Mr. Webster is forty-three years of age; we do not know whether he is a native of "the Lake State," but he has grown into the social, business and professional life of Detroit, and is one of its highly esteemed citizens.
