A goodly audience, including many Chicago pharmacists, was present and took part in the discussion of the evening which concerned the location of the Headquarters Building of the A. Ph. A. There was almost a unanimous opinion that Chicago was the logical location for the Building and steps were taken to present the advantages of Chicago to the members of the Association.

Dr. E. L. Newcomb spoke on Price Maintenance. In the address he outlined the methods of various coöperative wholesalers and service jobbers. He further urged coöperation of pharmaceutical organizations in bringing about uniformity in prices.

Messrs. J. H. Webster, F. R. Peterson, J. C. Dykema, F. F. Ingram and others discussed the address and questions propounded were answered by Dr. Newcomb.

A motion was passed that the Secretary should send to the Editor of the P. A. R. D. Bulletin on or before the 15th of each month a notice and a synopsis of the program for the following month, that this might be incorporated in the Bulletin which appears early in the month and thus would be a means of bringing the Branch meetings to the attention of all local pharmacists.

The following resolutions were passed and the Secretary was ordered to send copics to those concerned:

"Whereas, The Naborhood Scores Association by its unsolicited and gratuitous publicity in street cars, of the recent convention of the American Pharmaceutical Association, and of National Pharmacy Week, in such a dignified way, has shown a deep interest in the welfare of Pharmacy,

Be it resolved, That at this regular meeting of the Philadelphia Branch of the AMERICAN PHARMACEUTICAL ASSOCIATION we tender the appreciation of our Branch and direct that the Secretary send a copy of this resolution to the Naborhood Stores Association."

"Whereas, The Philadelphia Association of Retail Druggists so generously extended so many courtesies in connection with the publicity for the recent Convention of the American Pharmaceutical Association, through its P. A. R. D. Bulletin:

Be it resolved, That the Philadelphia Branch of the A. Ph. A. R. D. previous to its next meeting."

Resolutions were also passed as follows: "That the Secretary be instructed to convey to the Baltimore and Ohio, Pennsylvania and Reading Railroads the thanks of the Association for the permission which was so kindly granted to place signs and other information and literature about the Railroad Stations at the time of the A. A motion was passed that Robert J. Ruth give a talk upon "National Pharmacy Week of 1926" at the November meeting of the Local Branch, and at the December meeting a talk on "Sales Promotion in Drug Stores" will be given by Raymond Hendrickson.

Mr. Hunsberger expressed his appreciation to the Branch and its various members and Committees for the splendid work which they had done in connection with the A. Ph. A. Convention.

It was decided that the Branch should continue its dinner before the monthly meetings, and that these dinners should be held down to the popular and famous dollar price, and that the selection of the place should be left to the Entertainment Committee.

As the President had another appointment the chair was turned over to the First Vice-President, Mr. Raymond Hendrickson, for the remainder of the meeting.

The program of the meeting was devoted to a more or less informal prescription clinic, as each member was asked to bring his most interesting and most troubleseome prescription. Quite a number of prescriptions were presented, a number of which follow, while others which were presented are to be experimented upon and the results of the experiments will be announced at some later date.

Mr. Hunsberger presented the following French prescription as a matter of considerable interest and to get them clear in our records the translations are also given here. There was a double difficulty in these prescriptions. In the first place, the French had to be translated and in the second place it was found that the prescriptions were those of a Homeopath and it was necessary to find the proper homeopathic preparations which the ordinary store does not carry. This is just one of the instances that show that real pharmacists can handle situations of all types. It is unnecessary of course to say that Mr. Hunsberger had the prescription properly dispensed within a very short time.

French Prescription No. 1.

Au reveil, 1/4 d'heure avant les deux repas prendre sept gouttes de

Translation.—Upon rising, and 1/4 hour before the two meals take seven drops of

$$\begin{array}{ll} 6 \times \text{Homeopathic} & \left\{ \begin{array}{ll} \text{Chamomile} \\ \hline \text{Dilutions} \end{array} \right. \\ \left. \begin{array}{ll} 6 \times \text{dilution} \\ \text{(1 in 1,000,000)} \end{array} \right\} & 20 \text{ grams} & 10 \text{ cc. of each} \end{array}$$

French Prescription—Copied literally.

Au matin, a 4 h soir, prendre sept souttes de
$$\left\{ \frac{\text{Bryoniet}}{\text{Veratr. Alb.}} \right\} \quad 6 \times \left\{ \begin{array}{c} 10 \text{ grams} \end{array} \right.$$

5 jours de traitement, 1 jour d'arret et recommencer.

Translation.

In the morning, and at 4 in the evening, take seven drops of

$$\left. \begin{array}{l} 6 \times \\ \text{Homeopathic} \\ \text{Dilutions} \end{array} \right\} \quad \left\{ \begin{array}{l} \frac{\text{Bryonia}}{\text{Veratr. Alb.}} \\ \end{array} \right\} \\ \left\{ \begin{array}{l} 6 \times \text{ dilution} \\ (1 \text{ in } 1,000,000) \end{array} \right\} \quad 10 \text{ grams} \quad \right\} \quad 5 \text{ cc. of each}$$

5 days of treatment, stop one day, then recommence.

Prescription No. 3.

A precipitate is formed here, probably calomel, and this precipitation is overcome by the addition of a small amount of potassium iodide.

Prescription No. 4.

The difficulty here lies in the fluid nature of the mixture but this is quickly overcome by following the Toplis method, adding three drams of starch and then water q.s. which amounts to ten minins in this case. After the water is added the starch swells and in a few moments time the entire preparation changes to a granular mass which can readily be filled into capsules.

Prescription No. 5.

Ac. Salicyl.	3	i
Sod. Bicarb. (to neutralize) q.s.
Tr. Ferr. Chlor.	f	3	ii
Elix. Arom.	f	3	i
Aq. q.s.	f.	3	vi
Acid Citric as

Apparently the physician thought that he could prepare a ferric-citro chloride in this case and obtain a green color rather than the purplish which would appear as iron salicylate. However, the iron salicylate is not permanent in acid solution and in order to dispense a clear product without a precipitate it is necessary to omit citric acid and in fact add an alkali. In this case ammonia water was used. The finished product has a clear reddish color.

Prescription No. 6.

Ichthyol 3 i ss
Ac. Salicyl. 3 iv
Morph. HCl. gr. ii
Lanolin 3 i
Glycerin f 3 vi

M. Ft. Ung.

In this case the Ichthyol is apparently thrown out by the salicylic acid and the preparation is very thin. By adding 4 drams of starch and holding the salicylic acid until the last, the prescription was dispensed, but still remained in more or less of a liquid condition. When this prescription was called to the attention of the physician he changed the entire combination and prescribed several other ingredients.

Prescription No. 7.

Iodoform 3 i Ol. Neroli my iv Ol. Theobrom, q.s.

M. Ft. Suppos. xii

A sample of this preparation was presented to show the masking qualities of the neroli upon the iodoform. The two blend very well and the dominant odor is very pleasing. Prescription No. 8.

Zinc. Sulph.

Pot. Sulphurat.

Petrolat. Alb. q.s.

M. Ft. Ung.

This prescription represents our familiar white lotion in ointment form and is prepared by dissolving the salts separately in a dram of water, mixing the two solutions and rubbing them on an ointment slab until the precipitate becomes perfectly white. Then the excess of water is taken up with a small quantity of anhydrous lanolin and finally the petrolatum is added.

Prescription No. 9.

Menthol
Camphor aa gr. iii
Liq. Petrolat. q.s. f 3 i

When this prescription is prepared by first rubbing the menthol and camphor together and then dissolving the mixture in the petrolatum, a cloudy solution results. However, if the menthol and camphor are dissolved separately in small quantities of liquid petrolatum and then mixed, the solution is brilliantly clear.

Several more prescriptions were presented and received considerable discussion, but these will not be incorporated here as the proper procedure for filling was not determined.

The meeting adjourned at 10:45 P.M. The famous Branch dinner was held as usual before the meeting, twenty-five members being present.

ADLEY B. NICHOLS, Secretary.
