

tertained until a late hour, and where a fine dinner was served in unexceptionable style.

On Wednesday the alumni of the different colleges represented at the Convention met at luncheon together, the most elaborate of the functions being that of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy at the Hotel Pontchartrain, at which Mr. Frank G. Ryan, the President of the Parke, Davis Co., acted as host. The Massachusetts College of Pharmacy Alumni held their lunch at the Hotel Ste. Claire, under the presidency of Mr. F. W. Archer.

Wednesday afternoon a card-party for the ladies was held in the parlors of the Hotel Pontchartrain, at which Mrs. H. M. Whelpley and Mrs. George M. Andrews were the prize-winners.

Wednesday evening the ladies were the guests of F. F. Ingram & Co. and F. A. Thompson & Co. at the Temple Theatre, while the gentlemen were being entertained most royally at the Wayne Gardens by Frederick Stearns & Co.

On Thursday afternoon, Parke, Davis & Co. entertained the entire Convention with a steamer-excursion to St. Clair Flats, which trip also included an inspection of the magnificently equipped laboratories of the firm. Supper was served on the boat and the party did not return until a late hour in the evening. The excursion through the Flats was one long to be remembered by those who participated in the trip.

Friday afternoon a general auto-ride was enjoyed by all those who desired, and the party was taken through the residential section of Detroit, along its beautiful boulevard, and to beautiful Belle Isle, probably one of the most magnificent public parks in America. Its Zoological Gardens and Aquarium were most enjoyable points of interest for all who participated in this excursion. It is but fair to say that the completeness with which every detail of these various functions was carried out, deserved and received the warmest encomiums of every person who participated in them.

CINCINNATI.

The Outing Committee of the Cincinnati Branch, A. Ph. A., planned for a delightful day at White Villa, Ky., about eighteen miles from Cincinnati.

Nearly every member with their families attended and enjoyed a good chicken dinner, games, boating, bathing and a good time generally in the coolness and shade of White Villa, as the guests of mine host, Mr. J. M. Myers. There were speeches by President E. H. Thiesing, Frank H. Freericks, National Delegate; C. T. P. Fennel, Theo. D. Wetterstroem, Charles Harding, Fred Ott and others.

The first prize in the ladies' guessing contest, for guessing the nearest number of Jequirity beans, prayer beans and jumble beads, contained in a jar, went to Miss Lula Faller, the second to Mrs. Frank H. Freericks and the third to Mrs. Otto Kistner.

Prizes also offered, guessing the weight of entire package, resulted: First prize, Mrs. Scallan; second prize, Mrs. Jackson; third prize, Miss Helen Heister.

The lady guessing the nearest number of polka dots in a polka-dot bow was Mrs. Freericks for first prize; Mrs. Kotte, second prize, and Mrs. Vocke, for third prize.

Sugar-coated pellets, contained in a jar, were nearest estimated in number by Mrs. Kistner, for first prize; Mrs. Weissmann, for second prize, and Miss Heister, for third prize.

The geography game resulted in the first prize being awarded to Mrs. Dorn; second prize to Mrs. Fennel, and the third prize to Mrs. Julius Greyer.

The Committee in charge for the day were Messrs Charles G. Merrell, Chairman, Frank H. Freericks, C. T. P. Fennel, Otto Katz and Louis Werner.

Everybody voted to have spent an enjoyable day, due to the untiring efforts of this Committee.

Our Local Branch has a steady, healthy growth in membership, and will resume regular monthly meetings in October.

CHARLES A. APMEYER, Secretary.

College and Society

THE COLLEGE OF PHARMACY, STATE UNIVERSITY OF IOWA, IOWA CITY, IOWA.

Professor R. A. Kuever and Miss Ruth Wilburta Hindman of Iowa City were married at the house of the bride's mother, Mrs. Charles Baker, on June 20th. Professor and Mrs. Kuever spent a month in the mountains of Colorado and are moving into a fine new bungalow, which Professor Kuever built this last spring.

Mr. Thurston J. Long, Ph.G., '13, Ph.C., '14, of Iowa City, has just received an appointment as assistant drug analyst and inspector, under State Food and Drug Inspector Guy G. Frary of Vermilion, S. Dak.

The State University of Iowa opens on September 21, and the slogan "3000 in September" is sure to be realized, if advance registration can be taken as an indication. The advance registration to date of the College of Pharmacy is the largest in the history of the College, with but one exception.

Mr. Karl Kullman, Ph.G., '13, received his degree of Pharmaceutical Chemist at the Summer Session Commencement. Mr. Kullman will do relief work for the Hansen Drug Co. of Davenport, where he made good last summer in the same capacity. He will return to the University to continue his studies the coming year.

Miss Maud Wieland, Ph.G., '14, who is clerking for E. L. Boerner, was called to Red Oak by the death of her father.

Dr. E. W. Rockwood, Professor of Chemistry, and family are spending their vacation in Colorado.

The annual "Home-coming Day" for the University has been set for October 24th, the date of the Minnesota foot-ball game at Iowa City. For the home-coming Pharmacists, special lectures on Salesmanship and Store Management will be arranged.

Iowa City and the College were represented at the American Pharmaceutical Association Meeting at Detroit by Professor Kuever, Professor Zada M. Cooper, Mr. E. R. Utterback of the Whetstone Pharmacy, and Dean Wilber J. Teeters, wife and son Otis.

An important action was recently taken by the Educational Board by which, in September, 1915, a High School diploma will be required for entrance to the College of Pharmacy. For the present year, two years of high-school work is accepted.

The Pharmacy College, having placed an early import order, has received the entire shipment, so will experience no inconvenience for lack of apparatus this coming year.

Homer Long, Ph.C., '14, chemist for the Boerner Fry Co. of Iowa City, will continue his chemical studies in the University.

Professor B. Shimek of the Botanical Department has been lecturing in Bohemia, and fear is expressed that he may not be able to return in time for his school work.

Mr. George L. Parsons, '12, of Keokuk, Iowa, has invented a powder-dividing device and will put it on the market.

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS SCHOOL OF PHARMACY.

Mr. A. H. Clark, Assistant Professor of Chemistry in the University of Illinois School of Pharmacy, will spend the coming year at the University of Michigan, pursuing advanced studies. His position in the University of Illinois School of Pharmacy has been filled by the appointment of Mr. E. V. Lynn of the University of Wyoming. Mr. Lynn holds the degrees of Bachelor of Arts from the University of Washington and Master of Arts from the University of Wisconsin. He has been Assistant in Chemistry in the University of Washington and in the University of Wisconsin. He was, at one time, instructor in Physics at the Adelphia College. He is the author of a Laboratory Guide in Pharmaceutical Technique, which was prepared during his connection with the Pharmaceutical
