TITRATION OF HYDROFERRICYANIC ACID.

When ferri- and cyan-ion are present, potassium iodide and zinc sulphate are added to the slightly acid solution. The separated iodine is titrated with thiosulphate and starch as an indicator. The influence of ferri-ion is prevented by adding a little KFl solution. Cyan-ion being present, some drops of sulphuric acid are added, and the prussic acid is expelled by means of a stream of carbonic acid at 50°. If the gas ($\text{CO}_2 + \text{HCN}$) is brought into a silver nitrate solution, the quantity of HCN can also be determined.—E. Müller and F. Seidel (Zschft. Anal. Chem., 1914).
