A. PH. A. COUNCIL LETTER NO. 10

PHILADELPHIA, December 6, 1919.

To the Members of the Council:

At the first session of the Section on Commercial Interests for 1918-19, held at New York on August 28, 1919, Chairman E. Fullerton Cook made the following recommendation in his address:

"I, therefore, suggest that the Section recommend to the Council of the A. Ph. A., that a committee be appointed to prepare copy for a textbook on commercial pharmacy, using such material as may be available from papers presented to the Association or this Section, during this and former years, of course, giving due credit, and adding what may be necessary, and that the Association then publish this book for use in the commercial departments of our colleges of pharmacy and for general sale. It is further recommended that any profit derived from its sale be used for the publicity work of the Association."

The address, with its recommendations (which is given in full in the JOURNAL for November, 1919, 955) was referred to a committee and the latter recommended that the matter be referred to the Council for its consideration, which was done.

The recommendation, however, was not presented to the New York meetings of the Council, and it is here and now submitted.

What is the wish of the Council?

J. W. ENGLAND, Secretary.

A. PH. A. COUNCIL LETTER NO. 13.
PHILADELPHIA, December 15, 1919.

To the Members of the Council:

Robert P. Fischelis, Chairman of the World War Veterans Section, submits the following report:

"When it was proposed at the annual meeting of the American Pharmaceutical Association in New York that the World War Veterans Section undertake an active campaign to bring all former soldier and sailor pharmacists into the Association, the newly created Section undertook this work willingly and after due consideration asked for an appropriation of $2,000.00 to carry out the work during the year. This request was considered by a special committee appointed by the Council and later, at the final session, the Association voted to grant an appropriation of $500.00 for a period of three months, with the understanding that subsequent appropriations be made at the discretion of the Council, if the work of the first three months was sufficiently encouraging and showed a return for the money expended.

"The first three months have been busy ones for the officers of the new Section and it has been an up-hill battle to get things on a workable basis. The Secretary of the Section is now located permanently at the Post Hospital, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and has abundant time and facilities at his command to care for all correspondence and other work connected with the Secretary's office. In the past three months the Secretary has labored under considerable difficulties, partly because of the unsettled status of this Section which has now been definitely established and partly because of more or less disturbance in his personal affairs. He now has ready over three thousand letters to go to prospective members whose addresses have been secured through numerous agencies throughout the country, with considerable effort. These letters will be mailed, together with a reprint from the October issue of the JOURNAL, carrying the report of the organization of the World War Veterans' Section and the By-Laws, etc.

"The first appropriation of $500.00 has been exhausted by the necessary work to get the Section organized. The Secretary is being allowed $25.00 a month compensation and he has been getting along with a half-time stenographer at the rate of about $10.00 a week. There have been large printing bills for letterheads, envelopes, reprints, multigraphing, etc. There have also been bills for expressage and postage. It further became necessary for the Chairman of the Section to make a trip to Detroit, Chicago and Cincinnati in the interests of the Section. He attended the Detroit and Chicago branch meetings and about twenty-five members were secured as a result of this trip. However, next to the propaganda work accomplished on this trip, its most important factor was the meeting of the Chairman and Secretary and Frank H. Freericks, the Chairman of the Advisory Committee for Soldier and Sailor Pharmacists, in Cincinnati, to thresh out certain details in the management of the work of the Section which could not have been taken care of in any other way. Matters were so arranged that the Chairman arrived in Cincinnati before the Secretary left for his new duties at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and an entire day was spent in planning future work and solving the problems which have thus far arisen.

"Bearing the above activities in mind, it is not very difficult to see what has been done with the first $500.00 spent in 1919, and it is also not difficult to see that if we are to get the fruit of the expenditure and labor involved, further appropriations must be made in order that the Section may carry on. It is estimated that we will need in 1920 $500.00 to carry us up to March 1st; $500.00 more to June 1st, and $500.00 for the balance of the year.

"The total number of members of the A. Ph. A. thus far secured through the World War Veterans Section numbers 371. This is no criterion of the number which will come in in the next three months because as has been explained, most of our time has been devoted to locating the men and spreading the propaganda. The next three months will bring them into the Association.

"We, therefore, respectfully urge the members of the Council to give further support to this work and help us by their financial aid to accomplish the object which we have set out to achieve."

A. PH. A. COUNCIL LETTER NO. 14.
PHILADELPHIA, December 16, 1919.

To the Members of the Council:

Clyde M. Snow writes:

"Replying to Council Letter No. 10, I am opposed on principle to the Association entering the textbook field. If it should publish a textbook on commercial pharmacy there is no reason at all for ending the effort there.

"Further, it would require too liberal an interpretation of Article I of the Constitution to make such action compatible with the aims of the Association."

Wm. B. Day writes:

"I have Council Letter No. 10. I sympathize with Professor Cook's idea to utilize the splendid papers that have been presented to the Commercial Section for the preparation of the textbook on commercial pharmacy. Although there is already a fairly well-known textbook on this subject to be had, yet, no doubt, a work such as proposed by Chairman Cook would be very useful, and the subject is one that schools of pharmacy must carefully consider with a view to introducing it as a strong course when opportunity affords, but, in spite of these considerations, it appears to me that we are going out of our field when we undertake the preparation of textbooks.

"It is true that we now issue a national standard—the National Formulary—and that we are planning to issue a recipe book which will also be in the nature of a standard, but neither of these is primarily a textbook.

"I am, therefore, opposed to the appointment of a committee to prepare a textbook on commercial pharmacy, though I should not oppose the appointment of a committee to consider whether such a textbook should be prepared and to report back to the Council."

Charles H. LaWall writes:

"With regard to the recommendation in Chairman Cook's address, that the material available in the proceedings and JOURNAL of the Association be utilized in preparing copy for a textbook on commercial pharmacy, I feel that it would be advisable first to have Professor Cook present some kind of a synopsis or outline of the book as he visualizes it.

"If he is willing to do this, which could be done by assembling in some kind of systematic arrangement the material which he considered of value in this connection, I feel that we shall have some basis on which to judge of the advisability of the proposed plan."

H. A. Ruddiman writes:

"I feel the need of a good textbook on commercial pharmacy. I have not seen any that is satisfactory and I have hoped that someone well qualified would write one. I am, however, strongly opposed to this being undertaken by the A. Ph. A. The Association has no business, I might say no right, to use its funds in this way. There is no occasion for it. The book might or might not be a success. Some one will some day write a good book which will be published by a regular book company. I would vote against the recommendation."

S. L. Hilton writes:

"In reply to your Letter No. 10, it seems to me the recommendation of Prof. Cook should be carefully considered, there is much valuable information that has been presented and can be used in such a publication as he has suggested and that would be available and useful for students, but is this the proper time for such a publication when everything is soaring and labor has gone wild and making all kinds of demands? I think such a publication could be well looked into by a committee, necessary data and information collected and compiled and publication deferred until a more propitious time."

F. E. Stewart writes:

"In regard to the recommendation made by Prof. E. Fullerton Cook, in his address as chairman of the Section on Commercial Interests of the A. Ph. A., at the New York meeting, August 28, 1919, it seems to me that the suggestion of a textbook in Commercial Pharmacy is a good one; the book is needed—but its publication by the Association may establish an undesirable precedent; at all events, the suggestion should have careful consideration before adoption, if adopted, and I move that the question be referred to the Executive Committee for consideration and report."

Lucius E. Sayre writes:

"I have your letter No. 10, in which you refer to Chairman E. Fullerton Cook's recommendation given in his address August 28, 1919. You quote this recommendation and refer to the address and recommendation given in full in the JOURNAL for November, 1919, page 955.

"Permit me to say that I am decidedly in favor of the Association taking up this enterprise of publishing a text (book) on Commercial Pharmacy, but I hesitate to recommend the assigning to a 'committee' the compilation of such a work. I am thoroughly convinced in my own mind that E. Fullerton Cook should be asked to act as chairman of a group of authors (editor-in-chief, if you please). The book should be published as a symposium under the auspices of the A. Ph. A. I think it should also include the legal as well as the business aspects of Pharmacy. Professor Cook is thoroughly capable of editing such a work and also of gathering around him such authorities as are capable and who would be able to glean from the papers available and presented to the Association during former years material that would be acceptable in such a work. If Professor Cook could be persuaded to accept this responsibility, he should be allowed an honorarium which could be determined by the Council. I know it is a good deal to ask of Professor Cook, but I believe we should center responsibility in one man and one in whom we should have confidence. Due credit, of course, should be given other authors contributing to this symposium. I feel quite sure that somewhat of a parallel can be found in some of our medical publications.

"Now, I believe this enterprise, authorized by the Association, would be one of the greatest constructive pieces of work in which we could be engaged at present and I heartily endorse the scheme.

"Would it not be well to have the Executive Committee of the Council take up this matter in its coming meeting and prepare some recommendations for speedy action?"

Motion No. 18 (Textbook on Commercial Pharmacy). Moved by F. E. Stewart, seconded by E. G. Eberle, that the suggestion of a textbook on Commercial Pharmacy, made by Prof. E. Fullerton Cook, be referred to the Executive Committee for consideration at its coming meeting and report to the Council.

A. PH. A. COUNCIL LETTER NO. 15.

PHILADELPHIA, December 16, 1919.

To the Members of the Council:

R. P. Fischelis writes:

"With reference to Council Letter No. 10 and the recommendation of Chairman E. Fullerton Cook of the Commercial Section that a committee be appointed to prepare copy for a textbook on commercial pharmacy, I wish to make the following comment:

"Undoubtedly, Professor Cook's recommendation was prompted by the present lack of a proper textbook on commercial pharmacy which treats the subject not merely from a chain store or straight business viewpoint, but also from the point of view of the profession of pharmacy. Every teacher of commercial pharmacy has undoubtedly felt the need of such a textbook, but I doubt the advisability of appointing a committee to carry on for the American Pharmaceutical Association an enterprise which really encroaches upon a field that the Association could very well leave alone. It is undoubtedly the desire of the American Pharmaceutical Association to encourage authors and to guide them by calling attention to various shortcomings in existing texts, however, it seems to me that it is not the function of an Association to assume the rôle of a publishing house.

The purpose of Professor Cook's recommendation could possibly be served by appointing a committee of teachers of commercial pharmacy to outline the contents of a text which they as teachers in colleges of pharmacy could approve and thus furnish a guide to writers of texts on commercial pharmacy.

"I trust the matter will be fully discussed before any definite step is taken to dispose of it."

A. PH. A. COUNCIL, LETTER NO. 16.
PHILADELPHIA, December 24, 1919.

To the Members of the Council:

Motion No. 12 (Election of Active Members; applications Nos. 39 to 96 inclusive). Motion No. 13 (Election of Soldier and Sailor Members; applications Nos. 69 to 129 inclusive). Motion No. 14 (Election of Soldier and Sailor Members; applications Nos. 130 to 190 inclusive). Motion No. 15 (Approval of Budget of Appropriations for 1920). Motion No. 16 (Election of Active Members; applications Nos. 97 to 115 inclusive). Motion No. 17 (Election of Soldier and Sailor Members; applications Nos. 191 to 229 inclusive). Motion No. 18 (Reference of Textbook on Commercial Pharmacy to Executive Committee). Motion No. 19 (Election of Soldier and Sailor Members; applications Nos. 230 to 279 inclusive) have each received a majority of affirmative votes.

R. P. Fischelis, Chairman of World War Veterans Section, writes:

"I will make a motion, which Dr. F. E. Stewart seconds, that a further appropriation of $500.00 be granted the World War Veterans Section to carry on its membership campaign, such appropriation to be for the period ending March 1, 1920.

"Our work will be severely handicapped if we do not get further appropriations."

The above motion has been referred to the Committee on Finance in accordance with the By-Laws of the Council.

F. J. Wulling writes:

"The request for an additional $1500.00 ought to receive careful thought. If the Association had plenty of money I would unhesitatingly vote to let the Section have the money they ask for.

"Concretely it seems that it will cost the A. Ph. A. $2000.00 to give away two or three thousand memberships or possibly more. I still feel as I did when the proposition was first mentioned. The state associations under the direction of an A. Ph. A. central committee could probably have handled this entire S. S. membership campaign with very little expense to the A. Ph. A. I am certain that the Minnesota State Pharmaceutical Association would have been glad to cover Minnesota. Indeed I believe Secretary Newcomb has taken some steps along this line. He gave me an estimate of the expense of sending out two sets of letters to Minnesota Veterans, totaling $23.50. If every State were willing to do the same thing the total expense would not very much exceed $1000 and would be paid by the State Associations thus saving the A. Ph. A. that much.

"I hesitate in writing this letter because it may seem like a criticism of the work that Dr. Freericks and the W. W. V. Section is doing. This, however, is far from my intention. Splendid work has been done and in an unselfish and enthusiastic way and every credit should be given the workers. The fact is, I believe, that the Association or the Council was not far-sighted enough in the beginning and it may be the Council's duty to see the thing through. I am not quite decided about this."

Clyde M. Snow writes:

"Replying to Council Letter No. 13 requesting the appropriation of further funds for the Soldier and Sailor Membership Campaign, I am unalterably opposed to the appropriation of any funds of the Association for carrying out the proposed campaign in its present status for the following reasons:

"First: The work as it has been carried on is in violation of the by-laws of the Association, for the reason that Articles I, II, III and IV of Chapter VIII of the By-Laws provide specific procedure for membership in the Association. The men admitted as Soldier and Sailor members have complied with none of these requirements. All other members have.

"If the members are admitted under any other conditions it must be under amended by-laws as provided in Article I, Chapter XIV.

"The By-Laws have not been amended in this direction. To attempt to legalize membership as was done in the adoption of Motion No. 30, Council Letters No. 23 and 25 is clearly an evasion of the By-Laws. The adoption of the report of the Council at the General Session of the Association was done under stress of enthusiasm without regard to the legality of the action and if it is allowed to stand, will serve as a precedent for other illegal procedure contravening the Constitution and By-Laws of the Association.

"Second: Mr. W. C. Alpers, during his incumbency as President of the Association, asked for $1500 to carry on a campaign for new Dues-paying members, but his application was denied and looked upon as being chimerical. This action should serve as a precedent when an appropriation is asked for to induce men to take something for nothing. Particularly should the precedent obtain when the Association affairs are in such condition that ways and means are being discussed to induce those who now hold regular membership to agree to an increase in annual dues.

"Third: There are six regularly organized Sections in the Association none of which is given appropriations exceeding $25 annually. The World War Veterans Section has spent $500 since the meeting of the Association in New York. None of the officers in the six Sections referred to are salaried, which is in strict accord with the tenets of the Association. The Association now has two salaried officers through whom the business of securing new dues-paying members may be carried on, the Editor with the aid of the JOURNAL and the General Secretary. In this connection it might be pointed out that more than 500 new dues-paying members were elected without the efforts of salaried officers other than those just referred to, during the last year.

"I hope, therefore, that further appropriations to the World War Veterans Section, in its present status, will be denied."

WAR VETERANS.

Every pharmacist who served in any capacity in the Army, Navy or Marine Corps or who did his, or her, bit in welfare work during the war, is eligible to membership in the War Veterans' Section of the American Pharmaceutical Association and in the association itself this year without payment of dues.

There are approximately ten thousand pharmaceutically trained men who were connected in various capacities with the Army and Navy and more than three thousand of them have already been offered an opportunity to join the A. Ph. A. in its efforts to place pharmacy—and military pharmacy in particular—on a higher plane.

Before any really worth-while results can be obtained it is necessary that the great majority of these ten thousand men unite in a single organization and that organization can well be the War Veterans' Section of the A. Ph. A.

There is no red tape connected with "joining up." Just address a postal card to the secretary, W. D. Walters, Post Hospital, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and we will do the rest. Or, better yet, write him a letter and tell him something concerning your "Service record." An effort is being made to compile a history of pharmaceutical service during the war and there is no better way of getting the facts than to have them furnished by the men themselves. Let's go!
