LAST CALL FOR THE DENVER CONVENTION.

BY the time this issue is in the hands of its readers, the final preparations of the local committee of arrangements will have been completed, and the stage set for the opening of the Sixtieth Convention, at Denver, August 19.

If any members are still hesitating in regard to attending, they should decide at once, and of course should decide affirmatively. No matter what his position or rank in pharmacy may be, the member who attends will have a better investment for his money than the one who stays at home and puts it in the bank.

You know how much you owe your jobber, and you are punctilious in paying him. How much do you owe yourself, and when do you expect to pay the bill? If you are an average druggist, the debt is a pretty big one and long overdue.

Your daily grind is more exacting and nerve-exhausting than that of the inmates of the state's penal institutions, and your limits of action nearly as confined. What are you getting out of life to compensate you for your self-imposed slavery?

Of course you will take a long rest some day—the undertaker will see to that—but why not take a partial rest now, and postpone the undertaker's intervention? Why not get some of the joy of living while you live? Why not see something of this big country of ours, the thriving cities of the central states, the broad prairies of the middle west, and the new civilization and enterprise of the Rocky Mountain region, the great backbone of the Continent?

Will it pay you in dollars and cents? Ask the men who have attended the meetings year after year. These are the men who know, and their testimony is all on one side. They are not pharmaceutical misfits, but shrewd business men—regular money farmers in fact—who plant dollars to raise more dollars. Without exception they have found that it pays them to attend the annual meeting—pays not only in renewed physical and mental vigor, but in increased business and larger bank accounts.

The pharmacists of the country are coming to take a larger view of life and business, and of their relations to them. They are beginning to understand that the saving which keeps them from meeting with their fellow pharmacists and from learning what is being done elsewhere, is not economy but rank wastefulness—the wasting of an opportunity to invest money where it would return itself many-fold. Such economy is rank penuriousness, or expressed in proverbial phrase, penny wisdom and pound foolishness.

The trip means a delightful vacation in very delightful company. It means coming in contact with the brainiest men in pharmacy, who have new and good ideas and know how to tell them, and have been gathering good things for a year for this meeting. It means a visit to some of the most interesting regions of the continent—regions you have always intended to visit some day, or if you have already been there, to visit again.

The man who would go, but is kept at home against his will, is unfortunate; the man who might go but does not, is foolish.
