

"Druggists' Sundries," Mrs. Grenfel, State Superintendent of Schools.

"The Corner Drug Store," Mrs. Storer.

"Bread Pills," Mrs. Robinson, a prominent political worker.

"Strangers Within Our Gates," Mrs. C. M. Ford, President of the Silent Partners.

The favors were dainty souvenir spoons bearing the picture of the Welcome Arch in the bowl.

This completed the program of entertainments planned especially for the ladies, although many private affairs were given during the week in honor of the visitors. The JOURNAL is pleased to officially convey the thanks of the ladies of the Association to the ladies of Denver and of the Colorado Pharmaceutical Association for their very generous hospitality.

On Friday the business sessions were discontinued so that the members might join in the trip to Glacier Lake, the road to which leads through the famous "Switzerland Trail of America." From 8 o'clock till noon the train carried the sightseers through picturesque canons, along mountain streams, the banks of which were dotted here and there with clumps of wild flowers, sighting occasionally a miner's claim, through mining villages nestled at the foot of the mountains; gradually rising higher and higher up the steep slopes and around the short turns; beyond, the higher peaks holding aloft their snowy heads; around us, the vegetation growing scantier with each ascending mile.

At last we arrive at beautiful Glacier Lake and leave the train with orders to form the "bread line" to the baggage car which is plentifully supplied with box luncheons and iced drinks. Mountain air is conducive to hunger and it was not long until the long line had been served and hunger appeased.

After lunch a photograph was taken of the entire party (about 500 people), then the return trip was commenced, with a repetition of the enjoyment of the going trip.

The train was scheduled for a stop at Boulder and the party was met at the train by a brass band, automobiles and special cars for a trip through the city. A visit was made to the campus of the State University, then on to the Chautauqua grounds, where the visitors were served with refreshments on the lawn and enjoyed a wonderful view of the city and mountains and plains beyond. The citizens and druggists of Boulder made the two-hour stop very pleasant, and the thanks of the Association were voiced at the station by Mr. Walker of Texas.

Only a literary genius could so press our language into service as to adequately describe these mountains and the wonderful impression their ever-varying scenery makes on the mind of the traveler, but we believe none in the A. Ph. A. party failed to appreciate all the beauties of Colorado, and we know they all were appreciative of the lavish entertainment provided by the local druggists.

BALTIMORE, MD., Aug. 11, 1912.

To the Editor:

In reading over the JOURNAL I saw mention of Dr. Charles Caspari, Jr., for Chief of the Bureau of Chemistry. He is THE man for the place.

Dr. Caspari taught me for three years at the University of Maryland, and I have never met a man with the knowledge, resourcefulness and fairness he possesses.

Could not resist the temptation to say a few words for him. Yours truly,

LAWRENCE S. WILLIAMS.
