HENRY M. PETTIT.

Dr. Henry McEwen Pettit, of Carrollton, Mo., died suddenly on April 10, 1913, at the home of his sister in Frederick, Md.

Dr. Pettit was born in Cumberland, Md., April 3, 1836. He lived there until a lad of eleven years when, the father having died, the family moved to Frederick, Md., where he received his early education. At the age of seventeen, he went to Philadelphia, entering one of the largest stores of that city. Two years later he secured a position with a drug firm in Pittsburgh.

When he attained his majority he came West and spent two years in Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska, a part of which time he was in business with Barker & Co. Later he was with a drug firm in Leavenworth, Kansas.

In the fall of 1859 he returned to his old home, continuing in business there until the outbreak of the Civil War. He left Pittsburgh the day Fort Sumpter was bombarded, took the first opportunity to go South, and during the war was in the Medical Department of the Southern Army as Hospital Steward on the staff of Dr. Cullom, Medical Director of Longstreet's corps, and on post duty in a hospital in Virginia. He was also Acting Assistant Surgeon and Executive Officer in the hospital at Raleigh, N. C.

At the close of the war, having been a prisoner for several weeks, he was surrendered at Raleigh, and remained in charge of the hospital until as long as a wounded Confederate soldier remained there.

In 1868 he came West and remained in Rock Island, Ill., for a few months, and then came to Carroll county, Missouri, where he and his brother bought a farm. Later, he rented this, and went to Leavenworth, Kansas.

In 1877 he entered the employ of George W. Smith, of Carrollton, and since then he has been a resident of Carrollton. He continued as manager of the drug store of Mr. Smith until 1888, when upon the death of Mr. Smith, he associated himself with O. T. Welch and they purchased the business, since which time the firm has been known as Pettit & Welch. He became a member of the American Pharmaceutical Association in 1860, and has frequently attended its annual meetings.

Dr. Pettit was made a Mason in Petersburg, Va., in May, 1863. He was a charter member of Covenant Lodge, a Past Master of Carrollton Lodge, F. and A. M. He was exalted as Royal Arch Mason in George Washington Chapter, of which he is a Past High Priest. He assisted in the organization of Navarre Commandery, Knights Templar, and has since been its Eminent Commander. For two years he was secretary of all of the Masonic bodies of the city. Being much interested in the Eastern Star, he was for many years Worthy Patron of that order, and also its Grand Patron.

Dr. Pettit affiliated with the Episcopal

Church of Carrollton, was one of the founders of the church and was most active in its behalf.

As a citizen Dr. Pettit was one of the cleanest and the best. His stand was always with what he recognized as right, and on all public questions he was on the moral side.

Dr. Pettit was never married, yet he gave much of his time to society. He loved young folks, and he never lost an opportunity to entertain them.

For several years, Dr. Pettit had been in failing health. He left Carrollton on February 28 to go to the home of his sister in Frederick, Md., for an extended visit.

This is a brief sketch, as a local paper states, "of one who was known to all our people: who lived in our midst nearly forty years, one whose life was above reproach; one who lived to make others happy, and now he has gone to his reward and his friends here sincerely mourn his departure."

HENRY A. BORELL.

Henry Augustus Borell was born in Reading, Pennsylvania, February 19, 1846. He was the son of the late John and Christina (nee Lauer) Borell. He died April 13, 1913.

Mr. Borell received his early education in the public schools and at the Lititz Academy, Lititz, Pennsylvania. After he left school he went into the brewing business in Schuylkill County, and continued in business as a brewer until the Civil War in 1861, when he enlisted in the Union Army.

After three and one-half years of service he was honorably discharged. He then went to Philadelphia and secured a position as a clerk in Hubbell's drug store, on Chestnut Street above Broad Street. As a reward for his faithful services, Mr. Hubbell gave him a course in the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, from which he was graduated in 1872.

Later, G. I. McKelway and H. A. Borell became partners in the business with Mr. Hubbell, and in a few years Mr. Hubbell retired from the business, and the drug store was run under the firm name of McKelway and Borell, continuing as such for several years, when Mr. McKelway bought out Mr. Borell's interest in the business. Henry A. Borell then purchased a drug store at 2043 Chestnut Street and owned this business until the time of his death.

Mr. Borell was married to Miss Kleinert of Mount Carbon, Pa., whose death occurred thirteen years ago. They had no children.

Up to the time of Mr. Borell's death, he was a charter member and director of the West End Trust Company; also a partner of the Rumsey-Borell Drug Company, 52d and Market Streets, Philadelphia, and conducted personally a drug store at 60th and Market Streets, Philadelphia. He became a member of the American Pharmaceutical Association in 1874.

Interment was had on April 17, 1913, in South Laurel Hill Cemetery, Philadelphia, the George Meade Post No. 1, G. A. R., attending, of which Post the deceased was a member.

THE WORLD AND MAN.

The world is a wonderful sort of a place;
Man works and tries in it,
Laughs in it, cries in it,
Lives in it, dies in it—
All in a very short space.

The world has some lessons for thinkers to teach
And thousands of sermons for preachers to preach.
Some of us know it to call it by name,
Others know much of its sorrows and shame.
Some of us romp through its meadows in glee;
Others see things that men sicken to see;
Graft and corruption, sugar and sin,
Thousands of losers to one that can win;
Queer, swinelike men in the city's wild whirl,
Asking for gold, for the soul of a girl;
Pitiful pomp living over the way—
All of it seems like some grim, sordid play.

The world is a wonderful sort of a place;
Man gets his woes from it,
Takes what he knows from it,
Comes to it, goes from it—
All in a very short space.

—William F. Kirk.
