

work, and Mr. J. H. Davey for assistance with the biological assays. Some of this work has been included by one of us (M.R.I.S.) as part of a Thesis for the Ph.D. degree of the University of London.

REFERENCES

1. Fairbairn and Michaels, J. Pharm. Pharmacol., 1950, 2, 813.
2. Geiger, J. Amer. pharm. Ass., Sci. Ed., 1940, 29, 148.
3. Wiebelhaus and Lee, ibid., 1943, 32, 165.
4. Hazleton and Talbert, ibid., 1944, 33, 170.
5. Hazleton and Talbert, ibid., 1945, 34, 260.
6. Private communication.
7. Grote and Woods, J. Amer. pharm. Ass., Sci. Ed., 1944, 33, 266.
8. Grote and Woods, ibid., 1951, 40, 52.
9. Lou, J. Pharm. Pharmacol., 1949, 1, 673.
10. Stoll, Kussmaul and Becker, Helv. chim. Acta, 1949, 32, 1892.
11. Vincent, Walden and Lee, J. Amer. pharm. Ass., Sci. Ed., 1945, 34, 211.
12. Fairbairn and Saleh, J. Pharm. Pharmacol., 1951, 3, 918.

Correction.

A TASTELESS DERIVATIVE OF CHLORAMPHENICOL

BY E. P. TAYLOR.

This Journal, 1953, 5, 254.

On page 255, heading of Table I,

for infecting read infective.

On page 256, reference 1 should read:—

Belgian Patent 503,675. Parke, Davis and Co.