W. B. Hendrey Helps Organize New Chicago Chemical Company

THE DeLamar-Hendrey Chemical Company inc. has been organized in Chicago to serve as distributors and brokers of chemicals, chemical specialties, and essential oils. Principals are Robert DeLamar, A. M. DeLamar, and Walderssee B. Hendrey. The two first were partners in the firm of J. H. DeLamar and Son, suppliers of chemicals and chemical specialties, which was organized 49 years ago. Dr. Hendrey has been vice president and sales manager of the Edwal Laboratories, Chicago. Previous to 1940 he was assistant research director for Spencer Kellogg and Sons and before that supervisor of organic research for the Texas Company at Beacon, N. Y. He was program chairman for the Chicago fall meeting of the American Oil Chemists' Society in 1944 and 1945.

NEW

"PRECISION" UTILITY BATH

NEW "PRECISION" UTILITY BATH
 An ideal utility laboratory bath. Compact, accurate with easy setting controls, this bath can be employed for a multitude of tasks. The many unusual construction, insulation and operating features provide ample assurance of continued even temperature control within its rated tolerance. Particularly useful for those laboratories having a limited equipment budget in need of a utility bath capable of filling the requirements for many A. S. T. M. tests. Temperature range room to 200°C. Accuracy ± 1°. Working chamber 18" x 18" x 15". Heating medium is oil. Write for detailed literature No. 10009.
