

The Mal Fitch Orchestra, Dallas's society band, will provide dinner and dance music for the Spring Meeting Banquet, April 29, 1975. The 13 man orchestra plays 100 engagements a year throughout Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Arkansas, and Mississippi. The orchestra, with Fitch's wife Betty as vocalist, has played society balls, conventions, civic functions, and fashion shows. Organized in the 1950s, the orchestra has a "big band" sound and plays a variety of music, including contemporary pieces as well as music by Guy Lombardo and Glenn Miller.

Mal Fitch Orchestra and Levee Singers to entertain at Spring Meeting

Mrs. Robert R. Allen, chairwoman of the Ladies' Program for the 66th Annual Spring Meeting in Dallas, Tex., April 27-30, 1975, notes that Dallas is beautiful in April. She added that the Ladies' Committee has planned a program that is a perfect blend of unhurried visiting, shopping, and sight seeing.

Mrs. Allen said, "You all come see us, ya hear!*"

The Levee Singers also will entertain at the Banquet. The group, formed in 1961 when a nightclub named "The Levee" opened, performs a variety of music—singalongs, country and western, banjo solos, light rock, ballads, comedy numbers, and parodies. The group, made up of Ed Bernet, Marvin Montgomery, Ralph Sanford, and Howard Reed, has appeared on four network television shows, worked in Las Vegas, played a series of concerts with Henry Mancini, and performed a number of college concerts and convention dates.
