

Bienvenue

AOCS Members and Guests,

Welcome to New Orleans, home of the famed French Quarter, world-renowned restaurants, Creole cuisine and Dixieland jazz. Our local committee is pleased to host the 78th Annual Meeting of the AOCS on May 17-21, 1987, and the 40th to be held here. While your evenings may be devoted to sampling the city's varied interests, we know your days will be occupied with the excellent technical program arranged by chairman Tom Jacks and his committee. There will be 22 symposia, plus contributed papers in both general and poster sessions, on a variety of subjects to appeal to the professional interests of our entire membership—something for everyone!

While technical registrants will be busy listening to and discussing the latest research findings with their colleagues, spouses will be enjoying a riverboat tour, city sights, the Jackson Brewery, new Riverwalk, and many other unique events arranged by Noralee Brown and Becky Skau (our two pros in this business). For those who are interested, Bob Hron is arranging a riverboat tour of the import/export shipping facilities along the river (oilseed meals, vegetable oils, soybeans, wheat and corn are shipped through the Port of New Orleans) for Tuesday morning.

Plan to come early on Sunday to enjoy the opening mixer at the Fairmont Hotel, nibble on tidbits and sip a few with your friends, to set the stage for the rest of the week. Our entire local committee joins me in inviting you to come "pass a good time" with us at the AOCS meeting in New Orleans. Y'all come! You'll enjoy it.

Sincerely,

Robert L. Ory

EDIBLE
OIL PLANT
DESIGN TAKES MORE

It takes more than innovative engineering design.
 It takes more than outstanding experience.
 It takes more than complete involvement. It takes more than a reliable reputation. It takes more than exceptional service. It takes the understanding of DELTA PROCESS MANAGEMENT.

Whether it's an entirely new system, an addition, or a renovation. Call us today. We should be working with you from the very first stages of your planning.

NO ONE UNDERSTANDS EDIBLE OIL PROCESSING LIKE WE DO.
