

Editorial

A. A. Wragg

© Springer Science+Business Media B.V. 2007

I am very grateful to Professor Geoff Kelsall of Imperial College London, for kindly agreeing to guest edit this personal indulgence in the form of a special issue in celebration of my 25 years involvement as Editor of this Journal. The first issue of Journal of Applied Electrochemistry, then published by Chapman and Hall, appeared in 1971 under the editorship of Douglas Inman and the task was passed on to Derek Pletcher in 1978. I became editor designate under Derek's guidance in 1983 so 2007 marks 25 years of editorial work. Happily both Doug and Derek continue as active members of the Journal's Advisory Editorial Board.

I am enormously grateful and honoured by all the colleagues, collaborators and friends who accepted the invitation to contribute to this celebratory volume. My sincere thanks go to you all.

Professor A. A. (Tony) Wragg
Exeter July 2007

---

A. A. Wragg (✉)
School of Engineering and Computer Science, University of Exeter, North Park Road, Exeter EX4 4QF, UK
e-mail: a.a.wragg@exeter.ac.uk