It has come to my attention that J. Phys. Chem. A has published an article that identifies me as an author. Specifically,

I am referring to the article “Temperature and Pressure Dependence of the Multichannel Rate Coefficients for the CH₃ + OH System” published in J. Phys. Chem. A 1997, 101 (50), 9681–9693.

I did not write this article and do not understand why my name is identified as an author. Additionally, I was not informed of the existence of this article and did not authorize the reference to my name. In this sense, my name should be deleted from the author list for the above mentioned article.
