

Announcements

A symposium on random walks and their application to the physical and biological sciences will be held at the National Bureau of Standards, Gaithersburg, Maryland, on June 28–July 1, 1982. Although most papers will be invited, there will be at least one session of contributed papers. Papers for these sessions are hereby solicited. The final selection will be made by the Organizing Committee. Please send requests for information or abstracts for prospective contributions to Dr. George Weiss, Building 12A, Room 2007, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, MD 20205.
