Preface

The 30th International Vacuum Microbalance Techniques Conference was to have been held at Rabat, Morocco in 2003. Unfortunately, the conference was cancelled because of the international situation following uncertainties with respect to the impending war in Iraq. So, the Guest Editors decided to organize a special issue and publish the collected papers in the Journal of Thermal Analysis and Calorimetry.

This is the reason, why the Guest Editors invite participants again to attend to the 30th International VMT Conference which will be organized in Wrocław, Poland, 2005.
