

Ask for Advance Registrations as Minneapolis Meeting Looms Up

MINNEAPOLIS, convention host to the American Oil Chemists' Society for the first time, welcomes members and guests to the 28th annual fall meeting, to be held at the Radisson hotel October 11-13, 1954. There will be almost 90 technical papers, two field trips (Minneapolis Mining and Manufacturing Company on Tuesday, Minneapolis Linseed Oil Company on Wednesday), buffet supper on Sunday, Smörgåsbord dinner on Monday, banquet and dance on Tuesday. In addition, various technical and administrative committees will meet during the convention span, and the Governing Board will assemble Sunday, with C. E. Morris, president, presiding.

Max Kantor

General chairman of the meeting, J. C. Konen of the Archer - Daniels - Midland Company, has asked for advance registrations. Ladies' events will be directed by Mrs. S. O. Sorensen for a full program of sight-seeing and luncheons. Chairmen of the various committees are: Harold Wittcoff, program; John L. Wilson, finance; George N. Walker, exhibits; Richard Nicholson, hotel; Max Kantor, entertainment; A. C. Depoy, registration; F. K. Bieri, inspection trips; and R. F. Paschke, publicity.

The list of exhibitors follows:

A. S. Aloe Company	Distillation Products Industries
American Mineral Spirits Company	French Oil Mill Machinery Company
American Optical Company	General Mills Inc.
V. D. Anderson Company	Harshaw Chemical Company
Atlas Powder Company	Hercules Filter Corporation
Bird Machine Company	Hoffman-La Roche Inc.
Blaw-Knox Company	Kimble Glass Division
R. J. Brown Company	A. S. La Pine Company
Central Scientific Company	Moisture Register Company
Crown Iron Works	Perkin-Elmer Corporation
DeLaval Separator Company	L. A. Salomon and Bro.
Despatch Oven Company	Skelly Oil Company
	George T. Walker Company

Two awards will be given for the two best papers presented in the technical program. Grandma Nokomis, that fabulous character who really knows what is going on behind the scenes, submits her final communication:

*By the Shining Big Sea Water
Moon of the North Wind*

Brothers of the A.O.C.S.:

Dawn stirs warily in the East. The stars sink slowly to the westward. The fins of Mishe-Nayma, the Sturgeon, mar the mirror of a placid Gitche Gumeec. Night departs.

A log settles, and the soft flames of the fire grow stronger. The encircling frost brightens and then retreats. The weary, wizened face of Nokomis moves not. But all night she has spoken.

The weekly mail canoe yesterday brought payment for the annual wild rice harvest. The siege was immediately forgotten as the Chief envisioned himself behind the wheel of a new fish-tail eight. But Naynab convinced him that Grandma's model "T" was a better bet since a trip to Las Vegas was then also possible. They chugged off within the hour. Nokomis left the sanctuary of the Bunyan cabin and returned to her people.

Grandma Nokomis regrets that she will be unable to present her paper. But now she says there will be room for one more fine paper on an already fine program. She sympathizes with the 54 disappointed authors whose papers did not find space on this program. Abstracts for nearly all of the rejected papers however, she noted, failed to make the August 1 deadline. May this spur promptness in future endeavors of these authors!

Nokomis regrets, too, that she will be unable to join her colleagues in Minneapolis. But perhaps they will come again to the Land of the Sky Blue Waters. Perhaps in '58 when this great state of 10,000 lakes celebrates its centennial, they will return. And probably that should be a 4-day meeting.

May the good medicine of the Onandaga bring the winds of success to the PAUL BUNYAN MEETING of the A.O.C.S.!

Your humb. ob. serv.

Hi

Nearly all of the papers to be presented at the Minneapolis meeting will be published in future issues of the JOURNAL, and the editor, A. R. Baldwin, invites authors of papers which did not make the August 1 deadline for abstracts to submit their manuscripts to the JOURNAL.

Coverage of the Minneapolis meeting will appear in the November and December issues of the JOURNAL.

New Members

Active

- William S. Baldwin, chemist, General Mills Inc., Minneapolis, Minn.
- William Alexander Brechin, plant chemist, Canada Packers Ltd., Toronto, Ontario.
- Gustav Egloff, director of research, Universal Oil Products Company, Des Plaines, Ill.
- John James Geminder, technical service representative, Chas. Pfizer and Company Inc., Brooklyn, N.Y.
- Jack Bernard Hanel, chief chemist, Rosefield Packing Company, Portsmouth, Va.
- Norman C. Hill, vice president, production-engineering and development, C. P. Hall Company, Akron, O.
- James R. Kerns, micro-analyst, General Mills Inc., Minneapolis, Minn.
- Richard B. Kron, associate chemist, General Mills Inc., Minneapolis, Minn.
- Jacob P. Krumbein, chemical engineer, Newport Industries Inc., Pensacola, Fla.
- Marcel Loncin, head of fats and oils division, Institute for Education and Research in Food Industries (CERIA), Brussels, Belgium.
- Clyde Aaron Leatherwood, manager, Pan-American Laboratories, Brownsville, Tex.
- Ned M. Le Bard, chemical engineer, General Mills Inc., Minneapolis, Minn.
- Junius M. McIntire, head, dairy, oil and fat division, Quartermaster Food and Container Institute, Chicago, Ill.
- Herbert F. Neumann, sales manager, organic chemical division, Colgate-Palmolive Company, Jersey City, N.J.
- Walter R. O'Loan, plant chemist, H. M. Rubin Company Inc., Long Island City, N. Y.
- George Christian Potter, research chemist, Quaker Oats Company, Chicago, Ill.
- Malcolm MacKenzie Renfrew, director of chemical research and development, General Mills Inc., Minneapolis, Minn.
- Cecil White Riggins Jr., chemical engineer, pilot plant, HumKo Company, Memphis, Tenn.
- J. Robert Roach, research chemist, General Mills Inc., Minneapolis, Minn.
- George Stanley Sasin, technical director, Hardesty Industries Inc., Philadelphia, Pa.
- Wesley D. Schroeder, supervisor, plasticizer research, Pittsburgh Coke and Chemical Company, Pittsburgh, Pa.
- Henry Clay Schock Swab, technical representative, Atlas Powder Company, San Francisco, Calif.
- William J. Ward, chemist, General Mills Inc., Minneapolis, Minn.
- Lester A. Wienert, chemist, Swift and Company Oil Mill, Memphis, Tenn.

Individual Associate

- Peter Aldag, son of proprietor, Ottó Aldag (import-export), Hamburg, Germany.
- James H. R. Stephenson, manager of sales, Albert Verley Inc., New York, N. Y.