If you've spent a goodly portion of your working life fortifying margarine with vitamin A, you probably know that we can supply you with the particular combination of vitamin A, vitamin D, and coloring agents you need; that we put our various combinations in differently labeled cans; that one can of MYVARACK® Vitamin A fortifies exactly one production batch of margarine; that the labels can be color-coded; that we provide fast shipment and help with incorporation problems. If, on the other hand, you have only recently become involved with vitamin A fortification, you may want to know all about this in detail.
