

Outstanding Entertainment Program

After a review of the events arranged for you by T. I. Kennedy, Entertainment Committee Chairman, we are confident you will agree that entertainment at the 1971 AOCS Spring Meeting will be outstanding.

Sunday evening will kick off the week's events with a Hawaiian buffet luau in the tropical garden setting of The Shamrock poolside. A Hawaiian musical group, "The Islanders," will provide appropriate dinner music and will also feature native dance routines throughout the evening.

In true Texas fashion, the Monday evening entertainment will spotlight a western barbecue and a top notch musical group, "The Westerners." This group will provide music for dining and dancing and during the intermission time will feature several square dance teams presenting exhibition square dances.

The annual banquet and dance Tuesday evening will feature Buddy Brock and his orchestra. This fine musical group will provide dinner music, a floor show including family type entertainment and dance music.

The Ladies' Entertainment Program is likewise outstanding and truly reflects the efforts of Mrs. T. I. Kennedy and her committee. A book review by Mrs. Donald Bolding will highlight Monday morning's activities, followed by a brunch at the Shamrock.

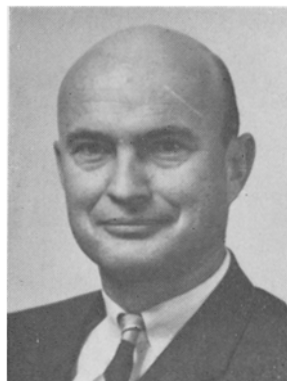

Tuesday morning will feature a musical style show followed by an afternoon shopping tour of the new Nieman Marcus, Joske's and Sakowitz area, including the nearby unique and fabulous Galleria Shopping Center, which is unsurpassed in the Southwest.

On Wednesday morning a tour of the Museum of Fine Arts is scheduled, with lunch at the Warwick. Wednesday afternoon's schedule will offer the new Budweiser Plant—Asiatic Gardens tour.

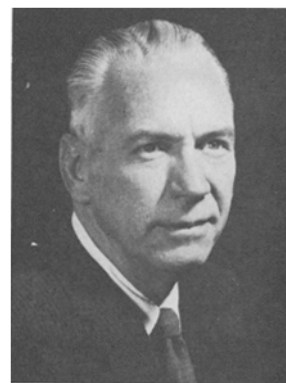

Houston is planning to share with you a Texas-size hospitality that only Houston can offer!

Environmental Control Symposium Planned AOCS 1971 Houston Meeting

J. C. Dietz

W. J. Vatz

With the December deadline for technical papers now history, Raymond Reiser, Past President and the Technical Program Planning Committee Chairman for the 1971 Houston Spring Meeting, reports that the response was excellent, assuring us of one of the finest spring meetings to date.

One segment of the technical program that we feel warrants particular attention at this time is the two-day symposium on environmental control of process waste streams from the crude oil mills, vegetable oil refineries and food plants. This two-day symposium under the direction of J. E. Heilman, Process Engineer, Allied Mills Inc., Chicago, Illinois, will feature such prominent personages in this field as—

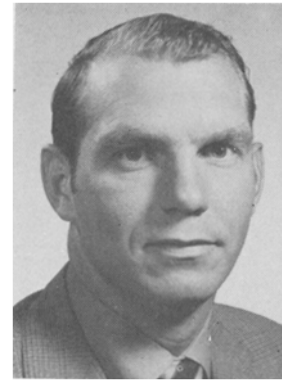

J. F. Byrd—Manager, Environmental Control Section, Engineering Division of The Procter & Gamble Co.
 J. C. Dietz—Principal of Clark, Dietz and Associates
 W. J. Vatz—Division Manager, Rex Ecology Division
 H. P. Kramer—Director, Office of Manpower Development, Air Pollution Control Office, Environmental Protection Agency

G. N. McDermott—Staff Member, Environmental Control Section, Engineering Division of Procter & Gamble Co.

R. J. McWhirter—Manager, Waste Treatment, Linde's Cryogenic Products Department

A. F. Vondrick—Assistant, Water & Sewers Director, City of Phoenix, Arizona

The broad background of the above individuals covering the industry, government, research and development phases of this very vital subject matter that is affecting virtually all segments of our industry should prove to be highly informative to all of those in attendance.
