Committee Calls for

Members are urged to begin planning for the trip west to Los Angeles, site of the joint AOCS-JOCS Spring Meeting, April 23-26, 1972, at the Hilton Hotel.

Response to the technical program has been encouraging (see December JAOCS for a list of planned symposia). According to Robert Conner, Technical Program Committee Chairman, another half-day symposium is being organized by Thomas Rosenquist, Department of Anatomy, University of Southern California School of Medicine, under the heading of "Cell Surfaces." The symposium is concerned with a new aspect of tissue lipid study.

The Entertainment Committee under the direction of Craig Whitmore promises to have a good program arranged without trying to compete with the local night spots, thus allowing members opportunities to explore the city on their own. The Golf Committee under the leadership of George Benck is extending an invitation to each aficionado of this sport to bring his clubs and take part in the Annual Golf Tournament. The L.A. courses are crowded, but he is sure that he will be able to get each participant assigned to a course of his liking.

Contrary to the usual procedure, there will be exhibits at this Spring Meeting. Members should be prepared to view the latest in equipment and material while here to listen and take part in the latest development in the fields of fats, lipids, detergents, etc.

Mrs. L.O. Leenerts, Ladies Program Chairman, promises lots of sightseeing, good food, door prizes, and trips through the old West.

Last month just a few of the local attractions relatively close to the Hilton Hotel were mentioned: Little Tokyo, Olvera Street, Chinatown, The Music Center, Exposition Park, Marina Del Rey and the Television Studios. December JAOCS also touched lightly on attractions in the surrounding areas: Knott's Berry Farm and Ghost Town, Disneyland, Lion Country Safari, Japanese Village and Deer Park, Marineland of the Pacific, and the Huntington Library and Gardens.

Other points of interest are abundant. The mountains are within easy driving distance—the Mount Wilson Observatory can easily be seen from downtown Los Angeles. For a change in scenery there is the Mojave desert “just over the ridge.” There are also the harbor areas, both the commercial ones of the Long Beach and the Los Angeles Port Facilities, and the pleasure sites such as Balboa. Of course miles and miles of beaches stretch from San Diego to Santa Barbara, so surf boards and swimming gear are in order. Catalina Island is also close by and a pleasant place to visit during April.
