Hazards in the Chemical Laboratory

4th Edition

Edited by L. Bretherick, Safety Consultant

Hazards in the Chemical Laboratory has become established as an essential handbook of safety practices, measures and toxic effects for laboratories handling dangerous chemicals. Since the last edition was published in 1981 there have been many changes in legislation regulations, precautionary safety methods and toxicity assessments which warrant publication of this new 4th edition. In addition coverage has been expanded to include material relating to legislation and safety practices in the USA.

Brief Contents:

Introduction, Health and Safety at Work Act 1974; Safety Planning and Management; Fire Protection; Reactive Chemical Hazards; Chemical Hazards and Toxicology; Health Care and First Aid; Hazardous Chemicals; Precautions Against Radiations; An American View.

Protective PVC Binding 618pp

Hazards in the Chemical Laboratory 4th Edition is edited by Les Bretherick, presently a consultant and formerly a Senior Project Leader with BP Research Centre at Sunbury on Thames. Les Bretherick is well known for his expertise and knowledge in safety matters and is now regarded as a world authority on laboratory hazards. This new edition should therefore be regarded as an authoritative and essential requirement for all academic, governmental and industrial laboratories.

Guide to Safe Practices in Chemical Laboratories

The "Guide to Safe Practices in Chemical Laboratories" is the successor to the "Code of Practice for Chemical Laboratories" published by the Royal Institute of Chemistry in 1976. The broad objective of the Guide remains the same as that of the earlier Code of Practice: to provide general guidance on which specific procedures can be based and to point out relevant statutory requirements.

Brief Contents:

Introduction; Organisation for Safety; Hazards; Design; Operation; Legislation and Bibliography.
