Onomastic research as a clue to the nature of Alien entities

By Ann Druffel

A few months ago, researcher Jean Sider sent me the article which follows, with the request that I help facilitate its publication in an American journal and provide a "Commentary." I was happy to do this because I respect Sider's work in the UFO research field and also because I was fascinated by the overwhelming data in his article.

Besides, it dovetailed almost perfectly with research of my own, in which I have been involved the past twelve years. As the reader may be aware, my recent book How to Defend Yourself Against Alien Abduction addresses a new concept in UFO research. It presents detailed data from 70+ documented abduction cases which demonstrate positively that abductees (or experiencers, as some like to be called) are not helpless victims in the clutches of a superior phenomenon from which they can never hope to escape.<sup>1</sup>

Jean Sider's article speaks for itself. He has found a scientific way of demonstrating—through onomastics, i.e., the study of proper names—that entities who pose as "extraterrestrials" are not what they say they are. Rather, they are apparently unwholesome entities who have deceived and interacted with humans since the dawn of history.

Be they mythic, "real," "spiritual," interdimensional, or from a "hidden world" which somehow exists in or alongside our own earth plane, I cannot say, since proof still eludes us. I do know for certain, however, that interfering, shapeshifting, "otherworldly" entities have been described by every major culture (and many smaller cultures) on the face of the earth down through the millenia, and that these older cultures developed means to fend them off or, at the very least, recognized them for what they were.

Not so in most Western cultures. In the United States, in particular, this ages-old "order of creation" seems to have taken on the form of extraterrestrial visitors from the unidentified flying craft we know

About the Authors

Ann Druffel has been active in UFO research since 1957, first with NICAP and then with MUFON and CUFOS since the mid-seventies, and has written widely on the subject in numerous journals. She was a registered case worker in California in family, medical, and child welfare. Her therapist skills help in investigating many aspects of UFO phenomena. She wrote Tujunga Canyon Contacts (co-authored by D. Scott Rogo) and How to Defend Yourself Against Alien Abduction.

Jean Sider is a UFO researcher and author whose main works have appeared in French publications. He was born in 1933, retired from French Railways in 1990 and has been in the UFO field since 1954, when he personally viewed a UFO during the famous UFO "wave" of that year. He has written hundreds of articles on UFOs for French and Belgian journals since 1976, some of which have appeared in the English journal, Flying Saucer Review. Since 1990, he has published ten books on ufological subjects, including the 2-volume Dossier 1954 about the extraordinary 1954 French UFO wave."

as UFOs.

Although Jean Sider's manuscript, as first received, had been well translated into English, it needed minor editing to fit the requirements of American journals. This has been done; I trust that the editing has retained the full flavor of Sider's remarkable research and that his important data reaches you whole and entire.

There are only four points in Jean's article with which I personally differ, but most researchers around the world vary in numerous ways with their colleagues and still manage to "agree to disagree." That there are only four points in which Sider's "take" differs from mine is itself remarkable. They are as follows:

First, Sider states that "everybody knows that pagan gods and deities are regarded as demoniacal entities by Jewish and Christian theologians." Perhaps author Manfred Lurker, whom Sider references, had come to this conclusion, but I have always been under the impression that Judeo-Christian thought regards pagan gods as "false gods" with no specific doctrinal teachings as to their actual origin.

The devil a myth?

Second, he states that "the Devil is a myth created by theologians." I would comment here that in Christianity and Judaism the "Devil" is equivalent to "Lucifer," who is the leader of a horde of angels who defied God and were thrown out of Heaven down into eternal "Hell." The Devil, according to a large proportion of the world's population, is not a myth but an actual being who lives and works his evil on Earth with full participation of his minions.

Third, Sider gives a list of various entities who have historically been regarded as having the capability to appear in human, animal, and other various shapes, i.e., gods, spirits, fairies, angels, daimons (ancient Greece), demons (Christianity, etc.). Since his entire paper is devoted to deceptive practices by unwholesome entities, I would delete "angels" from this list.

No perverse qualities

According to my own research, and personal belief, "angel" is a name reserved for two-thirds of the original Heavenly population who, led by the Archangel Michael, remained faithful to God and ejected Lucifer and his hordes from Heaven. In theological thought, "angels" do not have any perverse qualities, their main purpose for existence being to adore and serve God. Upon occasion, according to religious texts, they act as messengers to human beings on earth, and Christianity also teaches that "guardian angels" guide and protect individual humans throughout their earthly lives.

Fourth, and last, in Sider's "Conclusion" #6, he states that "all our religions rose from allegations of prophets-contactees, who were in fact powerful psychics or channels for entities they thought were their gods." I do not agree entirely with this; we all tend to believe our own religious choices.

But these four points do not take away anything from Sider's data. He has done us all a remarkable favor in pointing out a scientific link between ancient "entities" and the contactees of the fifties.

Recently, a few UFO researchers have noted that the entities termed "Nordics" by modern abductees/experiencers bear a remarkable resemblance to the old-time Venusian, etc. Since Nordics often appear after abductees have begun to resist the incessant intrusion of "greys," might it be that the abducting phenomenon (whatever it really is) has shapeshifted to a more pleasing form?

As sexually intrusive

Study cases of "Nordic interaction" and you will find that, in their own way, they are usually as sexually intrusive as the greys, only more sophisticated in their methods. So I ask, is the modern "Nordic" synonymous with the earlier "Venusian" types?

I wholeheartedly accept Jean Sider's important research and applaud his desire to share his findings with ufologists in other lands. Human languages, however, might simply be inadequate to solve the problem he so wonderfully presents. He lists demons with incubi, and devils with Lucifer and Satan, while modern Muslims consider demons and incubi to be types of jinns and Shaitan (Satan) to be head of the jinns, but that Lucifer is not Shaitan.<sup>2,3</sup>

Meanwhile, many American Christians consider demons the same as devils, and the Catholic Church, in America at least, seems to equate incubi with Lucifer and devils. In the book Demoniality, written by a respected theologian of the seventeenth century, Lodovico Sinistrari of Padua, Italy, equates "demons" with incubi and jinns, and he quotes the Catholic saint, Augustine, as stating that some members of an order of creation equivalent to jinns were worshipped as gods in a certain pagan city.<sup>4</sup> Therefore, the European and Muslim concept of "demon" is synonymous with a form of interfering entity which is not equivalent to Lucifer or his hordes of "fallen angels," whose main purpose appears to be the separation of human souls from God.

Yet in the United States, fundamentalist Christians (and most Catholics) use demon, devil, Lucifer and Satan interchangeably. According to fundamentalists, anyone who studies or researches any type of paranormal activity, including UFOs, is involved with "demonic" matters and is headed toward Hell (as I have myself been informed by a couple of friends and in-laws!).

Worst form of evil?

Unlike Europeans and Muslims, these people make demons equivalent with the worst form of evil, i.e., Lucifer, the Head Devil and his followers. Being a practicing Roman Catholic, I am grateful for the fellowship of a theologian in the Los Angeles area who advised me early on that honest researchers were free to study these subjects in order to seek out Truth.

Devils and demons aside, we also have the gentler side of the controversy, such as is demonstrated by Dr. John Mack. In his latest book, Passport to the Cosmos, he cites an authority who regards what he terms "daimonic reality" as "unseen realities or forces that may, nevertheless, manifest in the physical world," but Mack notes that the word "daimonic" is not to be confused with "demonic."<sup>5</sup>

Mack theorizes that the UFO abduction phenomenon is essentially benevolent, and his Index (and text) carefully avoids words like demon, devil, and jinn. Yet, according to Jean Sider (below), "daimon" is a Greek word which is the equivalent of ancient gods, demons, devils, etc.

In my own extensive reading, "daimon" has always been used in the sense of an order of intelligent creation, in other words, "spiritual individuals" that appear to have characteristics in common with the order of creation the Muslims call Al-jinn, the Celts called Faery-folk, the Buddhists call elementals, a certain tribe in Malaysia call "Bunians,"<sup>6</sup> and so forth.

Top importance

What are we to make of all this? It is obviously a matter of top importance for objective and honest intellectuals in many countries who seek answers to the question: What is the real nature of abducting entities? We need precise definitions for each of these terms, to be agreed upon by researchers worldwide, in order to calmly discuss our differing views with each other.

An impossible dream?

Perhaps that day will never come. Perhaps even researchers with fine educations and sound motives will never be able to come together to discuss these problems in any way that will bring about consensus.

In the meantime, however, we present Jean Sider's excellent research, in which he uses the science of onomastics to link proper names of self-styled extraterrestrials, who reportedly interacted with human "contactees." He shows that these entities bore the precise names of ancient mythic gods, demons, devils, and other unpleasant or mysterious "spiritual" creatures.

As Sider points out, something is not quite right! The "benevolent Venusians" and other self-styled ETs who interacted with contactees in the fifties have an unexpected dark side and even, perhaps, an unexpected reality. Sider's research indicates that they were not benevolent ETs coming to help save our earth, but, according to their own given names, minions of the underworld, Hades and other unwholesome abodes on some level of reality.

In my studied opinion, what is needed next is to collect names of entities which modern abductees—the newer "contactees," so to speak—state have interacted with them. If we can collect a representative database of these names, what will we find? What would Jean Sider be able to tell us, using the science of onomastics? Are modern witnesses being contacted by entities whose names can also be linked to ancient gods, demons, devils, etc? If they are, what does that tell us about the abduction phenomenon itself?

Or will the entities' names denote something else? Will we be able to theorize, as does Mack and others, that the abduction phenomenon is beneficial for the human race? Or will these modern names alert us that the abduction phenomenon is an unwholesome and dangerous game being played by an intelligent order of creation which is not of our physical space-time but which can intrude into our "space" and deceive us? Only time, and continued research, will tell.

Contactees of the Fifties:

The onomastic and diabolical connection

By Jean Sider

Only two years ago, I thought that all the well-known contactees who appeared during the fifties were mythomaniacs, hoaxers, or even swindlers. Probably that is true for many of them, but recently I had the opportunity to do new research on this subject. I have been able to prove in a scientific manner, through onomastics, the science of proper names, that at least some of these contactees had authentic experiences, even if later they made unfounded statements,

My original assessment of contactees had been made on the good work of Isabel Davis, who studied five cases of famous contactees: Adamski, Angelucci, Fry, Van Tassel, and Williamson. I had considered her conclusions so convincing that, without the least hesitancy, I had concluded she was right.<sup>1</sup>

Then one day I was reading the book of Gary Kinder in which the story of the contactee Eduard "Billy" Meier is related in detail,<sup>2</sup> and I came upon a name which called something to mind. It was "Semjase" (pronounced Say-mia-zay, as in the German language) because Billy Meier speaks German only. Semjase was the name of the so-called extraterrestrial woman who allegedly contacted Meier, and who claimed to come from the planet Erra in the Pleiades cluster.

Of course, I know that Kal Korff conducted intensive research in Switzerland in order to show that the Meier case was a put-up job for profit making.<sup>3</sup> Meanwhile I was very astonished because some days before, while reading The Book of Enoch, which was written originally in archaic Hebrew, I noted that the leader of the Fallen Angels was named SEMIAZA (also pronounced say-mia-zay)!

SAMIAZA does not exist in traditional dictionaries, but only in specialized works like that of Fred Gettings. In Gettings' book you can find SAMYASA (there are several spellings) who corresponds to AZAZEL, chief of the Ischin, or demoniacal, entities.<sup>4</sup> AZAZEL corresponds, for Christians, to LUCIFER, equivalent of SATAN. But that is not all.

God of the plague

ERRA, with the same orthographic spelling, is the Babylonian god of the plague and other calamities, and everybody knows that pagan gods and deities are regarded as demoniacal entities by Jewish and Christian theologians.<sup>5</sup>

Now Meier is a man with a poor intellect, having attended only local school in his township. Even if he knew these names, I doubt whether he would have chosen two names of demons for an extraterrestrial being and her planet! It is unthinkable.

I was very puzzled, in fact so puzzled that I decided to conduct the deepest research in order to verify whether or not this onomastical peculiarity could be found in other cases. As LUCIFER is also the Roman name of our planet Venus, and because many contactees of the fifties claimed to have encountered so-called Venusians, I planned a collation of original clues relative to the so-called experiences reported by these individuals.

Strange diabolic coincidences

Some days later, I received my subscription to Flying Saucer Review, in which I noted several articles concerning various paranormal events which occurred in Brazil in 1994. During my reading, I became aware of a very odd CE-3 which happened in the State of Ceara, but without any sighting of unidentified aircraft (UFO). Indeed, two human creatures, one male and one female, looking like Mr. Spock (Leonard Nimoy in the television series "Star Trek") appeared, then disappeared as if by magic, before the eyes of Mrs. Joaquina Nogueira de Sousa, between Pacajus and Pedra Blanca.

The "man" claimed his name was Karran. The witnesses heard him speaking in a little box and memorized these words: "Ami, Sabatan, Radan."<sup>6</sup> Checking in my dictionaries I discovered that "Karran" had a possible origin with KERES, malevolent demons in Greek popular belief. The singular is KER, and this root means "bane, evil, death."<sup>7</sup> As one pronounces "keyran" and Keyr," the relationship is plausible. But there is more. (See AN below.)

President of Hell

"Ami" is almost like AMY (same pronunciation), and AMY is one of several names given to the supreme president of Hell! AMY could adopt an attractive human form while manifesting in the world of man. He is also one of the seventy-two spirits of Solomon.<sup>8</sup>

"Sabatan" perhaps comes from the Hebrew "shabbat," but I think rather it is a name closely related to SEBETTU, the seven Akkadian demons, children of the sky god AN and working with ERRA! (Remember the planet "Erra" of the Meier case above). Also, SEBETTU is the Akkadian name for the Pleiades.<sup>9</sup>

"Radan" is possibly related to RADU (or RUDA), a pre-Islamic deity revered in north Arabia, sometimes male, sometimes female, and usually associated with the Morning Star, i.e., the planet Venus.<sup>10</sup>

I was baffled by these numerous diabolic coincidences, which probably weren't normal coincidences, and I wondered, rather, if they were a kind of malicious psychic induction perpetrated by an unknown intelligence in order to convince us that the Devil was behind all these apparent UFO contacts.

But, as the Devil is a myth created by theologians, it appears that this alien activity looks more like a practical work in connection with our spiritual attainments. Undisputably, the matter possesses an extraordinary and unexpected religious dimension.

Reconsidering the situation

I was compelled to reconsider my first opinion about all the cases of contactees because I began to suspect a completely different situation than the one which is widespread in the UFO research field regarding the contactee problem.

When I gathered a very consistent file about the contactees of the fifties, I noted another thing which seems to have entirely escaped the attention of numerous ufologists. I realized that most of these contactees had experienced only psychic contact with so-called extraterrestrial beings. Indeed, some of them have admitted that their encounters were non-physical, and even those who have claimed a physical contact seem to have been misled or somehow lured mentally.

But it is possible, in a very few cases, that a physical encounter occurred, because the entities (who claim to be extraterrestrial travelers) have historically been regarded as having the capability to appear in human, animal, and other various shapes. Even the ancient peoples knew this peculiarity, but these entities were called by other names: i.e., gods, spirits, fairies, angels, daimons (ancient Greece), demons (Christianity, etc.)

Adamski was special

Interestingly, George Adamski was not an ordinary shopkeeper selling hot dogs near Mt. Palomar in California, as was widely related. Indeed, according to Louise Zinsstag, niece of the famous psychologist Carl Jung, Adamski was a psychic, or a "channel," if you like that term better. This very serious author claimed that Adamski experienced his contacts with so-called Venusians in ecstatic state, or mediumistic trance.<sup>11</sup>

Lies and fakes

I realize that George Adamski lied and faked photos. But many others lied and reported imaginary facts (or perhaps were lured into these by the entities). In their wish to convince their detractors, they didn't hesitate to cheat about their contacts. This is a well-known behavior in the parapsychology field, and even some researchers have come to think that the UFO phenomenon is responsible for this situation.

Let us mention, by the way, that the photos of Adamski's "scout ship," in opposition to an erroneous opinion still held by some in ufology, are fakes which were discovered by two professional photographers, Fred and Phyllis Dickerson, in 1962.<sup>12</sup>

Adamski's Venusians

Adamski claimed to have encountered several "Venusians" named Orthon, Ramu and Firkon. As noted before, the planet Venus was called Lucifer by the Roman people (in Latin, Lucifere means "carrier of light"), and theologians chose this name to refer to the leader of the "fallen angels." As for the Babylonians, the goddess Ishtar is associated with the planet Venus (see also the George Van Tassel case below.) More from an esoteric point of view, Venus remains a "demonic" planet, in a certain sense, because Lucifer still remains "a creature of light."

"Orthon" comes from the Greek name ORTHOS, dog of the monster GERYON, both being killed by Hercules. GERYON herded his cattle with those of HADES, keeper and god of the Greek Hell. And Dante regarded GERYON as being a demon, in order to immortalize the symbolic image of deception!<sup>13</sup>

"Ramu" can be linked to REMUEL (or RAMU-EL, EL meaning god), which is the name of an Enochian demon.<sup>14</sup> And Firkon is perhaps the deformation of FURCAS, another Enochian demon.<sup>15</sup> If the debunkers who infest the ufology field claim that that is another coincidence, then that means they are undeniably dishonest in their behavior, as usual.

Contactees of the fifties

In 1950, John Watts claimed to have visited the planet Venus in a flying saucer piloted by a "Venusian" woman named Mara.<sup>16</sup> If you check in specialized dictionaries, you can see that in Hindu and Buddhist mythology MARA is the embodiment of evil powers.<sup>17</sup>

Please note also that MARE, usually given as MARAE, meant "succubus,"<sup>18</sup> a female demon expert in sexual intercourse, particularly in past centuries. A succubus was an entity disguised as a beautiful woman and was regarded as being the Devil himself or one of his demons. The male counterpart was named "incubus." This means also that modern sexual intercourse between "aliens" with abductees is, in another sense, neither more nor less than what our ancestors called "demoniacal possession" by succubus or incubus.

In May 1952, then in July, and again in January 1953, Orfeo Angelucci claimed to have been contacted by an extraterrestrial being from the planet Neptune and another from the constellation Orion. The latter was a female creature named Lyra.<sup>19</sup> It so happens that LYRA is the name of the stormbird of the Akkadians and is also the name of a well-known goddess among diverse ancient peoples.<sup>20</sup>

But what is more interesting is the fact that Lyra allegedly carried Angelucci off to a planet named Lucifer! There, Lyra told the man that a great civilization was destroyed on this planet because a war had occurred, opposing LUCIFER to the sons of God! What is also interesting is that Angelucci admitted his travel on the planet Lucifer was realized in the mind only. Curiously, in the Italian language (of which the Latin roots are well-known) Angelucci means "angel of light" and Orfeo reminds us of the poet Orpheus in Greek mythology who went down to Hades, the Greek Hell.

Nephilim of the Bible?

From July to November 1952, Truman Bethurum claimed to have encountered a female entity named Aura Rhanes. Aura is perhaps a deformation of AURORA, Greek goddess of the dawn, and daughter of the Titans HYPERION and THEIA.<sup>21</sup> Please note that Titans are often identified as the NEPHILIM of the Bible, i.e. the Fallen Angels transformed into demons by theologians. Moreover, Aura, in the Latin language, means "breath" (of life), and for the occultists an "aura" is an immaterial body surrounding some living beings, corpses and various other forms of matter.

But from a phonetic point of view, Aura looks like HORA (or HERA), Greek goddess of femininity. As to "Rhanes," it is a name having a possible origin with RHEA, mother of HADES and HERA! She herself was a female Titan, daughter of URANUS and GE.<sup>22</sup> With regard to the planet Clarion, where Aura Rhanes said she was living, it is a name with a Latin root, "clarus," which means clear or limpid.

Planet of Hell

In October 1952, Cecil Michael was carried onto "the planet of Hell" by two very bizarre, but apparently human, beings in a very odd space vessel. But as this contactee admitted himself, he traveled in mind only. Please note that Cecil Michael was more an "abductee" than a contactee, because in his case a good number of anomalies can be found which also occurred in abduction cases later on: i.e., entities, implants, temporal anomalies, theophany, telepathy, etc. Another curiosity: while this man was on the "planet of Hell" he saw several little men commanded by a tall man, who threw bodies of deceased human beings in a gigantic fire, and these dead persons came to life again, but screaming with pain in the blaze.<sup>23</sup>

George van Tassel's contacts

Some time before Adamski, at the end of 1952, George van Tassel published his story in a little book of 51 pages.<sup>24</sup> He claimed to have spoken with an extraterrestrial being named Solganda, maybe a composite name (SOL, the Roman sun god, and the first part of GANDAREWA, a demon in the Avesta), but I acknowledge that this might be a far-fetched explanation. Van Tassel also received showy messages from diverse so-called extraterrestrial beings. Among them were Totalmon and Ashtar.

Totalmon is a name which perhaps comes from two ancient Egyptian gods: THOT and AMMON. But Ashtar is more interesting, because several other contactees claimed to have spoken with this entity: Trevor Constable, Andrija Puharich, etc. Indeed, this name comes from ASHTART, goddess of sexuality and fertility for the Phoenicians.

ASHTART is the transposition of ISHTART, mothergoddess of sexuality and war for the Babylonians and Assyrians. She is also the ASHTORETH of the Bible and the APHRODITE of the Greeks. And APHRODITE is the VENUS of the Romans. Van Tassel claimed later on that he had contacted the "Space Brothers" by means of his developing extrasensory perception—in other words, the material aspect of his experiences was entirely lacking.

Other "Sulphurous" Contacts

During the same period of time, according to George Williamson's book published in 1953, Williamson was also in contact with a "Venusian." But here also they were experiences conducted on a channeling basis, via psychic John McCoy. No physical encounters with extraterrestrial creatures were recorded. McCoy claimed to have spoken (through telepathy) with entities named Hilarion, Koot Hoomi and Sanat Kumaru.<sup>25</sup>

HILARION is a saint who lived during the fourth century A.D., and KOOT HOOMI is the name of one of the spiritual guides of the famous theosophist Helena P. Blavatsky, the name having Hindu roots. As for Sanat Kumaru, this name comes from Oriental languages: Sanat is issued from SANI, saturnian god of Hindu mythology<sup>26</sup> and Kumaru comes from KUMARI, virgin goddess of India.<sup>27</sup> And I note a little curiosity here: SANI is described as being entirely dressed in black. Which means that maybe the MIBs are more ancient than one thought up to now! Also please note that Williamson realized his first contacts using a ouija board and radio with a man named "Mr. R."

In 1953, Dana Howard claimed to have been contacted by a "Venusian" female entity named Diane.<sup>28</sup> It was also a very odd name for a so-called extraterrestrial being, because Diane is a well-known name on Earth! Indeed, DIANA is the Roman goddess of the moon and of virginity.<sup>29</sup> There is another possibility of origin—DIONE, mother of APHRODITE for the ancient Greeks. And, as noted before, APHRODITE is the VENUS of the Romans.<sup>30</sup> More, DIONE is a female Titan, i.e., a female Fallen Angel, consequently a demon.<sup>31</sup>

Daniel Fry meets Alan

In 1954, Daniel Fry published a book in which he claimed to have spoken by telepathic means with an extraterrestrial creature named Alan.<sup>32</sup> Even though Alan is a first name used often in English-speaking countries, I think that its roots are contained in ALAUNS (or ALAUNUS), a Celtic god corresponding to MERCURIUS for the Romans. ALAUNUS (or MERCURIUS) is the messenger of Jupiter.

MERCURIUS also corresponds to HERMES for the Greeks, the latter being the god of deception and the psychopomp (or conductor) of the souls of the dead to HADES (Greek Hell).<sup>33</sup> Incidentally, ALAN is also the name of evil spirits for the Tinquians, a small ethnic group in the Philippines.<sup>34</sup>

Also in 1954, George King claimed that he had received messages from a "Venusian" entity named Aetherius. King might have visited Venus, but in his etheric body only, which suggests an OBE or psychic travel.<sup>35</sup> Consequently, no physical journey occurred. Aetherius without doubt comes from AETHER, Greek god of the clear skies.<sup>36</sup> "Aether" is also the name of an imponderable fluid that the ancient Greeks claimed had the ability to enter into all bodies.

Leo Childers and Marcosan

In 1955, Leo Childers claimed to have traveled in a flying saucer piloted by an extraterrestrial creature named Commander Marcosan.<sup>37</sup> "Commander" comes from the popular Latin "commandare," which means to trust, to re-command. But "Marcosan" is more revealing. Indeed, it is probably a transposition of MARCHOSIAS (pronounced MAR-KO-SI-AS) who is another Enochian demon!

After a first visit in 1957, two strange humanoids appeared "like on a TV screen" at the home of Mrs. Cynthia Appleton, a young English mother of two children. This second "visit" occurred in January 1958, and one of these entities, named Ghanas Vahn, claimed they were coming from a country on the planet Venus.<sup>39</sup> Ghanas is perhaps associated with GANAS, dei-ties of Hindu mythology.<sup>40</sup> Vahn is more interesting. Indeed, VAN in Teutonic mythology is the singular of VANIR, a name of deities also, and VANIR is the origin of the name VENUS.<sup>41</sup>

In order to end this enumeration, I will quote a twelfth case. In 1959, a so-called theologian, Frank Stranges, claimed to have encountered a "Venusian" named Val-Thor.<sup>42</sup> "Val" probably comes from VALI, god of light in Germanic mythology, who was son of ODIN, god of the nobility. And "Thor" corresponds exactly to THOP, who is the rival of ODIN, because he is god of the peasants and of the lower middle class.<sup>43</sup> Later on, Frank Stranges may have noted the "sulphurous" smell of this name, because he then called the entity "Valiant Thor."

Conclusions

As stated above, I know that probably all of these contactees invented some details of their stories, but I have explained the reasons for their negative behavior. Let us examine, rather, the positive discoveries of this short study:

1. Most of these contactees have not experienced physical contact(s) but rather psychic messages and possible images of a type of virtual reality.

2. All these contactees probably have a natural bent for these contacts or propensity to this kind of experience (psychics, channels, etc.)

3. The entities who have contacted these persons are neither extraterrestrial nor material beings, but rather etheric (or fluidic) creatures not having the least physical appearance.

4. These entities know perfectly all our ancient mythologies, which means that they have been in our planetary environment a very long time, maybe several millenia. Besides, their presence is well-known in all the civilizations, past and present, under different names and diverse natures: gods, demons, fairies, angels, various "spirits" from other planes, souls of deceased persons and, today, extraterrestrial travelers.

5. All the identities given these entities are masks, and under these masks there are other masks (demons, etc.) because they haven't the least physical body to show us except those of their false appearances. Moreover, they have strong powers to affect the particles of our atmosphere in order to temporarily materialize apparent flying machines and even living humanoid passengers.

But both are decoys or, more often, images of virtual reality screened through the minds of witnesses. The materializations are seldom seen, and what we call "UFOs" are not extraterrestrial aircraft but rather temporarily materialized decoys created by these energetic and fluidic entities, or maybe these entities themselves. (See below what is stated concerning ancient Greeks and Egyptians.)

6. These entities, for reasons I will explain in a future book, seem to be "playing" with our religious beliefs and superstitions (in particular the ones related to the Devil.) It is their main activity since the dawn of civilization. Indeed, when one studies all the ancient mythologies and folklores, one can note that all our religions rose from allegations of prophets-contactees, who were in fact powerful psychics or channels for entities they thought were their gods.

7. The alleged crash at Roswell, if this incident is authentic, is more probably a decoy of extraterrestrial aircraft with decoys of extraterrestrial creatures. There are historical clues showing that this hypothesis is fully justified. The more evident clues are the scientific researches made in the spiritism field before World War I by such men as William Crookes (physicist); Charles Richet (physicist); Dr. Paul Gibler; Dr. Gustave Geley; Dr. Th. L. Chazarain; Dr. von Schrenk-Notzing, and many others.

They were in a position to check very carefully the materialization (and subsequent dematerialization) of living humanoid entities, "doubles" of psychics or "discarnate" spirits.<sup>44</sup> This same capability was well-known by ancient Greeks with regard to their "gods," who were able to appear in human, animal, and "object" shapes.<sup>45</sup>

It is the same thing with the ancient Egyptians. At the time of their first civilization, just after the last planetary flood, they were helped by powerful and beautiful "gods" (the Neterous and secondary deities (the Ourshous, i.e., the Keepers). Some of the Neterous were masculine and others feminine, and they had numerous supernatural powers. For instance, they could transform themselves into any shape (human, animal, tree, plant.) More interesting, they could become ill and even be killed in some circumstances.<sup>46</sup>

An onomastics solution?

Maybe the solution of the UFO (and Alien) problem can be discovered in the oldest mythologies of civilizations which have disappeared. Onomastics is the science of proper names. These names of entities, surfacing in the stories of contactees of the fifties and beyond, which have their roots in most ancient mythologies, precisely, are scientific proof of their relative existence.

Moreover, the fact that these names are more or less connected with our diabolic superstitions is another proof, showing that some of these contactees have not invented them, and that their contacts at the beginning were authentic, even if afterwards they reported unfounded details and showed faked photos.

In all the direct contacts with these entities, the latter often leave something behind them—tracks or marks

"denying" their existence. Maybe these diabolic names are one of the numerous "signatures" they employ in order to mystify us.

Correlation suggested between solar activity and UFO sightings

By Steve Pearse

A study of available data suggests that there is a significant correlation between UFO activity and sunspot activity.

For example, researchers have described 1999 as an off-year for UFOs, while sunspot activity that year continued to climb toward its peak in the 11-year cycle. The previous sunspot peak was in 1989, which was also a slow UFO event year. Perhaps the levels of solar flux and sunspot activity make it unsafe even to an EBE.

I've been reviewing Dr. Richard Haines' book CE-5: Close Encounters of the Fifth Kind (Sourcebooks, 1999) Chapter 10, on CE-5 report frequency distribution by year. He too shows statistics for 1988/1989 indicating that sightings were slow. Peak UFO activity years or UFO wave years such as 1957, 1967, and 1977, on the other hand, show low sunspot activity.

A website by Jan Alvestad charts solar activity on a daily basis. Historical solar data charts (<http://www.dxl.com/solar/history/>) show some very significant drops in sunspot activity in 1967, which matches peak UFO activity that year. The year 1977 was extremely low in solar flux and sunspot activity, and 1977 was a banner year for sightings.

Out of curiosity, I've looked up specific dates of known UFO incidents to see what was going on at that particular time in terms of solar flux and sunspot activity. Here is what I found [samples excerpted from list of 30 cases]:

Date/Case Activity	Solar flux rating	Sunspot
10/05/96 Haraldo Westendorf CE-1, Brazil	70	0
11/05/75 Travis Walton abduction	78	22
09/19/61 Betty/Barney Hill abduction	90	65
10/21/78 Frederick Valentich, Australia	170	140

10/16/94 Zimbabwe schoolyard CE-3	92	68
12/11/96 Yukon Territory giant UFO	72	30
03/13/97 Huge UFO(s) over Arizona	75	18
12/03/67 Herbert Schirmer abduction	120	80
01/20/96 Varginha CE-3, Brazil	70-72	0
10/11/73 Pascagoula (Hickson/Parker) abduction	70	0
09/03/65 Exeter, New Hampshire CE-1	78	21
04/24/64 Lonnie Zamora CE-3, Socorro, NM	71	23
05/20/67 Steven Michalak CE-2, Falcon Lake, Canada	150	80
10/16/57 Villas Boas abduction, Brazil	270	265

Currently [year 2000] the sunspot numbers are high. For example:

Feb 5 - 155; Feb 8 - 200; March 8 - 230; April 2 - 300; April 22 - 251.

Analyzing 30 sample cases, including those above, shows 8 of the cases occurred during a zero sunspot period of time; 7 with under 25 sunspots; 11 with 25 to 85 sunspots, 3 with 100-200 sunspots and one during a period of over 200 sunspots.

Half of the cases occurred while there were 1 to 25 sunspots, and 26 of 30 sample cases (87 percent) were recorded during periods of 85 sunspots or less.

Correlations of over 60 cases so far suggests that nearly 90 percent of well-documented UFO cases may occur during periods with fewer than 100 sunspots.

Low solar activity therefore appears to provide a window for greater UFO activity. According to Jan Alverstad, this current sunspot cycle will peak by July/August of this year. This suggests that the next upsurge in UFO activity will start around 2002.

More detailed analysis along this line seems warranted.

Doctor's survey indicates many hidden encounters

By David M. Gordon, M.D.

MUFON Consultant in Medicine, Los Angeles

There have been medical gatherings<sup>1</sup> and media publications<sup>2, 3, 4</sup> in which respected psychiatric professionals have supported the claims of people who say they were abducted by UFOs. Some of these people have been found to be suffering from a type of post-traumatic stress disorder.<sup>3</sup>

A recent Roper survey of more than 5,000 people, whose results were mailed to 100,000 psychiatric professionals, found a 2 per cent potential UFO abduction rate in the general population.<sup>5</sup>

To discover the prevalence of both UFO abductions and sightings, and to establish the veracity and clinical relevance of these claims, I undertook a survey of my own HMO practice members. One thousand fifty (1,050) low acuity HMO members were asked in a serial fashion at the conclusion of their visit with me if he or she, the member, "had ever seen a UFO."

Members with known significant mental illness were excluded from the survey. If the member answered in the affirmative, a detailed sighting report was taken of the time, place, and circumstances of the encounter.

Members were asked to sketch the object if they had seen a structure to the object. Objects were counted as UFOs if they had structure or flight characteristics unknown to modern aircraft manufacturing and propulsion technology (I hold a commercial pilot's license).

Examples of counted objects were nocturnal lights exhibiting non-ballistic motion (sudden Z turns, impossible accelerations and decelerations), flying and hovering discs, cigars, triangles, boomerangs, all of which were described as either silent or emitting a low humming noise.

Members who had seen a UFO were then asked specifically about contact with any entities associated with the object. They were asked about memory of abduction experience, unexplained missing time, or sudden translocation of physical position in association with their sighting.

The results were surprising. Out of 1,050 HMO members surveyed, 115 (11%) reported having had seen a UFO by the criteria listed above. Only two had reported it to the authorities (less than 2%). Sixty (6%) of the objects had been close enough to be able to sketch structure. The other 55 (5%) objects had been nocturnal lights moving non-ballistically. Eight members (0.8% of the total surveyed population) related an involuntary UFO contact or abduction. Four (0.4%) other members reported visual contact with UFO entities without abduction. I had known most of the members reporting objects or entities personally for several years and they had no history of mental disturbance. Furthermore, medical records were available on all of these persons to confirm this.

If replicable by other health care professionals, the implications of these data are profound. They would imply that the phenomenon of contact with non-earth intelligence is not rare, is occurring in every health professional's patient pool, could potentially affect people's health, and is being kept secret by individuals until a special person in a position of trust and authority, i.e., their physician, directly asks them about their experience.

The UFO Evidence Volume II reports 30 years of UFO sightings since 1964 with related data and descriptive features organized by category. Patterned after the first volume published in 1964, this second work is much anticipated by the research community. In this report, the sightings are arranged by witness categories. Among the topics discussed are the now strongly established patterns of UFO sightings, the growing evidence worldwide that UFOs represent someone's technology, the history of Government sponsored UFO investigations, and political and human responses to UFO sightings. The master chronology is an incredibly complete listing, which also refers the reader to pertinent sections in the book for fuller descriptions.

MUFON FORUM

Letters to Mufon UFO Journal

A new discovery in the Ramey letter

First, I welcome the comments of Bill Dungan, Jr. (May Journal) about the presence in my decipherment of the Ramey Letter of the phrase "site two at Carlsbad." His suggestion that the wreckage may have been taken to the caverns at least temporarily, for concealment and study, is something that had crossed my mind as well, and Mr. Dungan gives what I feel is a solidly detailed argument to support this notion.

I am now thinking of it as the Carlsbad Caverns Hypothesis, and I think it well deserves further investigation.

Recently, pursuing yet more subtle enhancements with LUCIS software, I have found something new and interesting in the Ramey Letter. In line 4 (see March Journal), where I had previously read -0- A-AM- (with a speculation that it might say LOS ALAMOS) and where Carey and Schmitt had read FOR ATOMIC, the three-character group yields up a different result upon reexamination.

In the three-character group, LUCIS has shown the third letter to be X. Working back from this, I reconsidered the middle letter, and though it's a bit "blobbed" and has a perverse way of looking like 0, one can actually see a peak in the middle with lateral points at the bottom, making the letter W. The Morris reading had had T for the first letter, and upon new enhancement I agree with that, so that altogether the three-character group is TWX (The Ramey Letter itself is most probably a TWX.)

In the group following TWX, the initial A and fourth-position M that both Carey/Schmitt and I had read are probably still valid. With my best new enhancements the second character beyond any doubt in my mind turns out to be 3, agreeing with the Morris reading. Thus the group starts with A3. (Carey and Schmitt and I, meeting here in Roswell, have recently discussed this in terms of the security clearance-level designations A1, A2, A3.)

What follows A3 is difficult in the extreme. (There may be a hyphen in the space that seems to exist between A3 and the next full character.) The only character completely clear in my best enhancements is the next-to-last character, which is 4. The rest is hard to make out, to say the least.

As best I can tell at this point, the full group seems to say something like A-3-JM40, though this is very tentative. The J could possibly be a forward slash (/) instead (a character that did exist on 40's-vintage teletype machine keyboards), and in some of my images the final character almost looks like D rather than 0, but 0 following the digit 4 would seem more likely.

Given that the group before TWX appears to say SENT, and the group following TWX looks something like A3-JM40, which is heaven knows what kind of reference, it appears in any event that the Ramey Letter refers to another document, and this is something I am in the process of submitting a FOIA request about, with "permutations" of the A3- reading and in interests of seeing the response if nothing else,

Also, I was speaking in early March 2000 at a gathering here in Roswell and showing a poster-size print of the Ramey Letter, mentioning the signature line TEMPLE and mentioning that we really don't know who or what that is. (Recall, Dick Hall recently commented that it might well be a code name.)

An elderly gentleman in the audience raised his hand and said, "I know who that is." When I asked him to explain, he said, "It's a code name for J. Edgar Hoover." Later when I interviewed the gentleman, he said that in the 60's he had been at SAC headquarters and had seen a lot of correspondence coming through with the "signature" TEMPLE, and he was told that it was all from Hoover's office.

I wrote to the FBI office in Albuquerque, explaining my interest in the Ramey Letter and asking them outright if indeed TEMPLE had ever been such a code name. I received a letter back from them dated May 8, 2000 saying, "This office is unable to confirm or deny the usage of the code name 'Temple' by former FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover" and mentioning that the records on Hoover are kept at FBI headquarters in Washington.

TEMPLE, of course, could refer to something or someone else, but even the possibility of an FBI connection to the Ramey Letter puzzle is intriguing. Alice was right when she said that things get "curiouser and curiouser."

Von Braun and reality

Brian Parks wonders if Von Braun was at Roswell (June Journal) and notes some escape capsule designs VB sketched. The inference is that since such capsules were not used on the Apollo program VB must have gotten his ideas from Roswell wreckage.

Pfui. VB read and wrote science fiction. The spaceliners that traveled the star lanes in 1930's science fiction were equipped with life 'boats' as all seafaring vessels have been since the Age of Sail began more than a millennia ago. Who needs aliens to give sensible men such life saving ideas?

Parks even seems unaware that the Apollo moonships did have an escape system. That funny looking tripod rig atop the command module was fitted with 4 rockets, and was designed to pull the CM free should disaster strike, and propel it high enough to allow the CM's parachutes to safely deploy. The tower was jettisoned once the Apollo was high enough it wasn't needed.

As for composite materials, both sides during World War Two were searching for new and better materials. After all, if you have something lighter and stronger, your planes can fly farther, higher, faster and/or carry a heavier payload. The British even constructed their "Mosquito" light bombers out of plywood, relying on the speed advantage to cancel the lack of armor. Again, no alien ideas needed.

The problem, it seems to me, is that far too many folks in the UFO field have been brainwashed by von Daniken and others of that ilk into believing that their ancestors never had an idea that hadn't been implanted by "Gods from Outer Space." Human ingenuity is non-existent, such folk believe. Again, pfui!

If Parks wants to do "further research on this subject," I suggest he start by reviewing the history of aircraft which goes back well over 100 years . . . he will likely be astounded at what he learns.

A thank you to Walt

Dear Walt:

This letter, on the occasion of your retirement as International Director of MUFON after 30 years of service, is to thank you for all you have done for our organization and for the cause of the scientific investigation of UFOs.

And it is more than mere "thanks," Walt. It is a deep and heartfelt gratitude which comes from us and which must come from every member of MUFON who reflects on the meaning of your service and commitment.

Because of your vision and perseverance, there now exists MUFON, a great international organization with a superb structure and geographic reach, which, over the years, has been the catalyst for information creation about the UFO phenomena.

It is a dark night Walt, in which we the people struggle alone to escape ignorance and arm ourselves with the knowledge we must have to face the world's future. In this dark night, MUFON, the organization you built from a few names on a defunct mailing list in 1969, has been the primary beacon of light.

When we think, Walt, of the comfort MUFON has provided to countless bewildered individuals who accidentally saw a UFO and were plunged into that icy bath of sure knowledge of a stark and shocking truth, we thank you. When we think of the arena MUFON has provided to the countless (rightly) feverish and obsessed researchers, whose only outlet these many years was the MUFON UFO Journal, we thank you.

The MUFON UFO Journal—the record of the painfully slow accumulation of knowledge by the people, financed by the people's own pocket money, this MUFON UFO Journal you have babied and nurtured and pushed and punched all these 30 years—where would we be without the Journal? And where would we be without MUFON?

There must have been many discouraging days for you, Walt. We joined MUFON in 1988 when the organization was already 19 years old. There was already a smoothly functioning annual conference, a far-flung network of investigators, even abroad, a state director in all 50 states, and a roster of credentialed consultants.

MUFON already had a reputation for credible reporting and analysis, a track record of press conferences, press interviews, and a worldwide membership of several thousand. All this you had already built. There must have been many discouraging, work-filled days as you struggled to establish these elements of the MUFON organization which today we all take for granted.

This letter, Walt, is to thank you for persevering through those many days—to thank you for your magnificent service. That service, we believe, has been not only to the UFO community. The impact and benefit of what you have done extends now and will extend to all the people of this country, and the entire world who, even though they are not all aware of it, must eventually face a great and startling truth. For all these people, you have paved the way, you have shown us the road, and we thank you.

Elaine Douglass and Ron Regehr
Co-State Directors for Utah

Editor's Note: I can only say amen to the above. From the days of Skylook to the present-day Journal, Walt has always been there for me and other staffers. Those not involved in the day-to-day affairs of MUFON can never appreciate what he has accomplished in holding this group of diversified ufologists together and coordinating MUFON's growth to become the world's top UFO organization. Few could have done it—and maybe even Walt couldn't have done it without the tremendous support he has received over the years from Jeanne.

The UFO PRESS

UFO-FBI Connection: The Secret History of the Government's Coverup, by Bruce Maccabee, Ph.D., Llewellyn Publications, PO Box 64383, St. Paul, MN, 6x9 paperback, 311 pages, $14.95.

Reviewed by Dr. R. Leo Sprinkle

Dr. Maccabee, optical physicist, has been researching the UFO phenomenon for three decades, including analyses of various videotapes and photographs of "flying saucers."

His work, both original and supportive of other researchers, demonstrates his technical knowledge, his attention to detail, his evenness in considering the implications of documented evidence and witness testimony, and his wit!

UFO-FBI Connection is a well-organized, well-written, and fascinating book, not only because the author is an expert researcher, but also because the content is based on US governmental records.

Maccabee has a wonderful recipe! He takes the documents of the FBI, USAF, government groups, et al, analyzes the contents, considers the options, then compares the "conclusions" of military and government officials with their own documents. The result? Humble pie!

The "conclusions" of the UFO/ET coverup indicate that various officials came from a position of ignorance or arrogance or both. The "game" of "hard evidence" (i.e., disc or craft) as the only "proof" of the extraterrestrial presence has dominated—too long—the discussion of the significance of detailed observations, off and on the planet, by skilled observers.

Maccabee is neither angry nor defensive about the positions taken by former military and governmental leaders—especially in regard to the post WW II concerns that they faced.

However, with wit and wisdom he describes their flaws in logic, and the doubts in the policy of cover-up that has resulted in more than 50 years of denial of the ET presence.

The author is to be commended for his courage and foresight in obtaining thousands of pages of FBI documents; his painstaking search of the documents for information about the UFO-FBI connection; and his analysis of the historical, political, and social implications of the UFO/ET cover-up by military and governmental officials.

The book is useful for either the needs of a scholar or the interests of a general reader. UFO-FBI Connection provides a fresh look at an old problem: the secret history of the governmental coverup.

This issue of The Anomalist, a "Special UFO Issue," has a number of well-done articles that should be of interest to serious ufologists.

One of the most interesting is Karl T. Pflock's "What's Really Behind the Flying Saucers? A New Twist on Aztec." This account suggests the possibility that Frank Skully, author of the tremendously popular Behind the Flying Saucers, had been duped by con artists into believing stories of crashed saucers.

In other interesting and pertinent articles, T. Peter Park investigates the "strangeness beyond the strangeness" of UFO encounters, Charles Miller suggests that UFOs may actually originate here on Earth, Jerome Clark presents an excellent "Prehistory of the UFO Abduction Phenomenon," Peter Brookesmith questions the validity of abduction polls, Colin Bennett provides a well-written 46-page account of George Adamski and his times, Martin Kottmeyer discusses the optimistic versus doomsday attitudes of believers and debunkers, and Patrick Huyghe reviews and updates the Lonnie Zamora case, asking, "The Best UFO Case Ever?"

As would be expected of these editors, this is a nicely-done publication and well worth reading. The Anomalist is published two times a year.

This must have been a fun book to write. Guy interviewed 12 authors, mostly in person, in reviewing their books in the field of UFOs and other areas.

The author has a journalistic background, and this shows in the writing. What the reader makes of the information presented as "pieces of the puzzle" is, as Guy notes, "up to you."

Basically the information is as reliable as the individual author being discussed—a factor which will generate debate among experienced ufologists and probably cause confusion for those new to the field.

The best way to describe what Aliens Over America attempts to cover is to list the authors, their books, and their topics.

They include Dr. Frank Stranges, Stranger at the Pentagon, government conspiracies; Dick Sutphen, The Star Rover (written by Jack London), astral projection; "Skip" Atwater, Cosmic Voyage, remote viewing; Peter Moon & Preston Nichols, The Montauk

Facts about

The UFO-FBI Connection

By Bruce S. Maccabee, Ph.D.

This book is based on the files of the FBI, Air Force Intelligence, and the CIA. It tells the history of the FBI involvement and of the Air Force activities as seen through the "eyes" of the FBI. The AF told the FBI things that it didn't tell the American people!

Fact 1: July 10, 1947, Air Force Intelligence asked the FBI to interview witnesses. The Air Force was worried that some sighting reports might come from communist sympathizers.

Fact 2: The FBI officially investigated during the late summer of 1947. The FBI interviewed a dozen and a half or so witnesses and found no evidence of communist sympathizers, but did find unexplainable sightings. Many of these interviews and sighting reports were filed under "Security Matter - X"..... so these are the "Real X Files."

Fact 3: Air Force Intelligence supplied the FBI with secret UFO-related information from the summer of 1947 until the middle of the 1950's. Some of this information did not appear in the files of Project Blue Book (1952-1969) which include the files of Project Sign (1948) and Project Grudge (1949-1951), or in the Air Force.

Fact 4: Information supplied to the FBI during the

Aliens Over America...

Project, time travel; Brad Steiger, The Fellowship, channeling; Art Bell, The Quickening, paranormal talk radio; Tim Crawford, UFO Central, UFO videos; Jim Keith, Casebook on the Men in Black, men in black; Timothy Green Beckley, UFOs Among the Stars, celebrities and UFOs; Whitley Streiber, Communion, alien abductions; Zacharia Sitchin, The 12th Planet, the Book of Genesis; and Hal Lindsey, The Late Great Planet Earth, The Book of Revelation.

Whether the reader finds the material in this book credible or not, it is unquestionably interesting. Where else, for example, will you find Beckley's allegation that Jackie Gleason was personally shown by President Richard Nixon mangled alien bodies stored at Homestead AFB near Miami, or that both Muhammad Ali and John Lennon had UFO sightings?

Or that an attempt (the "Philadelphia Experiment") in 1943 to make a Navy ship, the USS Eldridge, invisible resulted in it disappearing, appearing briefly at Norfolk, VA, then reappearing minutes later at Philadelphia minus some of the crew and with other crew members embedded in the bulkhead of the ship?

years 1949-1950 indicated that the Air Force treated the subject seriously even though the Air Force publicly stated that the sightings could all be explained and that there was no threat to the United States.

Fact 5: In January 1949 an Air Force colonel at Oak Ridge, TN, who directed the project to create an atomic powered aircraft, told the FBI that saucers were real and were weapons of the Soviet Union.

Fact 6: In 1949 and 1950 the FBI was told by the Air Force intelligence that the saucer project had been ended. But then the FBI received further requests for sighting information which proved that the Air Force was still investigating. The confusion of the Air Force investigators over whether or not saucers were weapons of another nation or something else is evident in the FBI file.

Fact 7: During 1949 and 1950 numerous "green fireballs" were observed flying over restricted military installations in New Mexico and Texas. These military installations were associated with the construction and storage of atomic weapons. The security agencies were very worried that these "fireballs" were Soviet missiles. The Air Force reports also indicate a "disc shaped variation" also reported by Air Force security personnel. The local FBI agents reported numerous times to headquarters (Hoover) about these sightings. In 1950 the AF project set up to investigate these sightings (Project Twinkle) obtained "photographic proof" of saucer reality. This proof is presented publicly for the first time in this book.

Fact 8: On July 29, 1952, a week after saucers appeared over Washington, DC, the FBI was told by Air Force Intelligence that roughly 3% of the sightings COULD NOT BE EXPLAINED and that it was "not entirely impossible" that some saucers were "ships from another planet." On the SAME DAY the General in charge of Air Force Intelligence (General Samford) held a press conference and told the American public that sightings were all explainable as natural phenomena such as mirages and "temperature inversions" (affecting radar).

Fact 9: In October, 1952, the FBI was told that some AF officers were "seriously considering the possibility of interplanetary ships."

Fact 10: In 1956 an FBI employee and an employee of the National Security agency saw and reported to the FBI a UFO.

Fact 11: The FBI file contains several reports by the agent who investigated the Lonnie Zamorra/Socorro, New Mexico case of April 24, 1964.

Fact 12: The FBI file has a memorandum which indicates that when Jimmy Carter became President he did query government agencies about their UFO activities, as he had promised before the election.

Fact 13: The FBI does not now investigate sightings.

Sunspots heavy

The prolific flare-producing sunspot group #9026 unleashed another moderately strong solar flare on June 12. The eruption was accompanied by a partial halo coronal mass ejection (CME) that arrived here on June 13. A coronagraph animation of the event shows a beautiful billowing CME peppered by speckles and meteor-like streaks resulting from energetic particles hitting the spacecraft's camera.

Another CME occurred on June 18, but it does not appear to be headed towards the Earth. Sun flares have the potential to cause significant damage to the ionosphere, creating greater chance of getting skin cancer.

I urge readers to protect their skin if going out during these times. Hats, umbrellas, sunscreen, sunglasses, and cover-ups are good sun shielding gear.

The UFO pilots seem to be aware of these sun flare problems. Overall reports have decreased by two-thirds to 150 reports for May from 400 during the fall months. (See article on page 11.)

Possible abduction in England

Bill Eatock reports, "As I drove slowly along the road, I suddenly saw a wall of fog in front of me and was surprised that it started so suddenly. I drove into the fog and immediately heard a very high pitched whining sound. The sound was gaining in intensity, to the extent that it was hurting my ears. I was unable to see anything. By this time, the sound was overpowering and I reached for the car radio to see if it was turned on, but it was not.

"My ears were hurting by this time, and I was fast becoming disorientated. In desperation I pulled the wires out of the car radio just in case it was coming from there, and I thought I had turned off the walkie-talkie, but the sound continued.

"At this stage, everything got confused and the next thing I remember was driving out of the fog to a totally clear road and the sound had stopped. Another strange thing was that this road is usually quite busy with other cars, but I never saw one. I drove home

On my arrival home, my wife noticed that the left side of my face appeared to have been sunburned. I don't know what caused this, but I felt ill. My wife was in the kitchen waiting for me (when I got home), and when she looked at me her eyes opened wide. She could see I was in a bad way. She said, 'What the hell's happened to you? Where did you go for those thirty minutes?'

"I did not know what she was talking about; as far as I knew I'd been talking to her non-stop on the walkie-talkies. "I went into the bathroom and saw the sun tan down one side of my face. At the same time I started vomiting, bad; it was clear liquid, as if something had been pumped inside me. It was very unpleasant.

I then realized that my left ear was bleeding; something damaged my ear, and now I cannot hear very well in that ear. I had to go to bed. I slept for hours. When I finally woke up, I felt like I was dying. I had panic attacks for no reason. If I went in a confined space, I started panicking—it was horrible. Even today, my fear of being trapped is indescribable

"I went to see a trained hypnotist and was regressed. It came out that I had been abducted. What happened was that as I had been driving along the whole lock, stock and barrel went up in the air. The car, everything went up into a ship, a spaceship! And after the 'greys' did certain various 'checks' on my person, they put me down in exactly the same position.

"There were non-human looking creatures, a lot of them. What I remember most about it was that there was a human looking being with them who was very tall, about forty-five/fifty, with grey hair, powerful, very well built, a very healthy looking person. He had total control over the 'greys' He was the boss.

"He came to me after the creatures had examined me and spoke to me in perfect English. Clear, concise, inflection-free English. I saw that there were a lot more human beings as well. There was a girl next to me, a young girl, who said she came from Parbold/Dalton, or somewhere near there. She was terrified and in a very fearful state."

Like many abductees Eatock now believes he has had experiences ranging from his childhood right up to the present day. William George Eatock kcotae@viton.new.labour.org.uk

Scientists may have exceeded speed of light

PRINCETON, NEW JERSEY—Jonathan Leake, Science Editor, writes: Scientists claim they have broken the ultimate speed barrier: the speed of light. In research carried out at Princeton, particle physicists have shown that light pulses can be accelerated up to 300 times their normal velocity of 186,000 miles per second.

The implications, like the speed, are mind-boggling. On one interpretation it means that light will arrive at its destination almost before it has started its journey. In effect, it is leaping forward in time.

Exact details of the findings remain confidential because they have been submitted to Nature, the international scientific journal, for review prior to possible publication.

The work was carried out by DR Lijun Wang, of the NEC research institute in Princeton, who transmitted a pulse of light towards a chamber filled with specially treated caesium gas. Before the pulse had fully entered the chamber it had gone right through it and traveled a further 60 feet across the laboratory. In effect it existed in two places at once, a phenomenon that Wang explains by saying it traveled 300 times faster than light.

The research is already causing controversy among physicists. What bothers them is that if light could travel forward in time it could carry information. This would breach one of the basic principles in physics – causality, which says that a cause must come before an effect. It would also shatter Einstein's theory of relativity, since it depends in part on the speed of light being unbreachable.

Wang said: "Our light pulses did indeed travel faster than the accepted speed of light. I hope it will give us a much better understanding of the nature of light and how it behaves."

Wang emphasizes that his experiments are relevant only to light and may not apply to other physical entities. But scientists are beginning to accept that man may eventually exploit some of these characteristics for interstellar space travel. June 4, 2000.

Wisconsin UFO stops car

MILLSTON—The witness reports, "I was traveling down US Highway 12 near on May 14, 2000, at 5 p.m. when my car's engine suddenly died and I had to coast to a stop. My car refused to start. I got out to lift up the hood, then heard a humming sound coming down the road from the east. I looked, and it was a disk shape object that looked like a huge top spinning on the road.

"I ran inside my car and looked at it, and it suddenly became airborne. It shot straight up about 75 yards from my car. "It scared the living hell out of me." I did not tell anyone because they would not believe me. I will never travel this road again. I had to report this to someone."

Georgia sightings reported

DOUGLAS—MUFON Georgia's Joye Pugh, Asst. State Dir., has sent reports on three recent UFO events.

Mrs. Lillian H. Williams, a staff writer for the Douglas Enterprise newspaper, wrote two articles, one on her personal encounter on April 28, 2000, and a second article on others who also had a sighting from a separate location.

At 8:45 p.m., Mrs. Williams and her husband (a retired law enforcement officer) were driving in the area on Highway 64. They observed a bright round orange light hovering just over the treetops in this rural area. They turned to approach closer, as it seemed to be moving slowly.

Mr. Williams accelerated toward it and the light suddenly separated slightly, forming upper and lower portions with a horizontal band of six bright lights as the divider. Darkness was observed between the individual lights in this dividing band. The lower section was thinner and saucer like, the upper was thicker and seemed to be supported by the horizontal band. The whole structure was a blazing orange, almost like a huge sun.

Suddenly four additional balls of light appeared, two on either side, magenta red in color, aligned perfectly with the large light. As they got closer, the lights turned, with the magenta balls moving randomly about. While it turned, Mrs. Williams was able to ascertain that the main light/object was indeed truly round. Upon passing some trees, the larger light was gone, but the smaller magenta balls remained, lingering in the same area. Mrs. Williams felt the smaller lights were about six feet in diameter.

The witnesses pulled off into a field adjacent to the smaller lights/objects, and watched. There was no noise, but the sky seemed to lighten and the smaller lights later disappeared. Mr. Williams returned to the field after daylight and inspected the area twice, but was unable to locate any trace evidence.

Also on 28 April, a local couple was driving home five miles to the east near Nicholls when they saw bright beams of light shining down beyond a patch of trees. They clearly observed six magenta red light balls as described by Mrs. Williams. They also pulled off to observe, and the magenta balls were last seen flying off to the east.

On May 5, between 10 p.m. and 10:30 p.m., a couple living just outside of Douglas near the Green Acres community also saw a large orange light in the sky. They watched for about 10 minutes, and then decided to videotape the event. The witnesses began shooting, and after one good shot, the camera image turned into fuzzy static, and these witnesses thought that their camera was defective. They described seeing beams of light projected to the ground from the orange ball of light. Upon checking the tape, the witness indicated that along with the light beams, there appears to be a saucer shaped object in view. (The witness was apparently unaware of the various EM interference encountered in such cases.) Thanks to Joye Pugh and Tom Sheets, State Director-MUFONGA, ISUR Board.

Objects spotted in Hawaii

KANEHOHE—On June 3 the witness reports that an object came up from the horizon in the northeast traveled towards the southwest in an unorganized group at 8:30 p.m. A second witness arrived 30 seconds after the initial observation.

Some objects seemed to circle others, and even back track a bit. Without stopping, they appeared to “re-group themselves” and with incredible precision seemed to go to their assigned positions on “que” and stop. The remarkable formation seemed to form a “V” with the apex pointing towards the northwest.

After the formation appeared there were less points of light than seen in the original unorganized group, but the lights were larger. At this point clouds obscured the whole formation, but a muted amber red point of light flew to the south with great speed, and a white light took off to the north a millisecond later.

The second witness claims to have seen a red point of light precede the original grouping. At approximately the same time, this observation was taking place, NASA was to have a controlled reentry of the 17-ton Compton Gamma Ray Observatory, launched in 1991.

The Satellite was supposed to enter the atmosphere along a 1,000-mile strip of the Pacific about 2,500 miles southeast of Hawaii. It was said that if it left its projected course sufficiently it would be in the southeast sky about 8:30 p.m. and could be observed in Hawaii.

“It is my opinion,” says the primary witness, “that what we saw was a completely separate sighting from a different direction. Later that night an amber red ghost like form was sighted moving across the sky. I am a trained observer. My profession is to observe even the smallest morphological structures of the human cell under the microscope.”

Disk reported in Australia

LAKE GLENMAGGIE IN GIPPSLAND, VICTORIA—On about June 1, 2000, a couple driving home in the early evening saw a very bright light shining down from the sky near Sandy Point Road. Stopping the car to investigate, they saw a disc above the road, which quickly sped away. Thanks to John Hallowell vidline@webtime.com.au

Mantle reports UK sightings

SUFFOLK—Philip Mantle reports two recent UFO sightings were passed to him via the Ministry of Defence in London.

The first took place June 4 or 5 involving Mr. C., a senior university lecturer, who was driving along the M11 motorway at 1:15 a.m. with his mother. They both observed a rectangular object ascend, remain stationary, and then ‘disappear.’ This object had four beams of light shining down from it, lighting up the night like day.

Mr. C. pulled his car over and stopped, but there was no noise from this low level object. He says he has flown in helicopters and airplanes and he could not identify this object as either of these. Other drivers slowed down and had witnessed the same thing.

To his surprise, he later learned that his brother had seen the same UFO in the same area in the daylight a few hours earlier. Mr. C’s brother described the object as being rectangular with four “landing” legs sticking out with dark lines running along it.

The National UFO Research Association for the UK is investigating these sightings. Thanks to: Philip Mantle pmquest@dial.pipex.com, www.beyondroswell.com

Bright cylinder spotted in New York

STATEN ISLAND — Larry Clark reports that on June 8, 2000, a huge cylinder UFO with an estimated 400 lights was spotted. My friend saw a UFO high in the sky that was even more visible than the moon at 9:00 PM. It was a bit taller than the moon and about four times wider. He said it was bright white and he could see flashing lights on the bottom of the cylinder shaped object.

It disappeared when he turned away for a minute. The UFO was silent. Five other people saw what may have been this UFO at various locations throughout the night. A police car came ten minutes after the sighting, driving down Jefferson, which is practically an abandoned street that the police never go down.

The craft flew right down the street and they followed. The other witnesses were strangers.

FBI documents on the Internet

Bruce Maccabee, author of The UFO-FBI Connection, notes, “In the spring of 1998 the FBI placed on the web the roughly 1,600 pages of UFO files. See www.foia.fbi.gov and check for “foipa” documents. These are not arranged in any order, so if you are looking for a particular item you may have to search through all 16 files of 5 Mbytes each.”

Perspective

On the June MUFON UFO Journal

By Richard Hall

A nice mixture of information is contained in this issue, although the lead article on the Israeli videos might better have been left to a technical report!

Richard Hall

Jeff Sainio's praiseworthy analysis is more suited to an audience of specialists than to the average reader after the first page or so of summary and his concluding remarks.

Nevertheless, his analysis is potentially very significant. Bottom line: well documented and important evidence of something unexplained in the sky.

The profile of Jenny Randles is interesting and revealing. From the standpoint of scientific method, she need not be apologetic for alleged "fence-sitting." When evidence is incomplete or inconclusive, the scientific approach is to suspend judgment (i.e., sit on the fence) until more evidence can be obtained. Its opposite is called "leaping to conclusions," which all too many alleged UFOlogists practice.

Jenny brings a refreshing perspective to UFO studies and is always worth listening to, coming as she does from that European hot-bed of "socio-whatever" thinking about UFOs. Although I have never been able to understand their logic and reasoning, apparently many in the UK and France (in particular) attribute the entire UFO phenomenon to sociological origins.

In other words, there is no physical reality to it as a unique and important unexplained phenomenon. This is not her position, but she does pay close attention to false UFOs and explained cases.

She and I disagree on explanations that have been advanced for some specific cases, but I have nothing but respect for her careful and rational approach to UFO investigations.

Respectful disagreement with colleagues also is an important part of science; indeed, it is essential for progress to be made. Questioning of each others' data and reasoning is simply peer review, which probably is the single most important part of scientific method. A big difference exists between critical thinking and debunking. The former is constructive, the latter inexcusable.

Jenny is a very positive force in UFOlogy, and a thoughtful commentator. She and I share a strong focus on investigation of empirical data as the key to finding answers.

The southern Missouri crop circle and other "strange phenomena" story is fine as a preliminary report and an alert to things that are being seen and experienced. However, a great deal of investigation and sifting and sorting of data will be necessary before much meaning can be derived from it. All such preliminary reports should, in the ideal world, have follow-up reports later on to inform us of new information and findings.

Until then, they must remain in the "suspended judgment" category.

The Nova Scotia paperboy incident needs amplification. A 5 foot by 9 foot triangular object that passed "about three feet away from his right elbow" and affected his skin temperature and induced blisters? Was there an earlier report of this that I am forgetting? If not, we are lacking all sorts of basic information. For openers, no date is given. Was it a vertically oriented triangle, or was it flying aerodynamically with a vertex pointed forward? Did the witness obtain medical care?

The epidemic of flying triangles obviously is continuing, along with car-buzzing cases. The work of MUFON investigators to investigate and document these cases is vitally important. To me, case validation is essential for establishing a significant data base.

Preliminary reports are "raw data" only, whereas validated cases that have complete information and for which careful investigation has found no answers are the building blocks of all credible theory. Raw data, suspended judgment.

CNI News ceases production

Michael Lindemann, editor of the web-based CNI News, has announced that the popular UFO news feature will no longer be produced.

"Undoubtedly this will come as a surprise to many readers," he notes. "Let me say that I'm surprised as well: But just a few weeks ago, something quite extraordinary happened. I was offered an opportunity to join a dynamic new media project that will, I believe, soon reach a far larger audience than CNI News ever could."

He continues, "At the moment, this project is still in development and remains mostly confidential. However, I can tell you that it will focus in a scientific way upon a wide range of important issues relating to the human future, including various kinds of mysterious or anomalous phenomena."

Bright Planets (Morning Sky):

Mercury continues its visibility as a dim orange object low in the ENE twilight sky early in the month.

Mars (1.8), in Cancer, emerges in the ENE at dawn in the latter half of August.

Jupiter (-2.3) and Saturn (0.1) remain not far apart in Taurus. Jupiter is 9 times brighter than its companion. Both planetary giants rise in the ENE near midnight in midmonth and then move to halfway up the SE sky at dawn. Jupiter lies only 3 degrees above the quarter Moon on August 23.

Meteor Showers:

A bright gibbous Moon washes out many of the Perseid meteors during their maximum on the morning of August 12. (There is a brief window of dark sky between the time of moonset at 3 AM and the start of morning twilight at 4 AM.) Otherwise, about 50 to 100 meteors per hour might have been seen. The slower Delta Aquarids, fewer in number, join the Perseids during the 1st half of August.

Moon Phases:

First quarter--August 6

Full moon--August 15

Last quarter--August 22

New moon--August 29

The Stars:

August evenings bring the Summer Triangle high overhead. Brightest star of the 3 is Vega in the magical harp of Orpheus, Lyra. Look for a crooked rectangle below Vega marking the strings of this lyre. The star Deneb indicates the tail feathers of Cygnus the Swan. The long neck of the soaring bird stretches out to Albireo in its head. Albireo is double with blue and gold components visible in a small telescope. The swan's wings point outward to either side, making the constellation cross-shaped. Altair is the 3rd star in the triangle, marking the head of Jupiter's eagle in mythology, Aquila.

The heavens' precursor of autumn, the Great Square of Pegasus, has shown up in the E. In the NW the Big Dipper has slid farther down the sky, its handle curving up from the open bowl which faces the North Star some 30 degrees to the E.

Missouri petition drive shows ballot initiative possible

Despite having less than two months in which to gather the requisite 75,000-plus signatures for a petition to place a paradigm-shifting anti-UFO secrecy proclamation upon the 2000 general-election ballot in Missouri, a contingent of UFO researchers from the "Show Me" state did manage to gather 20,000 signatures before the May 5 deadline.

"Had the Missouri state secretary's office not taken so many months to review and approve the petition's language, we certainly would've succeeded in gathering the required number of signatures," explains Bruce Widaman, who directs the Mutual UFO Network of Missouri.

"But, in year 2002 (the next available general-election period) from this short-changed success we'll have a better go of it," Widaman said.

"Time—and precedent—will be on our side, as it will be for any of the other 15 direct-initiative and 7 indirect-initiative states whose voters want formally to say no to the UFO status quo."

Widaman went on to cite the various favorable news-media attention drawn by the Missouri effort as a beacon for renewing this power of the people to legislate directly. "Simply by going through the process this far, we've been able to pave the way for all the affected states' electorates to join us in urging Congress to help end the government coverup of the UFO experience," he added.

Echoing that sentiment, MUFON International Director Walter H. Andrus, Jr. said: "We're maintaining the special bank account ("MUFON UFO Ballot Initiative") in anticipation that some of our members in the affected states will step forward to form petition-drive committees there during the next several months.

"The Missourians' effort confirms that—even with limited resources, shortened time, and narrow public awareness of the underlying issues—we indeed can promote official UFO-data disclosure through the process of ballot initiatives."

Andrus noted that MUFON remains committed to serving as the central coordinator for the next round of the process.

Members to Vote on Approval of New Bylaws

A six-member committee of MUFON Board of Directors chaired by Dan Wright has been working for months to fulfill an assignment made at last year's annual Board of Directors meeting to update the MUFON Bylaws. The current bylaws were prepared by your International Director in 1982. Even though they were applicable in 1982, the Mutual UFO Network has changed and progressed during the intervening years, requiring revisions.

Article XIV Amendments, Section 1, part b, states: "Amendments to these Bylaws shall be voted upon by the eligible voters of MUFON by a postal ballot conducted at least one month before the Annual Corporate Meeting. The ballots will be mailed to the membership with the monthly magazine in sufficient time to comply with this stipulation." Part d. states: "Adoption of any Bylaws Amendment shall require a total vote for and against, of at least one-fourth of the eligible voters in MUFON, and at least two-thirds of the total vote shall have favored adoption in order for the amendment to be accepted."

A vote by the current Board of Directors has deemed that there are so many revisions to the bylaws that the proposed new bylaws should be submitted to the entire membership under the amendments procedure for their approval. Voting members must hold current identification cards as of July 1, 2000, or later to be eligible to vote. (Family members are eligible to vote if each has a current ID card.)

The logistics and time required to conduct such a ballot before the next annual Board of Directors meeting on July 16, 2000, is not feasible; therefore the following procedure has been proposed and will be implemented:

1. The August 2000 issue of the MUFON UFO Jour- nal will have the new bylaws (fourth edition) published in their entirety so every member will have a personal copy in order to make his or her decision.

2. A ballot will be inserted in the August 2000 MUFON UFO Journal (colored paper-half-sheet) for convenience in voting. (Family members will sign their names and vote on the single ballot enclosed in their Journal indicating approved or disapproved). Ballots are to be returned to "Mutual UFO Network, P. O. Box 369, Morrison, CO 80465-0369" by Sept. 15, 2000. (This schedule is not feasible for foreign members other than Canada and Mexico who receive their Journals by surface mail.) We want everyone to vote, so foreign members should submit their ballots, preferably by airmail, even though they may not arrive until after the above deadline. They will all be counted in order to meet the bylaws stipulation.

3. The August 2000 Journal was selected for the bylaws due to the "Symposium Issue" being too close to the composing date and the symposium dates July 14, 15, and 16, 2000. The "Symposium Issue" will now be the September 2000 Journal. The August 2000 Journal will also contain the regular columns such as the "Director's Message" (John F. Schuessler), "The Night Sky," "Perspective," "Calendar," and "Reader's Classified," as well as other items.

4. The Board of Directors will be advised after September 15, 2000, of the voting results, and the membership in the October 2000 issue of the Journal.

These procedures are being published one month before the ballots are distributed because we want everyone to be informed and not have a "surprise" element. This is so important that utilizing the August 2000 Journal is the most feasible logically and logistically. We need your full support and cooperation to make this vote a success. MUFON is a democratic, "grass roots" organization. Here is your opportunity to accept your responsibility.

DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

Walter Andrus

My Expression of Gratitude

This will be my last opportunity to express my deep-hearted thanks to everyone, since this will be my last "Director's Message" before the expiration of my term on July 16, 2000. It is very difficult to personally thank each and every person for the support that you have given me as the International Director for thirty years. The personal thank you letters that I received after the announcement of my retirement are very much appreciated.

As you all know, MUFON is not a one-man operation. Its success must be attributed to the "grassroots" structure of the organization where the strength of its leadership lies with the State/Provincial Directors, Assistant State Directors, State Section Directors, Executive Committee, and Board of Directors, since these are the people who represent MUFON in the field.

Only people seriously interested in the UFO phenomenon become involved, since it is considered controversial by some. One must have a certain degree of intestinal fortitude in order to fend off the debunkers and sometimes the press. The best policy is to disregard the debunkers by ignoring them and utilizing your time for more positive, productive efforts in ufology.

The timid person cannot stand "the heat in the kitchen," so does not get involved in ufology. Through our association with MUFON, my wife Jeanne and I have met some of the finest people in the world, who have become our dearest friends.

One of my personal goals has been to relinquish the reigns of MUFON before I reached the age of eighty. I am only retiring as the International Director, not leaving MUFON. I will continue to perform in some helpful capacity. The deteriorating health of my wife Jeanne will limit the amount of time that I can devote to MUFON.

I want to personally thank and recognize each of the Executive Committee: John F. Schuessler, Dan R. Wright, Tom P. Deuley, and Tom M. Whitmore, who have ably assisted me in performing my duties. Without them, MUFON could not have reached its status in world recognition.

I have no apprehension whatsoever in leaving, since the position of International Director is being transferred into the very competent hands of John F. Schuessler, also a founding member. John's education, management, and UFO experience far surpasses that of your retiring director, which is a positive asset.

I am confident that MUFON through its unlimited source of talented and enthusiastic people will continue to thrive and prosper in the future under the new directorship, May God bless each and every one of you.
