

XVIIIth International Conference on ORGANOMETALLIC CHEMISTRY (XVIIIth ICOMC)

August 16–21, 1998; Munich, Germany

organized by Technische Universität München
and Gesellschaft Deutscher Chemiker

The meeting will be held in the teaching complex of the downtown campus of the Technical University of Munich, including the new Auditorium Maximum.

The scientific program of the XVIIIth ICOMC will be established by an International Advisory Board, a National Organizing Committee, and a Local Organizing Committee with representatives of both Munich universities.

The scientific sessions will consider all recent advances in organometallic chemistry and their relevance to present and future applications. The conference will feature invited plenary and section lectures, regular oral presentations, and poster contributions.
