

AAPS Update

THE PHARMACEUTICAL SCIENTISTS' SOURCE FOR TOP EXPERTS, INNOVATIVE PROGRAMS, AND KEY NETWORKING!

October 2002

Don't Miss AAPS Annual Meeting

This may be your last chance to join 7,000 pharmaceutical scientists in Toronto, Ontario, Canada, November 10-14, 2002 and explore new research and technology at the 2002 AAPS Annual Meeting and Exposition. Scientists from all over the world will present more than 2,000 contributed papers featuring important scientific findings.

The scientific program will include topics such as drug interactions, analytical technology for large and small molecules, targeted drug delivery, sterilization, outsourcing strategies, and pharmacogenomics. This year's programming will push pharmaceutical sciences to the next level. Featured hot topics include: Transporter-Based Clinically Significant Drug Interactions, New Strategies for the Development of Improved Analgesics, Pharmaceutical Pricing in Global Markets Recipe for Drug Interactions: Herbs, Spices, Vitamins, Minerals and OTC Products.

More than 550 companies will showcase the latest equipment, technical developments, publications and other services for the pharmaceutical scientist. Find both new and current suppliers of the equipment, services and techniques you need. An Exhibit Guide will be available on-site for all attendees and will feature detailed descriptions of exhibiting company's contact information, products and services, plus an index of the companies by product category. This guide to the Exposition will also serve as a valuable reference after the meeting.

This year's keynote speaker, Dr. Alan Bernstein, President, Canadian Institutes of Health Research, is an internationally recognized researcher and scientific leader. His pioneering research in the area of cancer, hemotopoiesis, embryonic development and gene therapy are landmarks in the field. ## AAPS Distance Learning Presents New CD-ROM

AAPS Distance Learning announces the availability of a new CD-ROM product: The 2001 AAPS Annual Meeting Plenary Session and the Keynote Address, recorded at the 2001 AAPS Annual Meeting in Denver.

This multi-media CD-ROM contains the complete audio presentation and synchronized PowerPoint slides of the following talks:

- ▶ The Keynote Address:
"Vaccines: Highly Valued? Walk the Talk"
Donald P. Francis, M.D., D.Sc., VaxGen, Inc.
- ▶ The Plenary Session
(Moderated by Mark C. Rogge, Ph.D.)
"Pharmacokinetics—Scaling the Hurdles in Drug Discovery and Development."
Malcolm Rowland, Ph.D., University of Manchester
- ▶ "Meeting the Future Challenges in Drug Delivery—Let the Science Win!"
Bob Davis, Ph.D., University of Nottingham
- ▶ "Pharmaceutical Macromolecular Systems: Does Size Really Matter?"
Russell Middaugh, Ph.D., University of Kansas
- ▶ "Evolving Regulatory 'RISQ' Oversight: Rules, Innovation, Speed, Quality."
Timothy Franson, M.D., Eli Lilly and Company

This four-hour CD-ROM is available to AAPS members at a very special price. For complete details on this and other AAPS Distance Learning products, visit www.aapspharmaceutica.com/DL

AAPS Journals Feature Latest Pharmaceutical Science Research

AAPS' scientific journals feature the latest news and peer-reviewed research in the pharmaceutical sciences.

AAPS PharmSci<sup>SM</sup>, www.aapspharmsci.org, is AAPS' first electronic-only journal, covering the areas of drug discovery, development and therapy. AAPS PharmSci allows AAPS to disseminate scientific information worldwide by taking full advantage of the electronic publication medium. The AAPS PharmSci web site includes the publication of peer-reviewed articles with multimedia features, encompassing 3D graphics, video, interactive figures, databases, and sound.

AAPS PharmSciTech<sup>SM</sup>, www.aapspharmsciotech.org, is AAPS' second electronic-only journal, covering the basic and applied research on pharmaceutical dosage forms, both traditional and novel, including the emerging area of biopharmaceuticals. The goal of the journal is to disseminate scientific and technical information on drug product design, development, evaluation and processing worldwide, taking full advantage of web publishing.

Calling All Authors!

AAPS has launched a new book program called AAPS Press. Whether you're an established author, or a recently minted Ph.D. with research to discuss, send AAPS Press your manuscript and AAPS Press will share it with the world.

Visit www.aapspharmaceutica.com/news/press for AAPS Guidelines for Book Proposals a listing of current AAPS Press book titles.

To learn more about this groundbreaking book program, contact the AAPS Director of Publications, Victor Van Beuren at 703-248-4760 or VanBeurenV@aaps.org.

AAPS Press Offers AAPS PharmSci<sup>SM</sup> Supplement

View the latest research in the pharmaceutical sciences presented during the 2001 AAPS Annual Meeting with the 2001 AAPS PharmSci<sup>SM</sup> Supplement Vol.3, No. 3. This release is author-indexed for easy reference. With more than 2,000 abstracts by more than 5,000 scientists, it is an invaluable reference tool for scientists in academia and industry.

Visit www.aapspharmaceutica.com/news/press to order this and other fine AAPS Press publications.

AAPS Offers Personalized E-Journals to its Members

AAPS members can now visit a personalized page on AAPS Pharmaceutica that filters and tailors the portal's content to match each user's research interests. The result is a "personalized e-journal" customized to each AAPS member.

As you log into the portal site, an internal search is triggered that gathers articles and abstracts from the journal database that pertain to your research areas. The current database includes AAPS PharmSci<sup>SM</sup> (including Annual Meeting abstracts), AAPS PharmSciTech<sup>SM</sup>, Pharmaceutical Research, Journal of Pharmaceutical Sciences, and Journal of Pharmacy and Pharmacology. The pool of abstracts will increase as more journals are added to the site in the future. AAPS is pleased to offer this new benefit, exclusively developed for AAPS members.

How to Visit Your Personalized E-Journal

- ▶ Log onto www.aapspharmaceutica.com (The AAPS Pharmaceutica home page will appear.)
- ▶ Enter your member ID and password in the log-in box.
- ▶ The page will shift and your personalized page will appear.
- ▶ Search for abstracts and articles.

Upcoming AAPS Meetings

AAPS will present a series of informative conferences, workshops and short courses.
