

ANNOUNCEMENT

XXVI INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS OF PHYSIOLOGICAL SCIENCES
NEW DELHI, OCTOBER 20–26, 1974

The Congress will open with a Plenary Session on Sunday, October 20, 1974, in the Convention Hall at the Ashoka Hotel. The President of India will inaugurate the Congress after which Professor Hargobind Khorana will give the Plenary Lecture. Following, the President of India will hold a Reception for the delegates at the Rashtrapati Bhavan.

The Congress will close on Saturday, October 26, 1974, with a final Plenary Session, at which Professor Baldev Singh and Professor V. Ramalingaswami – the two distinguished academicians of India – will also deliver lectures.

If individual scientists wish to obtain further information about the Congress, they should correspond with the Secretariat.

Dr. S. K. Manchanda
Department of Physiology
All India Institute of Medical Sciences
Ansari Nagar, New Delhi – 16, India